Scoutmaster Slain By One of 5 Lured To Highland Area

By HUGH REYNOLDS

A 33-year-old Bronx Cub Scoutmaster who lured five teenage boys from Van Cortland Park in New York City was shot and killed by one of his victims Saturday night in a secluded cabin near Clintondale. The dead man, identified by his brother at the Ulster County Morgue, was Carmine DiBiase, a Cub Scoutmaster from Park 45 in Manhattan. Coroner William S. Keyser told The Freeman today that DiBiase was struck in the right center of his chest with a single bullet from a .22 caliber long rifle, the bullet breaking the eighth rib and lodging in his elbow. Death was attributed to massive internal hemorrhaging. Seven of the boys returned home on the 3rd, the other two on the 4th. The 14-year-old youth who shot DiBiase, is not being held. Ulster County District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca said today no charges would be lodged against the teenager. Torraca also advised parents to warn their children against accepting rides with any and all strangers. DiBiase, a White Plains printer, was the object of a state-wide search stemming from incidents with his Cub Scout troop July 1, 2 and 3. According to state police in Warrensburg, DiBiase was on a camping trip with nine scouts and allegedly committed sexual acts on three of them. Seven of the boys returned home on the 3rd, the other two on the 4th. Upon arrival, DiBiase took out his single .22 caliber rifle and fired a round out the door of the cabin. There were no complaints until the 6th when parents of the three boys journeyed to Warrensburg and swore out warrants on DiBiase, charging him with two counts of sodomy and one count of sexual abuse. DiBiase, unmarried and an Air Force veteran, was the subject of a state-wide search when Saturday's bizarre story unfolded. According to police reports, DiBiase met the five boys in Van Cortland Park in New York City, showed them his identification as a scoutmaster and

Had to Cut Clearing
Police described the woods road leading to DiBiase's cabin as extremely rough, hardly more than a cow path. Law enforcement officials had to cut out a clearing in order to turn their cars around. DiBiase's vehicle was described as a camper - type station wagon. The five youths were taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie and examined. The 14-year old who shot DiBiase was treated for lacerations to the head, suffered in the final struggle in the cabin. It is expected that the 14-year old will appear in family court as a matter of routine and be exonerated. In the aftermath of the shooting, a BCI investigator from Warrensburg told The Freeman, "I'm very happy the way it turned out."

LBJ Visits Five Capitals to Top Tour

By FRANK CORMIER

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — President Johnson sets out from the capital of San Salvador today for quick visits to four other Central American countries and declared that he seeks "a road of new hope for this hemisphere." Johnson, in El Salvador since Saturday for Central American summit talks, was bound for Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala before settling down tonight at his Texas ranch. In each country, he was dropping off one of the presidents who met with him during the weekend.

No Rainbow Yet

Johnson, in remarks prepared for departure ceremonies at San Salvador, spoke of "the new strength and promise that we have here added to our partnership." He cautioned: "The road that brought us here has no rainbow at its end—not yet." He said the nations of Central America, with the help of the United States, "have celebrated what there is to celebrate" during the summit and "have determined to master the challenges that remain."

He said there was much to celebrate and many challenges to be met. He added that the meeting had "been fruitful because it has been responsible." Never before has any U.S.

president visited all five Central American republics, and Johnson's reception in El Salvador seemed to indicate his effort was appreciated.

Despite some fresh eggs, paint bombs and raw potatoes thrown at him by student demonstrators against the Vietnam war shortly after his arrival Saturday, the crowds were big and friendly.

As he drove through San Salvador and the surrounding countryside Sunday, he climbed onto the running board of his long black bubbletop limousine at least five times to greet close-packed street crowds, shake hands and deliver brief and impromptu "Muchas gracias" speeches over the car's built-in loudspeakers.

Campaigner

This was the veteran campaigner back at work. He even seemed to have a running mate — El Salvador's President Fidel Sanchez Hernandez, who toured city and countryside, schools and scenic waterfalls with the visiting Yankee.

Fleischmanns Raid--9 Drug Arrests

By LYNN MULVANEY

Nine persons were arrested early Sunday morning in a narcotics raid on the residence of William Murdock, 28 of Fleischmanns.

All were charged with criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the first degree, a felony.

The investigation which led to the 3:45 a.m. raid was conducted jointly by the New York State Police, the Delaware County Sheriff's office and the District Attorney at Delhi.

Arrested with Murdock were: James Marion Granning, 25 of Forest Hills, L.I.; Harold Martin Granning Jr., 27 of Forest Hills, L.I.; Alan Steven Binstock, 21 of the Bronx;

Henry Lewis Berman, 22 of Manhattan; Johanna Marie Murdock, 24 of Fleischmanns; Gerald Warren Gloskin, 21, of the Bronx;

Jerome Loeb Bayer, 21 of Manhattan; Kathleen Blauvelt, 20 of Manhattan.

Capt. Samuel Rowe and Lt. Vincent Versade of the BCI at Sidney and Undersheriff Levon Telian.

All nine persons were taken to Delaware County Jail pending examination and bail proceedings this morning. Arraignment was before Town Justice J. Donald Fenton of Margaretville.

The Sunday raid was the latest in a series of narcotics arrests in the Mid-Hudson area. State Police, the BCI, sheriff and district attorneys of many counties, including Dutchess and Ulster have cracked down on narcotic traffic. Sometimes long months of investigation precede the raids that are usually conducted jointly by the various agencies.

Only last week Dutchess County authorities conducted two raids in which about 37 persons were arrested.

Early Saturday morning, six men and a girl were picked up in the vicinity of a Town of Sanford tavern and charged with criminal possession of a dangerous drug. At the same time, one youth was also charged with criminally defacing the American flag by wearing it as a shirt. Another youth was charged with criminal impersonation.

The mass arrest came one week after Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan made a narcotics sweep and arrested 30 in and around the Millbrook area. During those raids the owner of Al and Elsie's Tavern in Wingdale was booked on charges of criminal nuisance and criminal facilitation in the second degree.

It was also reported that

Sheriff Quinlan and investigators have uncovered information relating to narcotic traffic in the county and additional arrests are anticipated.

In Ulster County, State Police at Lake Katrine and Highland conducted raids earlier this summer with a sizeable amount of arrests in that area and in upper Ulster County.

In the Newburgh, Beacon and Monticello areas, additional raids were conducted with various narcotics seized.

Authorities in all Mid-Hudson communities have stepped up their narcotics drive in the hopes of slowing down the operations of narcotics users and runners. Efforts are being made to uncover the key figures—the pushers—in the field of illegal drug maneuvers.

Meanwhile, the Narcotic

Addiction Control Commission has sent a field representative, Thomas Leonard into the Ulster County area to conduct programs as a means of aiding the area.

It has been suggested to Ulster County Community College that it consider doing a four-part series of in-service training programs for professionals interested in the drug problem and for community leaders in order to help develop awareness, not only on the part of the school system but also the parents and other adults.

The action of commission followed the publishing of a series of six articles in The Kingston Freeman revealing the amount of marijuana usage among students here.

601 Dead in U. S., 39 in State

County Escapes the Fatality Log

By JON POWERS

With the long Fourth of July holiday officially ended, authorities report, that 601 persons died as a result of traffic accidents on the nation's highways during the four-day weekend. Although late fatality reports are still filtering in from throughout the country, National Safety Council spokesmen predicted that this year's death rate will fall short of last year's holiday toll of 732.

In New York State, 39 persons were reportedly killed in traffic, and boating mishaps over the holiday weekend, three short of last year's total. Traffic accidents on the state's highways claimed 26 lives, 10 persons were killed in boating and drowning mishaps, and three others were killed in miscellaneous accidents.

Area Fatal

Ulster County escaped the death records on this holiday weekend, and even the number of minor accidents and boating mishaps was surprisingly slight. Other area counties, however, did not fare as well. Dutchess County recorded three traffic deaths and one boating fatality, while Greene and Columbia Counties each reported one traffic fatality.

A one-car accident on Thursday in the Town of Pleasant Valley claimed the lives of two New York City persons, and a 42-year-old Hopewell man was killed when his car went out of control on Route 376 in the Town of East Fishkill to account for the three Dutchess fatalities. Police report that Leo Lillienfeld, 67, and his wife, Sara, 68, were driving on the Taconic State Parkway north of Route 44 when their car went out of control and crashed into a tree.

Donald Herman was reportedly killed when his auto skidded on Route 376 and crashed into a tree. The accident occurred at 3:35 a. m. Saturday morning.

Three Are Ejected

At 1:40 a. m. Sunday morning, Columbia County Police report that an auto operated by Richard Rohrer, of R.D. 2, Valati was rounding a sharp curve on Route 9 in the Town of Stuyvesant when, it went out of control, skidded for over 150 feet, struck a utility pole and came to rest on an embankment some 100 feet further down the road. Three passengers in the vehicle were ejected, including Rosemary Link of Upper Main Street, Valati, who was pronounced dead at the scene. Rohrer suffered multiple lacerations and contusions of the body and a cerebral concussion and was taken to Columbia County Hospital. Also injured in the crash was Mary Jane Warrington, of Nigerville, who suffered multiple lacerations of the face and hands and was also treated at Columbia Hospital. The other two passengers in the auto were not reported as injured. Rohrer was issued a summons for driving at a speed too fast for the conditions.

Greene County's one fatality of the holiday weekend, occurred Thursday on the Thruway in the Town of Catskill. Mrs. Etta Meola was killed when the car driven by her husband, Louis, went out of control and slammed into a rock wall along the side of the road. Meola is listed in critical condition in Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Ulster County highway authorities reported one serious accident over the Independence Day weekend. At 7 p. m. on Sunday, Mrs. Ina Crandall, 47, of 36 Orchard Place, Poughkeepsie lost control of her auto on Route 9W in the Town of Lloyd. She was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie and treated for a fractured skull, and lacerations of the right knee. Her condition is listed as critical.

Another 20ser

Ulster County authorities reported only two other accidents during the weekend. At 4 a. m. Sunday morning Joseph Kulhea, 47, of Astoria was traveling south on Route 209 two miles south of Ellenville when he failed to negotiate a left curve. The auto went off the road and entered a ditch, but the driver was not injured.

At 8:30 p. m. Saturday on Red Hill Road in the Town of Denning, an auto operated by Anthony VanDyke of Ellenville struck the rear of a car driven by William Teet, 71, also of Ellenville. Teet was reportedly backing out of a driveway when his auto was struck. He complained of side injuries and was treated at a local hospital.

A four-car accident in the Dutchess County community of Hyde Park resulted in the hospitalization of three persons on Sunday afternoon. An auto driven by Leigh Barus of Poughkeepsie was traveling north on Route 9 when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Lionel Vashon. The Barus auto struck a car traveling south on Route 9 and then swerved into a car parked on the side of the highway. A passenger, Harrie Barus suffered contusions of the left shoulder and abrasions of the face. The driver suffered abrasions and lacerations of the left elbow. Also injured in the accident was Michelle Carter, 2, who suffered contusions of the left side of the face. Vashon was issued a summons for failure to yield the right of way.

9W ACCIDENT—Edward Bailey, 16, of 1061 Decker Street, lies pinned under wreckage after auto driven by Richard Davis, 18, also of that street, went out of control on Route 9W, in the Town of Ulster early Thursday morning. Troopers report that the auto struck and severed two utility poles and rolled down a 15-foot embankment before coming to rest. Bailey was trapped for almost an hour before troopers could free him. Both are reported in satisfactory condition at Kingston Hospital. (Freeman photo by Haines)

KINGSTON GLASS FIRE — An investigation of the cause of the fire that damaged Kingston Glass Company and its adjoining warehouse Sunday is being conducted. A volunteer fireman, Bernard Carle, was overcome by smoke while fighting the flames. He was treated at Kingston Hospital and released. No cost estimate of the four-alarm blaze was put on the damage to the first floor of the building at 36 to 42 Prospect Street. (Freeman photo by Haines).

8 Arrested After Sunday Swim Party at Big Deep

The Woodstock Constabulary broke up a riotous swimming party early Sunday morning at the Big Deep swimming hole in that community and eight persons were arrested and fined for violation of curfew.

Chief Constable William Waterous identified those arrested as follows:

Mark Fox, 17; Jay Oliver, 24; Raymond Silekko, 17; Danal De Chiro, 17 and Thomas Shaugnessy, 18 all of Water-vliet; John Strong, 20 and Jay Hamburg 17, both of Albany, and Allison Fried, 19, of Woodstock.

All were arraigned before Woodstock Town Justice Joseph Forno and entered pleas of guilty to violation of curfew and the town ordinance forbidding occupancy of the Big Deep swimming hole between 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. Each paid a fine of $10.

Six Escape Creek Crash

Six Kingston area teenagers narrowly escaped serious injury late Saturday afternoon when two outboard motorboats swinging wide on the Esopus Creek crashed headon throw-ing all occupants in the water including one youngster on water skis.

Deputy Sheriff Albert Ho-bush of the Sheriff's Office Water Patrol reported one youngster, George V. Weaver, 17 of Emerick Street, King-ston, suffered a fractured rib and was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambu-lance. The others apparently were uninjured.

Deputy Hobush said the op-erator of the boat in which Weaver was injured was Cal-vin Ehlers Jr., 18 of Hurley.

The operator of the other outboard was Raymond Mer-win, 16 of Lake Katrine. There were two other teenagers in the boat and he was towing another on water skis. Both boats were extensively dam-aged, Hobush said.

Academy Deadline On Registrations

Deadline for enrollment ap-plications for the new Ulster Academy has been set July 20 with final processing no later than July 24.

Announcement of the fast ap-proaching deadline was made to-day by Raymond A. Nelson, headmaster of the new inde-pendent school slated to open this September at the former Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing.

The aim of the academy is to offer a unique educational experience in secondary school to its students. It will be able to offer an excellent faculty working together as a team to stimulate and develop each in-dividual to his maximum po-tential. The individual approach is one of the mainstays of the school which started as a germ of an idea in the fall of 1966.

Headmaster Nelson said that applications for enrollment must be received at the office, 17 Pearl Street, by July 20 or the intention to apply confirmed ver-bally by telephone on that same date.

The registration deadline is essential for school planning and ordering. Definite decisions about the size of the school and its classes will be made in the light of the July information, Nelson said.

The places for admission re-maining open for the fall will be considered on a first come, first served applicant basis. Nelson warned that if limita-tions on grade size are imposed after the July deadline it will probably be in 9th and 10th grades. If enrollment in the 7th grade goes beyond teaching sec-tions of 15 or 18, it may be necessary to limit enrollment there too, unless there is suf-ficiently heavy interest to jus-tify planning for a second ses-sion.

When the school opens this fall it will be for grades 7 through 10 with 11 and 12 being added in the following years.

A new academy received its charter from the State University Board of Regents in June and faculty appointments have been completed.

Curriculum centers on the humanities and offers a college preparatory program. Educa-tional facilities at the Mary's Avenue site are modern and fully equipped, including a full three-season athletic program. Placement is based on the individual student's achieve-ment and aptitude, not uniform-ly across a grade line. The goal of instruction is to facili-tate the student's own resources and to encourage his indepen-dence for a broad-based liberal education.

Hurley Library Sale July 13

The Hurley Library Association will hold a sale of used books, recordings, and tapes Saturday, July 13, beginning at 10 a.m. and run-ning through 5 p.m. Mrs. Joseph Loesch, chairman of the sale has announced.

Persons wishing to donate books or recordings to the sale may deliver them to the Library or contact Mrs. Seymour Semilof, Rolling Meadows for pick-up.

The Hurley Library Association has also announced that beginning Tuesday, July 9 a special summer reading contest for youngsters in the first through the sixth grades will be held at the library.

The contest will feature prizes for those students who have read and given a report on the highest number of books during the duration of the contest. Each contestant will be given a chart to track his own progress and master chart which will be kept on display in the library.

Marines in Border Battle, At Least 201 Reds Killed

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Marines in the border battle they have killed at least 201 Communists, from North Vietnam. Thus far the Leathernecks charged into military spokesmen said today, what is probably an entire North Vietnamese division—the U. S. intelligence sources said 320th—and bulldozed it back two

Hopeful of Formula For Nuclear Parley

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials say they hope the United States and the Soviet Union will work out a formula by the end of the week for starting talks on curbing the nuclear missiles race.

U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster, plans a preliminary meeting with his Soviet counterpart, Alexei A. Roshchin, before the 17-nation disarmament conference opens its summer session July 16.

Leaving Thursday
Foster plans to leave for Geneva about Thursday.

He and Roshchin as delegation heads for the two nations sponsoring the continuing disarmament parley are to stake out the agenda for the conference's round.

If, meanwhile, Washington-Moscow diplomatic exchanges have not completed the missile talk arrangements, the two may tackle this also.

It is possible that for international political convenience the two super powers will use the Geneva conference as an umbrella for their missile curb deliberations. But the serious bargaining seems most likely to come in private, two-power meetings, perhaps in Moscow or Washington rather than Geneva.

U.S. authorities figure neither of the major atomic powers want to bare nuclear strength, the heart of their military might, before nonnuclear kibitzers, at the formal Geneva gathering.

The seeming readiness by the two nations to at last tackle their own arms rivalry head-on has created an atmosphere of excitement among Washington strategists dealing with disarmament and East-West relations.

The 1963 limited test ban treaty restrained the super power arms race only in a special way because it still allowed nuclear weapons development through underground test blasts.

The nonproliferation treaty signed last week outlaws the distribution of atomic weapons to nonnuclear nations but does not prevent the nuclear nations from adding to their own arsenals.

It is assumed in Washington

that the Kremlin timed its June 27 announcement of readiness to begin the talks on missile restraint in order to promote signings of the nonproliferation pact by the nonnuclear countries. The have-not states were pressing for a curb by the large powers on themselves.

But the more general cause for Moscow's announcement is believed to lie in military and economic reasoning similar to that in Washington: the extensive antiballistic missile systems now being developed by the two powers will only spur development of still more costly offensive missiles without providing true military security.

Marine casualties included 10 men killed and 81 wounded.

The Leathernecks drove inland from the South China Sea, driving the Communists toward the Marine bastion of Gio Linh.

Hit Supply Bases
Farther north, U.S. fighter-bombers flew 133 missions Sunday against supply bases up and down North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

The border battle raged in the northeastern corner of South Vietnam. The American intelligence sources said the 320th, battered by the Marines early last month near the border fort of Dong Ha, had withdrawn into the six-mile-wide DMZ and re-equipped itself and fleshed out its broken ranks with new manpower. Then the North Vietnamese pushed south once more.

The sources said the 8,000-man division apparently aimed at once more trying to smash the American bases strung along the Cua Viet River, along which U.S. boats moved supplies.

There was no official word for security reasons—on the Marines' goal in the drive. But there was unofficial speculation that for the first time this year the Leathernecks might go into the DMZ.

Predicts New Attack

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky told United Press International correspondent Daniel Southernland in a weekend interview he foresees a third major Communist attack on Saigon this year—to come within the next two months.

In other developments:—U.S. helicopter gunships killed at least 40 Communists and, aided by Navy patrol boats, destroyed a Viet Cong arms smuggling sloop in coastal Quang Nam Province.

—In the Mekong Delta below Saigon, guerrilla guns shot down a U.S. helicopter ferrying medical supplies. The three Americans aboard the chopper were wounded. It was the 783rd helicopter downed in the war.

Meanwhile, the UPI said in Saigon that President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam today announced he wants to meet President Johnson somewhere in the Pacific in the next few weeks.

Thieu said in a communique he wants to meet Johnson for "a few days" to discuss "important and urgent matters."

Thieu also said he is postponing a two-week visit to the United States he had planned for later this month.

The communique said the threat of fresh Communist attacks on Saigon and other points in South Vietnam made the U.S. visit inadvisable now.

In a weekend interview with United Press International, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said he believes the Communists will launch the major attack on the capital within the next two months.

Ky predicted the battle would be won against what he called intense guerrilla use of snipers and one and two man bands lodged throughout Saigon.

A Dramatic Gain for 'Heart Man'

DR. PHILIP BLAIBERG

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—The retired dentist the world knew as the longest-surviving heart transplant patient was so weak that a second transplant seemed his only chance. He quickly rallied.

The latest word today from Froote Schuur Hospital was that Dr. Philip Blaiberg, 59, was improving.

Blaiberg improved so dramatically Sunday that the hospital said "no further emergency treatment is anticipated."

"There is a definite improvement in his general condition. His lung is improving," the bulletin said.

Only a few hours before, reliable medical sources said Blaiberg "preferred to die of natural causes" rather than allow a second transplant.

Another transplant, doctors told him, was the only way to save his life. He was weakened in his struggle from hepatitis and a lung infection.

Blaiberg's wife, Eileen, told newsmen Sunday "There definitely will be no further transplant operation" on her husband. But Sunday night, she denied her husband refused another transplant.

"He would never refuse a heart transplant at any stage," Mrs. Blaiberg said. "It's a complete misstatement. He is very much improved and we are very excited about his condition."

One medical source at Groote Schuur Hospital said, "Blaiberg the man has been forgotten. He is a tired old man. He appears to prefer to die of natural causes."

CP Site

Edward deGroot, president of the United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, breaks ground for the new treatment center in ceremonies Sunday afternoon. The site is at the south corner of the Benedictine Hospital grounds. Target date for occupancy is Spring of 1969. Participating in yesterday's beginnings were William Hobbs, a member of the CP board of directors; Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan; Peter Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Legislators; Arthur Webster, chairman of the Greene County Board of Legislators; Bishop James E. McManus, C.S.R., episcopal vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties; Sister Mary Charles, Benedictine Hospital administrator; Sister M. ## House Gun Bill Due This Week

By KENNETH J. FREED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House is expected to pass a gun control bill this week, but there is doubt a law providing stiffer restrictions on weapons can be sent to the President before Congress adjourns next month.

The House measure which is before the Rules Committee today, calls for a ban on the mail-order sale of rifles and shotguns and ammunition.

The more controversial bill calling for registration and licensing is scheduled for action Tuesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., had hearings scheduled today on these proposals as well as the proposed ban on mail-order sales.

Consideration of stiffer gun control laws became a major issue following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy early last month.

One restriction came soon after Kennedy's death when Congress passed and the President signed an omnibus crime control bill containing a provision prohibiting the mail-order sale of pistols.

Then as congressmen reported public pressure mounting for even stronger gun bills, measures were introduced to extend the mail-order ban on handguns to rifles and shotguns.

Opponents of the more stringent laws, led by the National Rifle Association, launched a drive to keep Congress from acting. This effort seemed to crest about the time President Johnson asked for laws registering all guns and licensing their owners.

Those 'Dream Tickets'

Whatever happened to the oft-publicized "dream tickets" that were to sweep the country for each of the major parties?

When Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York saw "no gap in ideology" between him and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California in his talk in New Orleans as recently as May 20, immediately the country was flooded with his talk about a Rockefeller-Reagan dream ticket that would swamp Richard M. Nixon, get the Republican nomination and go on to be elected.

The governors of the two most numerous states have not seen eye to eye recently. The most recent difference was over the appointment of the Chief Justice to succeed Earl Warren. Rockefeller said President Johnson had a "duty and responsibility" to appoint a successor. Reagan said the newly elected President should do so.

As a result, the Republican dream ticket now most favored is one headed by Richard M. Nixon with Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York. But that runs into the Constitutional ban on the two candidates from the same state. So does a dream ticket pushed by Democrats with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, both from Minnesota.

The Nixon-Lindsay cohorts would have Nixon move to Ohio as he did from California to New York after the 1962 election, but it is doubtful that Nixon would lend himself to such a deception. It couldn't be a Rockefeller-Lindsay ticket for the same reason. Nor would that be as strong as the Nixon-Lindsay combination because it would not offer as great a contrast. There must be either a geographical or an ideological contrast to make a dream ticket click.

Three-Day Holidays

A campaign to observe a number of national holidays on a Monday in order to make them three-day holidays has all but succeeded. A bill adding four national holidays to the Monday calendar along with Labor Day has passed both houses of Congress and is before President Johnson for his signature.

The supporters of this measure have been urging it for at least 20 years. Labor, retail merchants and travel agents especially have pushed the plan. While Congress legislated for federal employees only, it is expected that the states will follow suit so that the new three-day holiday periods will apply generally.

Columbus Day will be a national holiday for the first time and will fall on the second Monday in October. In addition, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans' Day will be observed on Mondays. Labor Day already is observed on the first Monday in September.

Sentiment for nine three-day holidays was not strong enough to include New Year's Day, Independence Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas with the five that have been approved. They will remain unchanged. In all these, tradition is too strong for public acceptance of a change.

The most serious objections are that the new three-day holidays will mean more automobiles on the road and that inevitably means more accidents on the highways. If that possibility can be controlled, the change would be a welcome one for the time allowed for families to spend more time together and the enjoyment they will get together.

Watch Your Check

There will be a drop in wages and salaries July 15 to make effective the 10 per cent tax surcharge into law by President Johnson.

However, the University of Michigan's quarterly survey of consumer attitudes states that consumers have already discounted the coming income tax increase. This means that possibly the major retarding effect of the tax rise has already taken place in anticipation of the tax increase, rather than occurring when disposable incomes are reduced.

Generally, the survey called this a period of waiting with buyers having money and the ability to spend but lacking the will to splurge. Consumers are waiting for developments in Vietnam or the economy or the elections, the survey said.

If true, the effect of the surtax might disappoint economists. They are hoping it will cool an overheated economy. It might please those who fear it is an "overkill" that could cause a turnaround. The real effect will not be known until after pay checks are reduced. After all, a $10 billion tax rise means a pretty large hunk taken away from consumers to spend and it can't help but show in the economy.

Pittsburgh is starting a four week school for black youngsters to teach them the white mans' system of power and politics and to enable them to use their knowledge to their own advantage. Better to learn how to join the system than to fight it.

Population Shift Seen As Aiding Republicans

WASHINGTON — The November 1968 election may disclose the effects of the most remarkable redistribution of the voting population that the United States has experienced in its history.

Up to now in many a state the electoral vote has been won by a majority largely contributed by one or two big cities where, since the 1930's, the Democrats have built up effective organizations and not only have gotten voters registered but made sure that they went to the polls on election day. The huge majorities piled up in the cities have been counted on to offset Republican strength in rural areas.

Now things have changed. Instead of merely a contest between the rural and city vote, the 1968 election will be decided by three categories—the inner city, the suburban areas, and the rural districts which include the smaller cities and towns.

The fact is that, because of the shift of population from cities to the suburban areas, there are today 156.5 million Americans outside the large central cities—or nearly four persons to each one in the big cities. Voters divide in about the same ratio. This can have a very far-reaching significance in American politics. For the suburban and rural areas have traditionally tended to be Republican while the inner cities have generally been Democratic.

The changes in the population of the cities are extensive. The latest study of the U.S. Census Bureau, covering the period of April 1960 to April 1966, shows that in metropolitan areas the rate of population increase was nearly ten times as much outside the inner city—or in "suburbia"—than in the inner city itself.

Even the 1960 census figures, moreover, showed the same trend. The population of New York City, for instance, was down 1.4 per cent from 1950, while the surrounding suburbs went up 75 per cent. The same thing happened in Chicago, where the city population dropped about 2 per cent, and the suburbs gained 71.5 per cent. One of the most interesting shifts was in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, where the central-city population was down 4.4 per cent while the suburban population went up 115.7 per cent.

The same pattern was found in Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Cleveland, St. Louis, Los Angeles-Long Beach and other big cities whose vote heretofore has been crucial in deciding the electoral votes of their respective states.

Since 1960 the movement of people into the suburbs has accelerated. This has just been confirmed by a survey issued this week in New York City by the City University there. It shows that the population of the city itself has been decreasing or only holding at the level of the 1960 census. The University's estimate puts the city's population in 1966 at 7,532,000, which is 437,000 below the census bureau estimate of 7,969,000 as of July 1, 1966, and 249,984 less than the 1960 official census of 7,781,984. The latest figure also is even further below the estimate of 8,125,000 made by the Consolidated Edison Company Jan. 1, 1967.

There are, of course, many reasons why the big cities are losing population, but it is evident from the City University's report in New York that middle-income whites numbering at least 674,000 have been lost to the city itself since 1960.

The population shift will be reflected largely among the dissidents inside the Democratic party. Lots of them may choose to stay at home on election day, but more significantly many of them will not contribute money to the campaign or do much of the precinct work such as has been so helpful to the Democratic party in the past in carrying the large cities—and thus swinging the big electoral votes of the most populous states.

The redistribution of population is unquestionably an encouraging trend for the Republican party. If it can manage to get through the convention without any deep-seated resentments, the chances are that the Republicans will cast a larger vote throughout the United States in the suburban as well as the rural districts than ever before. This, together with the split in the Democratic ranks and the possible failure of many regular Democrats to go to the polls, could give the Republicans the biggest landslide they have had in many years.

Pirating of Airlines

By ROBERT H. FELDKAMP

Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON — Everytime another airliner is pirated, as two have been this week, the cry goes up: "When is this going to be stopped?"

Just as quickly, the same response comes from hand-wringing government officials and the aviation industry: "How?"

Federal experts say nothing short of a "Stop and frisk law for every boarding passenger will halt the alarming rise in airliner hijacking. And no one seems to want this.

"Searching passengers may be the only answer right now," said a Federal Aviation Agency spokesman Tuesday. "But this is something the industry and the passengers want no part of."

While forcing a plane to fly off to someplace like Cuba is an obvious concern in Washington, the official response seems almost ho-hum.

"If it's going to happen, it's going to happen," said a staff member of the House Commerce Subcommittee on Transportation and Aeronautics. "I don't know what can be done about it," said a counterpart for the Senate Commerce Subcommittee on Aviation. "I don't know of a single new thing proposed," said the FAA spokesman.

The Northwest Orient jetliner seized by a gunman Monday and ordered to Cuba was the seventh commercial plane hijacked this year. Following a similar rash of plane piracy in 1961, the federal government made it a crime punishable by death. It also is a federal crime to carry a concealed weapon on board.

"If it's of any comfort to would-be passengers, some of the best brains in the country are working on the problem," said the FAA.

After two commercial airlines were hijacked earlier this year, the FAA disclosed it is testing a highly sensitive censoring device developed by a private research firm. The device would be designed to sniff out not only large explosive packages like bombs, but also could be sensitive enough to detect the explosive charge in a bullet.

"This hasn't yet been refined to the point when it can detect bullets," said the FAA spokesman. "We don't know whether it would be best to have it aboard the plane or in the airport, once it's developed."

"We're not in a position to say when it will be ready for commercial use. Actually, this has been undergoing planning and testing for several years."

Drew Pearson Says IBEW Strike Now May Force Democratic Convention to Move

WASHINGTON — Democratic leaders have been debating for some time whether the threat of racial violence in Chicago might make it necessary to transfer the Democratic National Convention in late August to Miami. They had decided not to transfer.

But now another obstacle has developed, which may make a transfer necessary. It's the strike of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers against Illinois Bell Telephone, which has been continuing since May 8. Even if the electrical workers were to begin work in the convention hall today, they could hardly finish the 80,000 man hours necessary to install the sound equipment, telephones, TV connections, etc., necessary for a national convention.

Under Secretary of Labor James Reynolds has been holding frantic conferences with Gordon Freeman, president of the IBEW, and Joe Keenan, vice president, with the hope of ending the strike. Reynolds has also been on the transatlantic telephone with Joe Beirne, president of the Communications Workers of America.

Involved is rivalry between two powerful unions — the Communication Workers, which has just negotiated a 10-per-cent wage increase over-all wage agreement with American Tel and Tel calling for a $25 a week wage increase over three years, and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, whose Illinois union wants an increase of $29 a week.

If Bell Telephone of Illinois gives the $29 increase to IBEW, it would mean that its parent company, American Tel and Tel, would have to go back and give the same increase to Joe Beirne's Communications Workers.

It would also mean that Joe Beirne would be made to look as if he were not a tough enough negotiator with AT&T since he settled for $25 a week instead of $29. With union rivalry such as this, it is a real dilemma for the Democrats. President George Meany of the AFL-CIO has been called to straighten things out, so far with no result.

What it boils down to is that the Democratic National Convention will probably have to move to another city. Democratic leaders don't want to be instrumental in forcing a showdown between two rival friends, Joe Beirne of the Communications Workers, and Gordon Freeman of the IBEW.

A lot of Democrats would just as soon leave Chicago anyway. Installations would already be in place in Miami Beach for the Republicans. They can be held over for the Democrats on August 26. Furthermore, race relations around Miami are much better than those in Chicago.

Rocky's Empty Pocket

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, born with a silver spoon in his mouth, landed in Huron, S.D., the other day, home town of Vice-President Hubert Humphrey, born with no silver spoon in his mouth.

Rockefeller, whose political philosophy is almost identical with Humphrey's, immediately went over to the drug store over which Hubert was born.

For sentimental reasons he made some purchases—large earrings for Happy and some toys for the Rockefeller children. The total bill was $21.08.

When the scion of one of the richest families in the world reached into his pocket to pay the bill, he came up with $20. That was all he had.

A Rockefeller aide fished out $1 to make up the deficit and a newspaperman contributed 8 cents.

The governor of New York was then able to meet the cost of his purchases from the Humphrey drugstore.

Mrs. Lola Leichter, Los Angeles—The new book, "Behind the Lines: The World of Drew Pearson," is being published by Prentice-Hall in September, but the authors of this column have nothing to do with its content. Herman Klurfeld, the author, used to be Walter Winchell's collaborator, and is a journalist with a reputation for sizzling inside stories. However, we don't guarantee what he's doing in the case of the Pearson book.

Lester Weinrott, Chicago—Newsmen traveling with Sen. Robert Kennedy had been alarmed for some time that he was taking undue risks and would be assassinated. John Lindsay of Newsweek, one of Kennedy's sincerest admirers, publicly warned in advance, "He's going to be shot. He's going to be shot as sure as we're here."

Joe Ruskakoff, New York—Unfortunately assassination has become a way of life in the Near East, which is probably the No. 1 explanation of Sen. Robert Kennedy's assassination. It's also an important reason why peace is so difficult between the Arab States and Israel. Any Arab leader who became too friendly to Israel would be bumped off. Here is the list of Arab leaders who have been assassinated in recent years: 1948—Nur al-Shaykh, prime minister of Egypt; 1948—Imam Yihya, ruler of Yemen; 1949—Husayn, Zayim, president of Syria; 1951—King Abdullah of Jordan; 1953—Riyad As-Sulh, prime minister of Lebanon; 1954—General Sawi El-Hinawi, president of Syria; 1958—King Faisal of Iraq; 1958—Nuri As-Said, prime minister of Iraq; 1963—General Abdul Karim Kasim, president of Iraq; 1968—Haza al-Majali, prime minister of Jordan.

There were also many attempts on the lives of such leaders as King Hussein of Jordan, President Boumedienne of Algeria, President Nasser of Egypt, and ex-President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon.

Officials Don't Think Much Of McCarthy's Visit to Paris

By PETER LISAGOR

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — U. S. officials say it is highly unlikely that Sen. Eugene McCarthy would be charged with violating the Logan Act if he should visit Paris to talk to the North Vietnamese negotiators there.

U. S. officials point out that the 1799 act barring negotiations with a foreign power by a private or unauthorized citizen has never been invoked, although it might have been applicable in scores of cases in recent history.

The McCarthy suggestion of a possible visit to Paris is regarded here variously as whimsical, casual, mischievous, and not very serious.

However, the Minnesota Democrat has made himself into a serious presidential contender by a nonconformist, anti-policy, anti-establishment approach that has charmed and beguiled many who look with mistrust upon the conventional politician.

McCarthy first intimated he might go to Paris in Phoenix, Ariz., last June 15. He became more explicit on a television panel show on June 16 when he said he might go in late July or early August.

Asked if he feared embarrassing American negotiators in Paris or playing into the hands of Hanoi propagandists, McCarthy said that was "kind of an administration line . . . a kind of tactic. I think, that really if we accepted it, the whole country would have been frightened into some kind of silence for the last six months . . ."

He said he had talked to people who had been in contact with the North Vietnamese in Paris, adding:

"It might be a good thing for me as a presidential candidate to speak directly to them. I don't intend to enter negotiations or to make any public offers . . . What I like to do is to find out what the possibilities of some kind of accommodation or settlement are in fact."

North Vietnamese sources in Paris have said they would be glad to talk to McCarthy if he came to Paris. Diplomatic officials here say Hanoi would like to dramatize the split in the United States over Vietnam war policy and would exploit to the fullest any discussions with McCarthy.

"McCarthy would be compromising the very office he is aspiring to," one official said. "He would be interposing himself between the President and a delicate diplomatic operation, the very thing he undoubtedly would resent if he were President."

Under a strict construction of the Logan Act, officials say, U. S. journalists and private citizens who have visited Hanoi in recent months might be subject to prosecution. But the only charge ever made under the law was in 1802, and the case was dismissed before it came to trial.

The act stipulates that any citizen who, without authority of the United States, carries out any correspondence or intercourse with a foreign government with the intent to influence that government in any dispute with the United States or to defeat the measures of the United States, shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than three years or both.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

It isn't easy to hold a conversation by mail, but Louis Sobol and I can do it. Sobol, a retired Broadway columnist, is a little mouse of a man who talked tough so that nobody would suspect. He could usually be found in back of the barbershop at "21," playing gin rummy with the wrong cards.

The barber was a fat man from Brindisi named John. Mark Hellinger, another Broadway columnist, put John in a high hat and tails and took him on to Pittsburgh where he was introduced as the Count de Catalonia, the man who discovered oil under the Vatican. When this hit the newspapers, it surprised the heck out of the College of Cardinals, who couldn't find oil in a dining room crucifix.

Sobol loved Broadway. Still does, even though it has changed. Broadway is just a big X of Seventh Avenue at Times Square with old pigeons crowding on a statue of Father Duffy. Once, well, that was another day.

All of us worked on different newspapers and we'd kill each other for a newsbeat, but there was a camaraderie of insecurity. Off duty they clung together like jilted brides.

Walter Winchell was the only man who made Broadway, and vice versa. He was a tough little hoover with dancing feet, but he came up with the items. They were so good that city editors used to circle certain sentences and send reporters out to get the full yarn. He didn't care if nobody liked him, just so long as everybody read him.

Mark Hellinger, the poor man's O. Henry, didn't care if nobody read him so long as everybody loved him. Heywood Brown, a man who looked as though he slept in his clothes, was the only one who could write an essay about a beggar who used a Racing Form to cover a hole in his shoe.

The mouse, Sidney Skolsky, who now writes tynotypes from Hollywood, used to write about Broadway characters and tell who slept in the buff. He had so many fears that his doctor anesthetized him in an airplane seat.

Franklin P. Adams, known as FPA, was so erudite that you had to read his published poems twice to find out what he wasn't talking about.

O. O. McIntyre, unknown to his millions of readers, made a prisoner of himself in a palatial New York apartment and used to write stories out of his head. Jack Kofod, who worked the Post, would beat his maiden aunt with a bat to get the story first.

Damon Runyon could devise a better Broadway in the loneliness of his apartment than the real one.

When these men were at the late spots, Broadway was more than a collection of lights. It had Texas Guinan and Barney Gallant and a kid named George Raft, who used to buck-and-wing on the sidewalk, and Larry Fay and Owney Madden and Dutch Schultz. It had chorus girls who earned $50 a week wearing six egrets and diamond bracelets for wearing less. It had Eddie Cantor and Sophie Tucker, Al Jolson, Lupe Velez, Billy Rose, Belle Baker, Florenz Ziegfeld, George White and his Scandals and Earl Carroll and his Vanities.

There was a Daddy Brown, a millionaire who liked to marry (or adopt) teen-agers; Paul Whiteman, B. A. Rolfe, and George Olsen and Ethel Shutta.

Like everything else, Broadway had its time. Where else would you see a sophisticated like Hellinger standing in January rain with his hat over his heart as a casket was carried up a brownstone stoop? He didn't know it, but this was the daily delivery of booze to a speakeasy. Where else would an intoxicated actor like Richard Bennett stand in a nightclub and read the Bible with such dramatic flourishes that the patrons wept?

Barney Gallant used to give the orchestra a hundred for a sad chorus of "Melancholy Baby." Two weeks ago he died in a Miami home. Dorothy Kilgallen, who used to write about Broadway and the Village, preceded him by a couple of years.

Louis Sobol is writing his memoirs. He wasn't a tiger at his Broadway typewriter, because he never had an enemy . . .

4 The Slavers

The guilt for it (the slave trade) rests not wholly on the white race, or partly on the African kings and slave merchants, but beyond them on humanity itself... I mean on the apparently inexhaustible capacity for greed and numbness of heart and the infliction of suffering that survives in the nature of man.

—Malcolm Crowley

For 400 years, along 3,000 miles of African coastline, slavery flourished. One estimate places the number of Negroes forcibly transported in these four centuries at 15 million. Uncounted other millions perished.

First of the great slaving nations was Portugal, beginning in the middle of the 15th century. The Dutch, French, English and others soon became competitors.

By the 17th century, the trade had developed from catch-as-catch-can kidnaping to a "legalized" business in which slavers bought slaves from native chiefs. Trading companies set up "factories" on the coast to stock slaves until the arrival of the ships.

While wars were fought in Europe over the "Asiento," the license to supply slaves to the Spanish colonies in America, in Africa they were fought solely to obtain prisoners of war to sell to the slavers.

"During the 17th century," writes Daniel P. Mannix, "the social, political and economic life of West Africa became reorganized to produce one result, a steady flow of slaves."

Africa was thus an accomplice in her own rape.

More slaves, the New World called, and from farther inland came the great coffles, or gangs, of men, women and children. In the 16th century, some 900,000 were delivered. In the 17th, 2.75 million. But it was in the 18th century that the real boom began, led by the British colonies.

Between 1714, when England won the Asiento, to 1754, the number of slaves in what was to be the United States quintupled from 59,000 to 298,000. That figure was to double by the time of the Revolution.

Both old England and New England prospered from this flow of black gold.

For magnitude of human suffering, the slave trade makes 20th-century man, with his talent for mass murder, blush in modesty. Yet, bad as conditions were on the slave ships for the slaves, they were often worse for the sailors who manned them. A dead slave was money lost, but a dead sailor was just a dead sailor.

Ironically, it was the loss of life among seamen that was to give abolitionists their most potent argument in awakening the conscience of England.

Nuclear Talks to Hinge On the Inspection Issue

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Inspection undoubtedly will be the major stumbling block in the forthcoming U.S.-Soviet nuclear talks announced by President Johnson.

If these negotiations are to be meaningful, therefore, the United States would be well-advised to step up sharply its already-considerable research in four areas:

- Long-range detection of underground blasts.
- Efficiency of U.S. "spy-in-the-sky" satellites.
- Effectiveness of U.S. analysis of Soviet missile production and missile characteristics from the photo analysis of Russian factories and of misplaced missiles.

Securing of data on Soviet missile improvements in advance of their production and emplacement.

The record shows the Soviet Union and Communist nations generally have been exceedingly reluctant to permit on-the-spot or aerial inspections.

Past U.S.-Soviet talks on the banning of underground nuclear testing have broken down on the issue of on-the-spot checks.

President Eisenhower's proposal for mutual aerial inspection was rejected out of hand by Moscow.

In the Korean truce talks, the United States wanted aerial inspections to check on violations. After persistent North Korean-Communist Chinese objections, the United States gave up its demands. Some leading U.S. negotiators believe that elimination of aerial inspection was a major U.S. mistake in the talks.

The inspection portion of the Laos treaty broke down because of the built-in Communist veto. The North Vietnamese steadily built up their forces and used Laos as a corridor to South Vietnam while claiming to have withdrawn all fighting men.

Today, Hanoi is insisting on not only the end of U.S. northern bombing but the end of reconnaissance planes as well.

Washington and Moscow were able to reach agreement in 1963 on a ban on above-ground and space testing only because the United States was willing to forego on-the-spot and aerial inspections and instead to rely solely on long-range detection. Officials recall to their chagrin, however, that long-range detection failed to pick up Soviet preparations for their 1961 series of above-ground tests of the so-called "100-megaton bomb" in contravention of the U.S.-British-Soviet mutual understanding for a moratorium on such experiments without notice. Actually, the largest blast was believed to have been around 56 megatons.

Democrats Show Strength

PRINCETON, N.J., July 6

The Democratic party is presently showing great strength at the congressional level after having lost 47 House seats to the GOP in the 1966 elections.

A frequent error of political thinking is to assume that mid-term congressional gains for the party out of power represent a trend that will translate into seat gains in the next election.

In the 1966 congressional election, the GOP won 48 per cent of the total popular votes cast for members of the House of Representatives to 52 per cent for the Democrats.

By contrast, Republicans today are getting only 42 per cent of the congressional vote in national surveys to 58 per cent for the Democrats. Today's figures parallel the 1964 congressional election returns, when the Democrats won 58 to 42 per cent. That year's popular vote percentages translated into 295 seats for the Democrats to 140 for the Republicans, a margin of 155 seats.

South Major GOP Problem

One of the major problems of the GOP is the 13-state region of the South. In recent presidential years the GOP candidate has done well there. In fact, this was Barry Goldwater's strongest region in the 1964 presidential election.

The present congressional survey figure for the South is 70 per cent Democratic, 5 points higher than in the 1966 election in which the GOP made important gains in this area.

The best evidence of the Democratic hold on the South is the actual number of seats won by the two parties in recent elections. The line-up in the South after the 1966 election was 91 Democrats, 28 Republicans. In the 1964 election the Republicans won only 18 House seats in the South to the Democrats' 101. The Republicans won 14 seats in the South in 1962 and 9 in 1960.

Even in 1956 when the GOP won its biggest election victory in 28 years, Republicans still failed to gain control of the House, largely because of the 110 seats won by the Democrats in the South. The

Timely Quotes

Americans should not wait any longer for a strict gun-control law. The time for action is now. We must give our people the protection they deserve from lethal rifles and shotguns as soon as possible.

—President Johnson.

We have not yet, I think, taken any giant strides. —Secretary of State Dean Rusk, agreeing with Clark Clifford, secretary of defense, that there has been "some movement," however slight, at the Paris peace talks.

Republicans won only 10 seats in the South in that election.

Based on 3,108 Personal Interviews

Today's results are based on 3,108 personal interviews made in scientifically selected areas of the nation. Each person was asked:

"If the election for Congress were being held today, which party would you like to see win this Congressional district—the Democratic party or the Republican party?"

Following are the results, based on registered voters. For comparison, the 1966 and 1964 results are also recorded.

If Decided by Congress

The House of Representatives has been called upon to decide a presidential race only three times in history. But a likelihood exists, at least in the present close race for the presidency, that a third Party, headed by George Wallace—will win enough electoral votes, especially in the Deep South, to make it impossible for either major party candidate to win a majority.

If this happens, the House of Representatives, with each state given one vote, will decide the winner.

If the 1969 party make-up of the House is heavily Democratic, the Democratic candidate for President would obviously have a marked advantage in case the race is decided there.

Newburgh Cops Nab 5 After Auto Chase

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) — early today following a lunch police arrested five men on room holdup and a high speed first degree robbery charges auto chase through city streets.

Tipped that an armed robbery was in progress at Bob's Lunch, police sent a patrol car to the scene and the robbers fled in their getaway car. Two other police cruisers joined in the pursuit and finally stopped the robbers' car at an intersection. Police said they confiscated four guns, one of them a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun. They also recovered the loot — about $800 found in trousers which the robbers had taken from between 15 and 20 persons in the lunchroom.

Arrested were Dennis Henderson, 20, Elisha Cherry, 19, and Michael Hunter, 27, all of whom claimed they were attendants at Rockland State Hospital; Julius Beatha, 35, of Spring Valley and Stephen Wilkens, 22, of the Bronx.

Child Clinic In Rosendale

A Child Health Conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the town clerk's office in Rosendale Thursday, July 11 from 1-3 p.m.

The Conference is limited to infants and preschool children and is designed to improve child health through early recognition of defects in addition to providing the parents with information regarding nutrition, growth and development, handling of minor behavior problems, immunizations, tetanus, whooping cough and polio. Parents are reminded that this conference is a "well-child" clinic with the emphasis placed on the maintenance of health and the prevention of disease, and is not for the care of a sick child. Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the child health conference.

In order to avoid overcrowded facilities, an appointment is required for admission to this and other clinics. Appointment may be made by contacting the public health nurse at the Stone Ridge Health Center between 9 and 10 a.m. Monday through Friday.

General Breakup

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The president of General Dynamics said Sunday that ground testing broke the wings off an F111A fighter-bomber and "before we finish testing, every part of the plane will be broken."

"That's what we test for—stress limitations," Frank W. Davis said after testimony at a Senate hearing made public Saturday revealed that wings of an F111 broke off in testing two months before the first of the planes were sent to Vietnam. "We've had no failures of any planes at stress simulation to be expected in combat," Davis said.

Dr. Stine Dies, Was Brother of Local Educator

Dr. Clyde S. Stine, Dean of Men at the Pennsylvania State Teachers College at Millersville, Pa., and brother of Leonard Stine, director of music, Kingston City Schools, Consolidated, died suddenly Saturday evening, June 29 at Millersville, Pa.

Dr. Stine was the son of Mrs. Florence Hummel Stine and the late George T. Stine. The noted educator received his early training in the Pine Grove Schools. He was awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree, Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Cornell University.

Before assuming his position as Dean of Men, Dr. Stine taught at Cornell University, Hershey Junior College and Lebanon Valley College.

Historic Family

Historic records indicate that the Stine family secured land grants from the William Penn family in the early 18th Century. Because Dr. Stine represented the eighth generation of the family, he maintained a life-long interest in Pennsylvania German history and folklore and was widely recognized as an authority in this field. He collaborated on several books on Pennsylvania German folklore and history and filled many speaking engagements in which he covered the various facts of life and folklore Pennsylvania Germans.

Dr. Stine was director of the Pennsylvania German Society; president of the Lancaster Chapter of Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System; national vice president of that organization. Active in the Masonic Lodge, he was a member of Conestoga Lodge 66, Hobasco Lodge F & AM, Ithaca, N.Y.; Lancaster Lodge of Perfection, Harrisburg Consistory, Rajah Temple of Reading, Lancaster County Shrine Club.

Professional Honor

Professionally, Dr. Stine was a member of Phi Delta Kappa, the Pennsylvania Society, and was listed in "Who's Who in The East." In 1966 he was elected to the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi and held membership in numerous other organizations.

He was one of four Lancaster area men honored with an award citation by the "75" Club, an organization of educators.

Surviving Dr. Stine in addition to his wife, mother and brother, is a son George Stine of Millersville.

Funeral services were held on July 3 in St. John's Lutheran Church, Pine Grove. Burial was in St. John's Lutheran Cemetery.

Japanese Agency Hit By Bomb

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fourth in a series of bombings at foreign tourist missions blew out doors and windows Sunday at the Japanese National Tourist Organization near St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Two persons were slightly injured in the explosion at the offices on 50th Street just off Fifth Avenue, crowded at the time with Sunday strollers and churchgoers.

The site of the blast was a few blocks from the July 4 bombing of the Canadian National Tourist Office. The Spanish National Tourist Office two blocks away has been bombed twice, on April 22 and June 21. The Mexican Consulate also was the target of a bomber April 22. All the bombings are unsolved.

Police refused to speculate on any possible connection among the four bombings but a police official pointed out that all four countries traded with Cuba. Anti-Castro elements have threatened revenge against any nation trading with Cuba.

Small Business Interviews Set Locally Tuesday

The Small Business Administration is continuing its twice a month service of field interviews in Ulster County Tuesday at the Farmers Home Administration Office, 243 Fair Street, Kingston.

To date William Tierney and David Offenber, Small Business Administration field representatives, have interviewed 47 businessmen. Several have received appropriate applications and have begun the preliminary steps toward receiving financial assistance under one of the federally assisted programs of the Small Business Administration.

Anyone interested in an interview may call the local Farmers Home Administration and make an appointment. The next scheduled visit after July 9 will be July 23.

Hails New Rice

MANILA (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman said Sunday the Philippine-developed "miracle rice," a high-yield variety, has stimulated a food revolution in Asia. He called the new rice "the most significant development of the decade."

At Chicago Convention

LBJ's Withdrawal Lessens Threats of Demonstrations

By STUART J. PAHN

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson's decision to withdraw from the political scene appears to have lessened—if not eliminated—threats of demonstrations at the Democratic National Convention next month.

Shortly after Chicago had been named site of the Democratic conclave, antiwar, civil rights and hippie leaders chafed that if opposition to the President's policies were to be meaningful, it would have to involve the convention at the sprawling International Amphitheatre.

But now the protest movement is in disarray. The National Mobilization Committee, organizer of the march on the Pentagon last Oct. 21 and the largest vehicle for war protest, has canceled a program formed specifically for the convention, a program touted as "the largest in American history."

"But we no longer have those plans," said Rennie Davis of the NMC's Chicago office.

"Those plans were shaped largely around the assumption that Johnson would be running," Davis added in an interview.

The NMC still contemplates it was obscurely termed a "presence" during the convention, but Davis did not elaborate.

Lowell Rheinheimer, 20, reflects the growing uncertainty when he discusses the Chicago Area Draft Resisters, CADRE, a chapter of a national resistance organization which had plans for demonstrating the week of Aug. 23.

"After Johnson's announcement," he said, "the youths in CADRE had a tendency to relax, to breathe a sigh of relief. And they felt they could withdraw themselves from the movement."

If the peace movement plans appear loose and tentative, those of the civil rights movement are even less structured.

James Farmer, former director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said CORE will not demonstrate at the convention and added: "I hope the convention comes off, and I plan to attend."

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern

Christian Leadership Conference, has never officially adopted the promise of his predecessor the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to demonstrate at the convention, although he, too, has mentioned the possibility of a "presence" there.

When eyes first focused on the convention site in early January, Negro comedian and civil rights activist Dick Gregory angrily denounced the Democrats' choice of Chicago, proclaiming the convention would be held only "over my dead body" and that he would spearhead a demonstration of 5,000 persons.

Three months later Gregory called everything off.

He said he feared the planned marches would erupt into violence.

As the civil rights and antiwar threats have softened, so have those of the flower people. The Youth International Party—or Yippies—has re-evaluated its plans to stage a festival of joy in Chicago during the convention of 50,000 to 500,000 head-spangled youths.

"Yes, we had a program to come to Chicago," said Jerry Reuben of New York, a leader of the Yippies. "And officially it's still on. But the question of what to do is all up in the air."

It is so up in the air that many Yippie leaders are openly discouraging the Chicago invasion. "The drama was taken out of the situation by Johnson's decision," Reuben said.

The Yippies contend they are regularly abused by police in daily situations, and were especially forcefully dispersed during an antiwar march in April.

But city officials deny such allegations, as do officials of the Democratic party.

Mayor (Richard J.) Daley has frequently stated that anyone who wants to come to Chicago to carry out his right as an American to petition and demonstrate as long as he doesn't violate any laws, one city official said.

Demonstrations are highly restricted in Chicago. A city ordinance allows only one march a day, limits the size of the march to the discretion of the police superintendent. It requires that police be notified at least 24 hours in advance of the route, its points of inception and termination, and the names of the leaders.

The ordinance restricts marching to daylight hours, but prohibits marches during the peak traffic hours of 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

With the threats of demonstrations fading, another possible obstacle has been thrown up—the statewide strike by a telephone union.

Officials of the 11,800-man Brotherhood of Electrical Workers contend that a continuance of the strike could mean delay of installation of the complex communications network required for the convention.

Linemen, installers and repairmen have been on strike since May 8 in a dispute over wages. Negotiations have been broken off.

But Illinois Bell Telephone Co. officials insist that adequate manpower and technology is available for installation of the sophisticated equipment.

Convention coordinator John M. Meek seems unconcerned about the strike.

Brazilian Town: A National Shrine

By J.W. WILSON

PARATI, Brazil (UPI)—After three centuries as a haven for pirates, a royal lovenest, and a smugglers' cove, this old Brazilian town has been declared a national shrine to preserve its antiquity.

When incorporated in 1667, Parati rivalled Rio de Janeiro as the most important port in southern Brazil. Today it is virtually as it was then, cut off by the coastal mountain range which rises 4,000 feet in 10 miles.

The first land link with the rest of the country came in 1954 when a bulldozed mud road tumbled perilously down the mountainside.

Most of the 340 one and two-story buildings in the central 32-block area of the town are between two and three centuries old: none is newer than 120 years. Two of Parati's three gold-leaf-ornamented churches date from the 17th century.

Portuguese "bandeirantes," pioneering freebooters who looted and enslaved while they hunted for gold, first settled Parati in 1590. These hard men in leather knew no law and roamed the wild South American interior until they either amassed a fortune or died in an Indian ambush.

They chose Parati, located on a secluded arm of the Atlantic Ocean, rather than tax-collecting Rio, to export their treasures.

By 1667, the town had warehouses stocked with European and Asiatic goods to exchange for gold.

Julius Kirkovits recently decorated his 300-year-old hotel by dredging up pieces of crockery, breakage dumped overboard by Dutch East Indies Company ships in 1651.

A gold rush in 1703 forced the Portuguese government to build the "Fort of Perpetual Defense." Six two-ton brass cannons today lean on the fort's decaying walls, muzzles up, carriages rotted away.

The day Emperor Pedro I declared Brazil independent from Portugal, Sept. 7, 1822, he fell in love with Domitila de Castro. The monarch dubbed her a marquess and built her a palace in Parati, away from the eyes of his Rio court. Their love nest is a public school today.

Gold fields played out, Parati declines. Men turned to fishing, banana farming and, in the words of a collector's letter dated 1820, "a little piracy on Santos-Rio shipping."

"With no customs inspectors, smuggling had a free hand," one resident said. "The town was abandoned until the road came. We had no government services except when tax collectors sailed in on a banana boat."

The road brought daring vacationers. Later a dozen French writers and painters began an artists' colony. These newcomers contrast with Parati's 3,200 residents who cannot fathom why "these wretched houses are so fascinating."

"Parati is still almost unknown," said Mayor Aluisio Castro. "We fortunately rediscovered it before progress destroyed it."

Metropolitan Life Staff at Conference

Eight members and their wives of the staff of the Kingston District Office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company are in Bretton Woods, New Hampshire, today for a business conference with officials of the company at the Mount Washington Hotel.

Those attending the meeting are Joseph F. Carroll Jr., Anthony F. Del Vecchio, Vincent R. Guido, Peter J. Kowalenko, James A. Mancuso, Herbert A. Matson, Sam J. Turck and Dominic A. Zaccaro.

These men had exceptional sales and service records last year and are among the top-ranking members of Metropolitan's staff of 30,000 field representatives in the United States and Canada.

The local office, which is under the supervision of Manager George H. Devine, has a staff of four agency managers, seven metropolitan insurance consultants, 28 agents, and seven clerks.

Pills Important For TB Patients

Take pills regularly, advises the Ulster County TB and Health Association with headquarters at 124 Green Street.

Today, thanks to pills, active TB patients become non-infectious within days or weeks. Hospital stays can be shortened. In many cases, hospitalization is not even necessary. But to recover from the disease, patients must continue taking pills every day for two years. Long after they leave the hospital.

Unfortunately, too many TB patients cling to outmoded attitudes from the pre-pill era. Though pills are part of their daily routine, they sometimes view pill-taking as less important than other items on their list of priorities. It should be the key item.

To keep the focus on pills, your local TB-RD association has leaflets and information for patients and their families. Why not inquire about them?

Paris Students' Last Bastion Gives Up Easily

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS (AP) — The last major bastion of the student rebellion at the University of Paris fell without a fight today.

Police at dawn moved into the new medical school on the Rue des Saints-Peres and evicted the last 17 students holding out in the big four-story building. The red flag waving over the roof was hauled down. It was the last important University of Paris building held by the students whose revolt early in May touched off France's worst post-war crisis.

The police were helmeted and carried rifles, but there was no resistance. The students, who included four girls, whistled and joked as they were taken away for questioning.

The holdouts had been waiting for days for the police to come. They said they would not oppose them.

"A single tear has bomb through the windows would send us all running," said one.

On June 16 the police took over the Sorbonne, the headquarters of the revolt. The school of fine arts, which produced anti-De Gaulle posters, was taken on June 27. Last Friday it was the turn of the school of science and the new Sorbonne annex on the Rue Censier.

There was no resistance at any of them. A few dozen students were taken to a police station, and some were kept overnight. Some of them wrote newspapers charging that they were not fed nor allowed to call their parents.

Police also arrested a few persons who were not students, including several of the "Katangese" who had made trouble at the Sorbonne. They got their name from some of their number who said they had served with mercenary troops in the Congo's Katanga province.

Sunday afternoon at the medical school there was still a little of the carnival atmosphere that had the Sorbonne swinging while the students were in possession. But it was more subdued.

Help for Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than one-fifth of the total 58,000 population in the Watts district of Los Angeles has visited the antipoverty health services center there since its opening in September.

Officials say the mainly Negro area had only one small accredited hospital before. The dental-medical center is sponsored by the University of South California and financed by a $2.4-million federal grant.

'Meet Dyson' Set Tonight

Lee Fielding, president of the Dutchess County Teen Democrats, announced today that the club will hold an open "Meet John Dyson Night" tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Democratic Headquarters, 8 New Market Street, Poughkeepsie.

Dyson, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the 28th District, will speak briefly, followed by a question and answer period. After, there will be an opportunity for informal talks with the candidate at which time refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Plan Field Trip

An invitation is extended to join the members of the John Burroughs Natural History Society on a field trip to Belleayre Mt. on Sunday, July 14. The trip will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the foot of the chair lift at Belleayre Mt. on Rt. 28 near Pine Hill.

The group will ride to the top to observe high mountain birds and plants under the leadership of Dr. Robert Pyle of New Paltz.

Anyone planning to attend should bring a picnic lunch. Mrs. Bert Huth has invited the field trip party to picnic at her summer home in Pine Hill. Coffee and dessert will be served.

The next field trip will be on Aug. 3 with a bird banding demonstration at Chan Young's pond in Napanoch.

Cite Weather In Plane Crash Fatal to Four

BRISTOL CENTER, N.Y. found Saturday near here, about 15 miles from its takeoff point, hill-side near the Bristol ski resort.

Agency spokesmen says poor weather was probably the cause of a plane crash that has taken the lives of four members of a Honeoye Falls family.

The wreckage of the single-engine private airplane was the Civil Air Patrol in Rochester along the route.

Indians Return to Woods In Maine Lumber Dispute

INDIAN TOWNSHIP, Maine (AP) — The Passamaquoddy Indians say they cannot wait for Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis has a court decision on disputed timber land and plan a sit-down demonstration to halt wood-cutting on it.

The Indians and the Georgia Pacific Co. both claim to own 19,000 acres of land near here. A demonstration by about 40 members of the tribe halted the company's logging operations last Thursday, but the timber-cutting has been resumed.

John Stevens, tribal governor of the Peter Dana Point Indian Reservation, said Sunday his people would return to the logging sites today.

The state forest commissioner has said Georgia Pacific probably would order cutting stopped if the Indians tried to block company tractors.

Escapes, Takes Cash

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies say they especially want to recapture James J. Lufkas, 20, who escaped after serving two months of a six-month burglary sentence. Officers reported $925 missing from the office safe Friday after the escape of Lufkas.

PLANNING FOR MENTALLY HANDICAPPED—Members of the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services are in the process of gathering information regarding the mentally handicapped children in Ulster County. The Board, which includes representatives from seven Ulster County school districts, have created a teacher, nurse-teacher, and psychological information form which will standardize referrals of the children to various agencies in the county. In top photo (seated clockwise) Dr. Herman Lowe, Mrs. Alma Cudney, Mrs. Phillis Crawford, Mrs. Janice Domerise, Dr. Joyce Bartlett, Nyles Freeman, and Frank Falanga are shown discussing newly proposed programs for the mentally handicapped that will be instituted in several Ulster County schools. In bottom photo (L-R) Robert Doucette, Mrs. Alida Rose, and Mrs. Lynn Sarda examine new psychological information form. The Ulster County Board has received a title IV ESEA Planning Grant to help develop the new form.

Kingston School District Appoints 24 New Teachers

Appointment of 24 teachers in the Kingston Consolidated School District, and salary increases for 29 teachers who have satisfactorily completed graduate work, have been approved by the Board of Education on the recommendation of Supt. of Schools W. Wendell Hoover.

The appointments include: Miss Vivian A. Burke, probationary elementary physical instructor at an annual salary of $10,850, step 10 A-1-K; Miss Winifred Ann Chatterton, business education teacher (KHS) salary $6,450, step 1 A-1-a; John A. Feranchuk, math-science (junior high) $6,450 step 1 A-1-a; Miss Ruth Herschaft, elementary art teacher, $8,650, step 7 A-1-d; Philip M. Kelly, English teacher, $6,450; step 1 A-1-a.

Germany's Wooded Hills: Internationally Famous Spa

By MURRAY J. BROWN

BADEN-BADEN, West Germany (UPI)—You don't have to take the cure to enjoy this internationally famous spa in the wooded hills of southwestern Germany.

It's true that the hot springs have been a major attraction for the high and the mighty, and the low and the humble, over the years.

But there are many other things to do and to see which make a visit to Baden-Baden worth the while—art, music and theater festivals, international horse races, sports activities, picturesque scenery and an elegant casino.

The Romans first discovered the curative powers of the springs in the hills back in the third century. It's only a short ride or hike from town to the ruins of the baths built around 260 A.D. by the Emperor Caracalla for his legionnaires to ease their battle wounds and other aches.

Direct Piping

Now the waters are piped directly from their underground ferkessel (Copper Kettle) in the thermal pools to two modern bath houses with a complete range of facilities for the public, as well as to several hotels for those who prefer complete anonymity while soaking or drinking away their ailments.

Baden-Baden's spa and social activities are centered along the Lichtentaler Allee, which borders on a minuscule stream called the River Oos and a centuries-old park flourishing with flowers, shrubs and trees.

During the height of Baden-Baden's glory in the late 1800s, the Allee was the favorite promenade for Europe's aristocracy—Queen Victoria of England, Napoleon III of France, Kaiser Wilhelm I, among others.

The focal point is the Kurhaus, a graceful but imposing white building with eight slender pillars supporting its peaked entrance, begun in 1765 and completed in the 1820s. It houses numerous rooms for conventions, congresses and other functions, several excellent restaurants (try the Kup-

You can wager as little as 50 cents at roulette if you would try your luck at tables where fortunes have been won or lost. But even if you don't gamble, it's worth the price of admission just to walk through the rooms furnished in French imperial style with thick red carpets, red draped walls, paintings and statuary, and huge crystal chandeliers. The Casino, long considered the finest in Europe, is open daily for visitors and gamblers from 10 a.m. to 7 a.m.

Quiet Play
Las Vegas, it is not. There are no slot machines, dice tables, or bingo games. And play goes on at the roulette and chemin de fer tables in silence, broken only by the click of the ball, the slap of cards and the restrained calls by the croupiers.

There are about 100 hotels, pensions and guest houses in the Baden-Baden area with rates to fit almost any pocketbook. We stayed at the Waldhotel der Selghof, a charming chateau-type inn with private pool and tennis courts, overlooking the golf course in the hills on the outskirts.

We visited Baden-Baden on a tour of West Germany as guest of the German National Tourist Office. The flight from New York to Stuttgart via Lufthansa Boeing 707 jet plane took about eight hours. Baden-Baden is about one hour's drive from Stuttgart via the autobahn.

Doctors Say Hormones Make Skin Look Younger Safely

NEW YORK (Special)—A leading dermatologist and his assistants have conducted a "half-woman" test that proves conclusively estrogenic hormones make skin look younger and smooth dry-skin wrinkles.

A preparation containing female hormones was applied to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand of 50 middle-aged women. A similar for-day was used on the other side. It was quickly apparent that the side treated with hormones looked better. At the end of the test in all but two cases, skin lines were definitely less noticeable, complexion was softer, smoother, fresher. There was no local irritation in any case; examination revealed absolutely no systemic effects. The hormones had beautified effectively and safely.

In an effort to speed up hormones' beautifying action, a trustworthy 55-year-old laboratory developed a fluid formula called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. This laboratory conducted a test on 15,000 women volunteers who were asked to use the formula for just twelve days on one side of the face and neck. An impressive percentage signified that good results were attained even in this short period.

HORMONEX Beauty Serum acts so rapidly because pure female hormones are dissolved in a combination of penetrating Sesame Oil and a patented, liquid Lanolin. Only 7 drops a day are required to treat face and neck.

If you would like to test without risk, get a bottle of your favorite toiletry counter today, use it just twelve days. If the change is not astounding—if you are not completely satisfied, your dealer is authorized to refund purchase price without question. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is expensive to use. A 100-day supply costs only $3.50. Look younger quickly. See these

Here's why our competition is happy the model year is almost over.

It's been awfully tough on other cars in Impala's field this year. You can understand that. What can other dealers say when somebody wants the roomiest car? (That's an Impala 4-Door Sedan. According to the Automotive News Study, the big Chevrolet is roomier than any other car in its field.)

What can they say to questions like "Where's the ignition warning buzzer; the Hide-A-Way windshield wipers; the flush-and-dry rocker panels; the Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish; the Body by Fisher?" (Only Impala's got them in its field.)

And what can they say when somebody specifies a speed warning indicator, or light monitoring system? Or wants the lowest priced full-size sport coupe, for instance? (You see, putting you first keeps us first.)

What else can they say? Help!

South America Suffers Under Extended Drought

By STEVEN H. YOLEN
BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—As if most Latin American nations didn't have enough troubles fighting chronic unemployment, overpopulation and inflation, 1968 has brought an extra burden to many of them—drought.

Nine countries, in an arc extending from Puerto Rico in the Caribbean down the continent's west coast and then across the Andes to the southern Atlantic, have suffered incalculable losses to agriculture and related industries. The rainless days seem to bring but one harvest—human suffering.

The drought has affected Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay. The drought areas alternate with wet areas in a curious meteorological pattern. While Argentina and Uruguay, usually wet areas, are parched this year, Brazil's normally dry northeast has an abundance of rain. And sandwiched between Venezuela's dry areas and Ecuador's drought-stricken Andean region is Colombia, with no lack of rain at all.

But lack of rain has been particularly cruel to Ecuador, Peru and Chile. The extremely dry weather in the Peruvian southwest has caused mass population migration to the already overcrowded with squatter shanty towns. The government recently purchased 20,000 tons of rice from Red China to help offset the food shortage.

Here is a country-by-country rundown of the Latin American drought situation, as compiled by UPI bureaus throughout the continent.

—Argentina: Rains in mid-June saved the country's important wheat crop from ruin. Just in time, but five provinces—Buenos Aires, Cordoba, Entre Rios, Santa Fe and Rio Negro—are still declared emergency areas by the government and special loans are available for farmers. Experts still fear the country's estimated 55 million cattle, providing the chief export of meat, may be endangered by an early hard frost this winter starting in July. Argentine cattlemen do not stockpile feed for the winter, letting herds graze instead, and an early freeze would destroy the little grazing grass remaining after months of drought.

—Chile: Rains and snow also fell in Chile's parched central region north of Santiago in mid-June for the first time this year, but was not enough to do much good for small farmers in the area. The government is considering slaughtering another 40,000 head of cattle in area if it does not rain more, rather than let them starve.

—Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico: Drought in these two neighboring Caribbean islands has caused similar losses in both—primarily to cattle and sugar cane. In the Dominican Republic, which is still trying to recover economic stability since the disruptive 1965 civil war, the heavy losses to sugar—the country's chief dollar earner abroad—are acutely felt.

Puerto Rico's dry south coast has been declared an emergency area by U.S. President Lyndon Johnson and is eligible for federal loans. The drought is considered to be three years old here and has hastened the decline of the sugar industry, formerly the island's most prosperous. San Juan has been rationing water for more than four months.

—Ecuador: Losses so far in the disastrous drought have been incalculable. The southeastern border province of Loja near Peru is now described as a desert. A large portion of the population, mainly Indian tenant farmers, are said to be near starvation and the government has been distributing emergency food rations. Water trucks call regularly at isolated communities.

—Peru: The same conditions affecting Ecuador are also hitting Peru, particularly in the northern districts, where cotton, rice and sugar cane crops—three of the country's most important exports—have been nearly wiped out. An estimated 5 million of Peru's 12 million persons are living in the drought areas. Losses to cotton and rice alone were estimated by Foreign Minister Oswaldo Herccelles at $25 million. The government is providing emergency relief for hard pressed farmers.

—Paraguay: Lack of rain has plagued various parts of landlocked Paraguay for the past year, with the worst effects in the country's eastern section where the Mennonite farming colony is located. The situation is not considered serious and rains since March have helped. Nevertheless, the cotton production this year was down 15 per cent.

—Uruguay: The drought conditions were alleviated in part by the same rains that saved Argentina's wheat.

—Venezuela: The southern plains often alternate from year to year between wetness and drought. This year is dry. The major losses have been to cattle. The government has not officially estimated losses this year, but they are believed to be well into the millions.

Rocky, McCarthy Ask People To Help Them Catch Leaders

By KIRTLAND I. KING
ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller are bringing a whole new campaign technique to American politics. McCarthy and Rockefeller, both fighting an uphill battle for their respective party presidential nominations, have virtually abandoned the "delegates game" and are playing what might be described as the "people's game."

Most political students feel this unusual way of seeking a White House nomination was forced on both men because of their underdog roles. And, they say, an upset win for either could change the whole political nominating system.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon have been concentrating on political leaders and national convention delegates and this is the technique used over the years.

Twenty years ago, Thomas E. Dewey, then governor of New York, won his second Republican presidential candidacy as the result of vigorous campaigning for delegates over a four-year period. He was the GOP standard-bearer in 1944, but with little chance of defeating incumbent Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dewey devoted most of his campaign that year to lining up delegates for later on.

The then New York governor devoted much of his time to helping political leaders with their local candidates. During that time, he had political IOU's all over the country. He called the IOU's in 1948 and handily won the Republican designation.

Nixon has followed the same course in many respects. For the past several years, he has worked with GOP leaders on local campaigns and the all-important fund-raising affairs. He has a few IOU's.

Humphrey is in a similar position. For the past four years, he has worked with Democratic leaders and it will be the leaders who will control or influence a majority of the party's national convention delegates.

Nixon and the vice president have been making the customary pre-convention speeches, holding their powerful ammunition for the main fight in November. On the other hand, Rockefeller and McCarthy have been making what are known as post-convention speeches.

McCarthy and Rockefeller hope that by playing the "people's game" they will be able to influence public opinion polls and that the political leaders and the delegates will take their cue from the surveys. It has not worked that way in the past and the old reliable method has been the "delegates game."

Daniel P. O'Connell, Albany County Democratic chairman, once summed up the workings of a political convention for Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

The convention was about to nominate a candidate for governor when FDR Jr. got the idea he might like to make a fight for it. He came to O'Connell, who was neutral, for advice.

"Some of my friends want me to challenge Walter Lynch (the pre-agreed on candidate) for the nomination," Roosevelt told O'Connell. "What do you think I should do about it?"

"Take my advice young fellow," O'Connell replied. "The delegates are jobholders, people looking for jobs or friends and relatives of the leaders. The leaders have decided on Lynch. So, forget it. Come back in four years."

Hope Mini-Cars Can Beat Imports

DETROIT (UPI)—American auto industry leaders are nervously watching the foreign car sales figures climb toward the one million mark.

They aren't pushing the panic button yet, but at Ford and General Motors, development work is well along on new mini-models designed to sell under the $2,000 mark—the demarcation zone between big U.S. cars and the small foreign makes.

Chrysler Corp. so far has made no move to get into this field in an American-built car, and has only its foreign-built Simca as a poor competitor. American Motors has tried for two years to lure foreign-car buyers with its Rambler American, priced just under the $2,000 but has not stemmed the tide of imports.

Only a sudden reversal of the current trend toward record-breaking import figures will keep the big American car builders from going all out to plug the hole in the dike against the torrent of European and Japanese cars. Some reversal, for example, like happened in 1958-60 when the bottom fell out of the medium-priced car field and contributed to the demise of the Edsel and the De Soto.

But from what the car-builders can see now, no such reversal is in sight, although they've been hoping for several years that the bluish would wear off the import craze. It just hasn't happened. Last year, the imports set a record at about 750,000 sales in this country. This year it is certain to flow over the 800,000 mark and may hit close to 900,000.

That figures out to between 10 and 12 per cent of the auto sales market in the United States—a lucrative bundle. American Motors has been existing on 3 per cent and less market penetration and even giant Chrysler survived through the early 1960s with as little as 6 per cent of the market.

Though there will no American mini-cars introduced this fall along with the regular 1969 model introductions, there's a chance both Ford and General Motors will trot out their fight-the-imports versions around

March, April or May of 1969 as mid-year introductions.

Ford has been working for about two years on a model it has code-named the Delta which is considerably smaller than the Falcon, and built on a 104-inch wheelbase which will make it larger than most imports.

Presently, Ford's aim is to price it around $1,900, above the imports but below the $2,200 figure of the lowest priced Americans cars except some models of the Rambler American.

General Motors is working on a car with a target of selling it in direct price competition with the Volkswagen, which means around $1,700.

Hopes to Interest Negroes In Naval Officer Careers

By DONALD H. MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Negro Navy pilot, veteran of 65 Vietnam combat missions, has been traveling about the United States trying to interest promising young Negroes in naval officer careers.

The Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs this year sent 13 of its Negro cadets to Detroit, Washington, Kansas City, Dallas, Nashville and other cities to visit schools, appear on television and talk to civic groups in an effort to increase Negro enrollment in the academy.

The Defense Department last year sent out 19,000 letters to schools, colleges and community leaders, explaining the opportunities that exist in the officer ranks of all the armed forces for all races.

These are some of the steps the armed services are taking to try to make the statistical reality of Negro officer enrollment catch up with the policy of equal opportunity which President Harry Truman proclaimed for the military services in 1948.

Service Figures

In 1967, 3.4 per cent of Army officers (including warrant) were Negroes. Figures for the other services were: Air Force, 1.8 per cent; Marines, seven tenths of 1 per cent, and Navy, three tenths of 1 per cent. Negroes then comprised about 11 per cent of the U.S. population.

Enlisted men more closely mirrored the population in 1967—Army 12.1 per cent; Air Force 10.4 per cent; Marines 10.3 per cent.

Navy Cmdr. Reeves R. Taylor says the Navy's low showing in both areas is due in large part to the Navy's "image." In 1945, 95 per cent of Navy Negro enlisted men were stewards. Now 5 per cent are stewards. But the image persists.

Taylor, 39, a Negro Annapolis graduate who flew 65 Vietnam missions from the carrier Constellation, has been trying for the past year to do something about this image.

Heading a "minority officer recruiting" program in the Bureau of Naval Personnel, he has traveled to 36 predominantly Negro colleges. He has gotten 50 other Negro Navy officers to make recruiting trips to 300 colleges which contain some Negroes.

In All Fields

"So many people tell me 'I've never seen a Negro naval officer,'" Taylor says. The Navy had no Negro officers in 1917; 194 in 1962 and 330 in 1968. They are in all fields, with the largest concentrations in the "line," aviation and medical ranks. Tables show the time it takes for them to travel up the promotion ladder is the same for white officers.

Yet Lt. Carlos C. Campbell, who works with Cmdr. Taylor, says he is continually amazed to find "educated people who don't know the Navy has changed." He suggests a contributing cause: "Some presidents of Negro colleges used to be Navy stewards."

Cmdr. Taylor believes his program is beginning to show measurable results. In fiscal year 1967, 47 Negroes were given Navy commissions through all channels. In fiscal 1968 some 136 were expected to be commissioned, more than double the previous year.

L. Howard Bennett, a former Minneapolis Municipal Court judge and now Defense Department civil rights director, has been working with the problem since 1964. That was the year the department launched efforts to attract more members of minority races to all officer programs, particularly the service academies—West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy.

"We started with the academies," Bennett said, "because of their prestigious, symbolic value. We felt the way to interest Negro youth in service careers was to demonstrate their presence at the academies."

Maj. John Blanton, assistant candidate adviser at the Air Force Academy, told UPI reporter Lester C. Kjos that the school continually seeks outstanding minority group students from sources such as national scholarship lists.

The entering class at the Air Force Academy this summer was expected to contain some 24 Negroes out of 1,250 entering students, compared with one out of 772 in the class entering in 1960. Fifty-three Negroes were expected to be "on board" in all of the academy's four classes during the coming year, compared with six "on board" in 1964.

This year's entering class at Annapolis was expected to have 13 Negroes among 1,375 new plebes, with a total of 31 Negroes "on board" in all classes compared with four in 1964.

High Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Comic middle-aged sentimentalists, books that once sold for 10 cents but mostly teen-agers. Howard Rogofsky, 21, said he each now are selling for up to $150 at the first International Convention of Comic Art here, Glenn Farley, 15, said, "I like which ends Sunday. In attendance since Thursday get to know what people liked, have been editors, cartoonists, what they said then."

There were 30 Negroes studying at West Point last year, and about nine were expected to enter among 1,250 new cadets this summer.

Judge Bennett singled out the Marine Corps for progress in minority recruiting, increasing from 65 Negro officers in 1965 to 165 in 1967.

But Bennett also looks at other figures which show the enormity of the problem:

In 1962 the Air Force had 106,692 officers, of whom 1,320 or 1.2 per cent were Negro. In 1967 the Air Force had 136,667 officers, of whom 2,417 or 1.8 per cent were Negro. In other words, it nearly doubled its number of Negro officers. But the percentage changed by only six tenths of 1 per cent.

Double Problem

"We have," Bennett said, "the twin problems of the deficiencies of education to which Negroes have been subjected historically in this country, and the paucity of cultural experience" resulting from segregation and poverty.

The service schools have high standards. Moreover, schools such as Harvard and Yale compete energetically for the brightest young Negro talent.

Bennett said the solutions must be found in overcoming "lack of awareness" in the Negro community of the opportunities to be found in the service academies.

If the operator greets you with "Directory Assistance" and you know in your heart you dialed "Information," don't get confused. You have the right operator. Only we've changed her name to "Directory Assistance."

When she was called "Information," people kept calling her for the wrong reasons...for numbers already in their directories...for ball scores, train schedules and all sorts of odd items. So now we call her "Directory Assistance" in the hope that you'll call her only for numbers you can't find in your phone book, numbers outside your directory area and new numbers not yet listed.

If you need help, by all means call "Directory Assistance," but please check your phone book first. The number you need may already be in there, and you'll save yourself the extra call.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mac Isaac and Mr. and Mrs. John McCullough, all of Kingston, attended the 53rd annual Convention of Kiwanis International held recently at the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, Canada.

The four members, representing the Kingston Kiwanis Club, joined over 25,000 Kiwanians from clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Western Europe, the Caribbean, the Far East and Central and South America.

James M. Moler of Charles Town, W. Va., president of Kiwanis International presided over the three-day event which featured speeches by such notables as ABC news commentator Paul Harvey, Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and W. Ross Thatcher, premier of Saskatchewan Province.

The convention included election of officers for Kiwanis International for 1968-69.

Congress Shows Interest In Federal Reserve

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A temptation to involve itself in the affairs of the Federal Reserve Board, that semiautonomous group that steers the nation's monetary policy, may be growing stronger in Congress.

The consequences could be far reaching, for the board in economic and financial affairs is something like the Supreme Court in law.

Its role, as it has been acted out, is to watch the economy and keep it in line—by raising or lowering basic interest rates, for example—regardless of the feelings of even so important a man as the President.

Over the years it has built a reputation as a severe and sometimes gloomy group not to be trifled with by Congress or anyone else. And so long as it didn't violate the laws, Congress couldn't move quickly against it.

Control Laws

However, Congress does control the laws under which the Fed acts, and it is now considering changes in them.

One measure would have the Fed release billions of dollars into the housing market when a lack of funds threatens a downturn in activity.

This proposal already has been called by Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin, a man who shuns publicity but wins it nevertheless with colorful phrases, "a prostitution of the fundamental functions of the bank."

Meanwhile, Congress is also digesting a report from the Joint Economic Committee that suggests the establishment of guidelines for the Fed in its role of money supplier. The permissible yearly increase would be 2 to 6 per cent.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., committee chairman and often a critic of Fed activities, readily states that the report "breaks sharply with Congress' traditional hands off the Fed."

There may be a clue to future events in that phrase, for some critics feel the independence of the board has been damaging to the nation's economy. Congress could change the laws; its hand could become heavier than in the past.

This is a long and sometimes interesting past. In 1913 the Federal Reserve was set up as a central bank to give the nation an elastic currency, one that would expand and contract with activity, and to supervise the banking system.

This is a long and sometimes interesting past. In 1913 the Federal Reserve was set up as a central bank to give the nation an elastic currency, one that would expand and contract with activity, and to supervise the banking system.

Originally the secretary of the Treasury was chairman of the board, and so chances of a conflict with the executive branch were unlikely. But in 1935 the Treasury representation was removed.

As the years went by it was recognized that the basic aims of the Reserve Board involved it also in other affairs of state. And in 1946, when it became an official goal of economic policy to seek maximum employment consistent with a balanced economy, the Fed's role became even more complex.

In handling the nation's money affairs, the Fed's objectives now are: Maximum sustainable economic growth, reasonable price stability, maximum practicable employment and equilibrium in international payments.

Eventually in carrying out these objectives the Fed was bound to differ with Congress and the President. And on Dec. 2, 1965, there developed a confrontation with Lyndon Johnson. The President was spending heavily and otherwise following an expansive fiscal policy. The Fed stepped in and countered with a restrictive monetary policy: It raised interest rates.

This is like braking and accelerating at the same time, only worse. It also damages the machinery; it sets the gears running in opposite directions.

The Fed was praised for its independence but it was damned also. A congressman accused Martin of being a monetary dictator. An economist called the move "an arrogant exercise in self-assertion." A professor termed it "unwarranted, anachronistic, ineffective and undemocratic."

The main thrust of the criticism was that the Fed should be made more responsive to the public interest by forcing it to coordinate its moves with fiscal policy.

Super Plane in Good Shape Despite Cutting of Funds

By VERN HAUGLAND

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the supersonic transport (SST) program says the project is in good shape despite House action in not appropriating funds for the big plane for the upcoming fiscal year.

In fact, the funds were left out because SST program planners didn't want the money, Air Force Maj. Gen. J. C. Maxwell said in an interview. Maxwell is director of the SST program for the Federal Aviation Administration.

"This decision against seeking money requested earlier was not forced down our throat; we took this position on our own without being told," Maxwell said about the House last week leaving SST funds out of the Transportation Department's $1.35 billion budget.

"It may be hard to believe, sort of like a Grimm's fairy tale, that we did not want more money, but that is the situation," Maxwell stated.

Although no new money is provided for the SST, the program will have available $186 million previously appropriated but not used.

Maxwell said this is sufficient to keep the program going while Boeing Co., prime contractor for the SST, submits new designs for the 1,00-mile-an-hour plane.

The plane, as originally designed, wouldn't have performed well enough to insure a commercially profitable aircraft, Maxwell explained. But Boeing has caught up with the problem and things are going satisfactorily now, he said.

Representatives of airlines that made downpayments on 122 SSTs with Boeing will meet with officials of the aircraft firm next Tuesday to review the situation, Maxwell said.

Maxwell said another widespread misconception regarding what he called recurrent false reports from abroad that the Franco-British SST, the Concorde, is in trouble.

He said these reports, apparently originating from sources opposed to the Concorde, hurt the U.S. project because they give a false sense of leadership.

"It's amazing, but many people around here, including some in the Congress, don't think the Concorde is for real," Maxwell said.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 8, the 190th day of 1968. There are 176 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1853, an American expedition headed by Commodore Matthew Perry arrived in Yokohama Harbor to try to establish U.S. relations with Japan.

On this date: In 1822, the English poet, Percy Shelley, drowned when his boat capsized in the Gulf of Spezia in Italy.

In 1835, the Liberty Bell at Independence Hall in Philadelphia cracked as it was being rung during the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall.

Peace Conference in France.

In 1940, the government of Norway moved to London after 62 days of fierce fighting against Nazi invaders.

In 1944, U.S. forces captured the Island of Saipan from the Japanese in the Pacific War.

In 1950, Gen. Douglas MacArthur was appointed United Nations commander in the Korean War.

Foes Picture McCarthy Lacking In Leadership

By RAYMOND M. LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's campaign managers are eagerly circulating reports that Democratic national convention delegates are raising questions about Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's qualifications for the presidency.

These questions have haunted the Minnesota senator since he began his campaign for the presidential nomination seven months ago, sounding like a reluctant dragon. They will continue to bother him up to the convention seven weeks ahead. They grow out of his failure to become a driving force in Congress during his 20 years in the House and Senate or to achieve much national recognition before the 1968 presidential primaries. The primary campaigns and the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy left him the only major challenger to Humphrey for the Democratic nomination.

McCarthy's campaign speeches have made it easy to see what he is against, such as the Vietnam War, the priorities and methods of the Johnson administration. It has not been so easy to see what he is for in terms of detailed solutions to the problems he lists.

It also has been easy to forget that Humphrey and McCarthy, then political allies in Minnesota, were elected to Congress on the same day in 1948. Humphrey's early years in the Senate were marked more by talk than accomplishment until Lyndon B. Johnson became party floor leader.

He drew the then fiery liberal into the Senate's inner circle and persuaded him that half a loaf was sometimes better than none. Humphrey was assistant Democratic leader of the Senate when he was elected vice president.

McCarthy joined him in the Senate in 1959. He was popular and respected for his intelligence, but never regarded as one who aspired to lead. The skeptics and his critics are still asking what kind of president McCarthy would be.

Tools of Modern Science May Help Fulfill Dream

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Man's age-old desire to see an atom may be fulfilled in a year or so.

Two of the sharpest tools of modern science—the electron microscope and the computer—have been teamed up in a project to make this incredibly tiny building block of all matter visible for the first time.

First goal of the project is to unlock the secret of genes, the living blueprints of heredity which may enable biologists someday to control evolution.

If successful the same technique would tell physicists more about nuclear energy, the key to a long-promised Golden Age of almost limitless power.

Electron microscopes, capable of magnifying 500,000 times compared with the 1,000-magnification of microscopes using light, have already probed deep into complex molecules, showing how each is made up of thousands of atoms.

But the sharpest electron microscope image yet photographed does not quiet get down to the ultimate: the atom. Structures less than five atoms in diameter simply do not show up.

Technique Under Way

A technique for seeing better in the microcosmos of the very small is under study at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Dr. Robert Nathan, the scientist who worked out a way to use computers to improve spacecraft pictures of the moon and Mars, plans to link computers with electron microscopes and thus photograph a single atom.

"What we are doing now is studying the feasibility of such a technique," Nathan said in an interview, "building the hook-ups between the computer, the electron microscope and the camera."

"We expect to have much of this done in six months or so, and then we can get on with the proving of methods and actual research. It's always hard to say just how fast research will go but with luck we could be taking pictures of atoms in a year or so."

The reason optical microscopes can't see an atom is that light waves are too blunt. The distance from trough to crest, Nathan says, is about half a micron. A micron is a microscopic unit of measure in the metric system and there are one million of them in a meter, which is about 40 inches.

There is an even smaller unit of measure, known as the angstrom. An angstrom is one ten-thousandth of a micron. Nathan figures the size of an atom as about one angstrom, so a light wave is thousands of times thicker than an atom. An atom couldn't begin to reflect anything as big as a light wave.

But electrons are different. They are parts of atoms—they are the energetic particles which whirl around the nucleus of an atom. An atom can reflect a beam of electrons and so, theoretically, should be photographable by cameras sensitive to electrons instead of light.

Electron microscopes haven't yet been able to photograph an atom, Nathan says, because stains used to provide contrast between various structures in a molecule also cause distortion. The stain spreads among the atoms, blocking too many of the electrons and making the image fuzzy. If no stain were used, the true structure or at least the shape of the atom should become apparent.

Some of the best electron images made so far are of genes, long strings of deoxyribonucleic acid, DNA, in the nucleus of cells and viruses. These strings are believed to be entwined in double-spiral form in living tissue but in laboratory tests they flatten out like chains of beads tossed on a dresser top.

Atoms Strung Together

The beads in the chain are believed to be atoms strung together in a coded sequence, or biological blueprint, which determines what functions each cell performs. The exact pattern of atoms along the chain has never been determined but Nathan hopes he can find a way to do just that with images sharp enough to show each single atom.

Eventually this would help scientists trying to string atoms together artificially in such a way that they can direct the function of cells and thus control what a man will be and what his offspring will be.

"That's quite a way down stream, however," Nathan says. "Much sooner than that, I think, will come an ability to control disease and aging. That's how I got into this research, through an interest in aging. Certainly the secret of disease and aging must lie in the individual cell and how well it functions, and a better look at the DNA which controls the cell will help."

He knows a great deal about computers, an interest he developed in trying to improve pictures televised by Ranger moon-impact vehicles in 1964.

Nathan saw that unwanted "noise"—the scientists' word for static was mingling with the signals from the spacecraft and distorting their pictures. He developed an intricate process using a computer to filter out the static.

Here's how it works:

Signals from spacecraft cameras come in as numbers, with low numbers representing light shades of gray and higher numbers standing for darker shades of gray.

Nathan stores these numbers in sequence on magnetic tape and feeds the tape into a computer. Then he instructs the computer to pick out streaks of dots which don't seem to belong in the picture and to raise or lower the dots' numbers to a shade which does seem to belong. This filters out the noise and the pictures become sharp.

Money back in full if not 100% satisfied. No age limit—Apply NOW by date shown in Enrollment Form below.

ONE OUT OF TWO FAMILIES will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family, tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have TRIPLED in just a few short years. They are expected to DOUBLE AGAIN in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly but necessary X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stops, but living expenses go right on—rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop? What is the average bread winner to do?

Now you can receive $100.00 a week tax-free cash, from the very first day you enter the hospital for as long as you are confined there—even for 100 full weeks, if necessary!

This new plan relieves you of worry about the terrible financial threat of accident or illness. But you must apply during this limited enrollment period BEFORE the date shown in your coupon below.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY Exclusions!

The new World Mutual Plan covers every conceivable kind of sickness and accident except, of course, hospitalization caused by the use of alcoholic beverages or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; act of war; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 3 years only); or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else IS covered.

How can $1 buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But World Mutual can now provide you with $100.00 a week tax-free Income Protection for just $1 the first month ONLY BECAUSE WE ENROLL A NUMBER OF PEOPLE AT ONE TIME—direct by mail! This highly efficient

PAYS YOU CASH

...$100.00-A-WEEK tax free cash starting your very first day in the hospital. No waiting period!

PAYS YOU CASH

...to a maximum of $10,000.00 any time you go to the hospital and stay for as long as 100 weeks.

PAYS YOU CASH

...Money mailed directly to you—not to the doctor or hospital

PAYS YOU CASH

...you get $100.00-A-Week in addition to whatever you receive from Medicare, Workmen's Compensation or any other insurance.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with The World Mutual Plan in addition to what "Medicare" will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you will still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or any other health insurance you may have.

Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you, to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most—to help pay any bills you choose. Best of all, your World Mutual protection will pay even for 100 weeks, if necessary!

"mass enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone. We are able to issue thousands of policies in a few short weeks—rather than spread the procedure over many long months—or even a year. Our overhead and processing expenses are reduced drastically—and the savings are passed on to you!

After your first month's protection, you may continue at World Mutual's regular low monthly rates—and the rate you pay now will never be increased because you grow older!

What Would Happen To Your Family?

The chances are one in seven that you will spend some time in the hospital this year. A fall on the stairs, in the bathtub, or on the sidewalk—a sudden illness or operation—could lay you up for weeks, months, perhaps even years.

Right now, you probably have some hospital coverage. You may think you're "safe" from all the financial burdens of sickness and accident. But hospital coverage usually takes care of only part of your expenses.

Can you afford the soaring costs of doctor, surgical, and nursing bills? Can you afford missing your weekly paycheck during the time you're laid up in the hospital? Even though you probably have some protection now—will it be enough? Sickness, accidents, hospitalization, cost many people their savings, their cars, even their homes. Don't take chances with your financial security. Now for only pennies a day, YOU can enjoy the added protection, the peace of mind, the freedom from worry that this new World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Extra Income Health and Accident Plan WNL-1-667 offers.

The Added Protection You NEED!

All benefits of this World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your other insurance! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctors' bills, mortgage payments—or any necessary but costly extras not fully covered by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all the bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why World Mutual developed low-cost Income Protection that helps you pay either hospital costs or anything else you need or want!

You get your $100.00 per week ($14.28 per day)—TAX FREE—from your first day in the hospital, and as long as you are confined there, even for 100 weeks, if necessary.

For Older Folks—Greater Protection Than You Ever Would Have Thought Possible!

Right now, would advancing age prevent you from getting hospital insurance, or income protection with another company? Or if you could get a policy elsewhere, would you have to pay a big premium for it? Or perhaps you no longer have a regular income, and are living on Social Security. What would happen to you then if you had to suddenly go to a hospital?

Your "life saver" could be this wonderful World Mutual Income Protection Plan—because World Mutual welcomes folks of all ages into its Plan. You can even be OVER 100 and still be eligible!

Can You Afford to Miss This Chance?

Now, at less cost than you may ever have thought would be possible, you can set up a "gold mine" of protection from desperate financial straits if the need arises. Thanks to this unique new Plan, you can assure the solid, substantial protection you need—and not only save money, but assure yourself of other benefits, too, during all the years to come.

Our Famous MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

We are so sure that we offer the best protection at the lowest cost, that we make our famous MONEY-BACK guarantee.

When you send for your policy, and it arrives in your hands, we want you to look it over as carefully and as often as you wish. See how thoroughly it protects you. See how exactly it meets the needs that you want covered. See how here, at last, is the policy that makes it possible for you to get the sickness and accident protection you need, in greater measure than ever before!

If you are not 100% satisfied that your policy is exactly what we have promised it to be, and exactly what YOU want it to be—send the policy back to us within 30 days and we will REFUND YOUR MONEY IN FULL, AT ONCE. But meanwhile you will be protected. And, if you decide to continue this wonderful protection, you may do so at the low rate shown below—a rate which will never be raised because you grow older!

World Mutual Plans Are Nationally Known

This money-saving World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan truly offers outstanding value. Here's why: You can buy ordinary insurance from most companies at regular rates all year long. They are happy to issue one policy at a time. But World Mutual issues many new policies at one time during a limited enrollment period.

This "mass enrollment" method keeps our underwriting, processing and all other overhead expenses down to a bare minimum—and these savings are passed on to you!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Only $1 for First Month—Unconditional Money Back Guarantee

To introduce you to this new Plan, we make you this unusual offer: Act during this enrollment period and get your first month's protection for only one dollar (only $2 for your entire family)!

Simply fill out your enrollment form here and mail it with just $1 (or $2 for the entire family), before midnight, of the date within the coupon. A full month's protection will go into effect on the same day we accept your enrollment form. Your policy will be sent to you right away BY MAIL.

When you get your policy, examine all its benefits and features. Have it checked, if you wish, by your lawyer, doctor, clergyman, or other trusted adviser. If you are not 100% satisfied, return the policy within 30 days and your money will be refunded. If you decide to continue this worthwhile protection, you may do so at the low rates as follows for each member:

World Mutual Monthly Renewal Rates

| Age at Enrollment | Monthly Premium |
|-------------------|-----------------|
| 0-39              | only $3.95     |
| 40-54             | only $4.95     |
| 55-64             | only $5.95     |
| 65-74             | only $6.95     |
| 75 and over       | only $9.25     |

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next! Once you have enrolled in this World Mutual plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

The reliable company behind your policy

Your policy is guaranteed by the World Mutual Health and Accident Insurance Company of Pennsylvania. We have been helping families safeguard their security with sound insurance protection for more than 47 years. Our rating by Dunne's Insurance Reports, the world's largest policyholders' reporting service, is A+ (Excellent). This is the highest rating any insurance company can reach.

As for our financial position, Dunne's analysis shows that for each $100.00 of liabilities, World Mutual has assets of $134.54. This is higher than the 5-year average of the 15 largest insurance companies in the country, which have assets of $107.62 for each $100.00 of liabilities. In addition to this ample margin of financial safety, you can count on us to handle your claims fairly and promptly when you are hospitalized. World Mutual has paid claims in every state and in many foreign countries as well.

Act NOW—"Later" May Be TOO Late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 20 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell us how World Mutual's $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

- How much will this policy pay me when I go to the hospital? $100.00 per week.
- When will my hospitalization benefits start? The day you enter the hospital.
- Will I be paid if I am in the hospital for less than a full week? Yes. This new plan pays whether you are in the hospital for only a day, or a week, a month, or a year!
- Does this policy have any "waiting periods" before I can use it? No. It will go into force on the same day we accept your completed enrollment form and $1 premium (or $2 for your entire family.)
- How long will I continue to receive hospitalization benefits? For every day you are in the hospital to a maximum of 100 weeks, as a result of any one accident or illness.
- Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition? After you have resumed full normal activities for just six months, you are again eligible for benefits for a recurring condition, to a maximum of 100 weeks. And of course, any new condition would be covered immediately!
- How may I use these benefit payments? You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you!
- Can I collect from World Mutual even if I carry other insurance? Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare, for folks over 65.
- Why do I need this World Mutual Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance? While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will require hospital care this year—and you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your World Mutual checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit!
- May I apply if I am over 65? Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit!
- Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims? No. World Mutual guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
- Will benefits be reduced because of advanced age? No. Regardless of how old you become or how many claims you have, your benefits remain the same.
- Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims? No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. World Mutual guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state!
- What is not covered by this policy? The only conditions not covered are those caused by: the use of alcohol or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 3 years only); act of war; or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else is covered!
- What are the requirements for membership in this World Mutual Plan? You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must apply before midnight of the date in the coupon.
- Why is this offer good for a limited time only? Because by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, under rating, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
- Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining World Mutual during this enrollment period? Yes. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
- Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer? Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 15.
- How does the money-back guarantee work? Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 30 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!
- How do I join? Fill out your brief enrollment form (be sure to sign your name) and mail it, with just $1 for the first month's protection, ($2 covers your entire family.) Mail to: World Mutual, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

SUPERVISORS — Keeping over 100 children happy and entertained for an entire summer day is a job that requires patience, imagination, and ability. Hutton Park's three counselors, (L-R), James Cannel, Shelia Barnes and Debbie Crespiro are among the 28 young people selected by the Parks and Recreation Department to supervise the activities and events that will take place at the seven city parks this summer. In addition to leading the children in a variety of games and contests, the supervisors meet with Recreation Department officials once a week to report on the weeks activities at their parks and to suggest improvements in the overall program. ## Historic Site Chief Ulster Unit Speaker

William G. Tyrrell, chief of the Historic Sites Management for the New York State Historical Society, will be guest speaker at the Ulster County Historical Society meeting on Saturday, July 13 at 2:30 p. m. at the Beaver House in Kingston.

Tyrrell is the author and co-author of several books and articles dealing with the history of New York State, and is a member of the American Association for State and Local History, the National Trust for Historic Preservation, and the National Council for the Social Studies.

The New York State Historical Society, established by the State Legislature in 1966, owns and operates historic sites of major statewide historic interest. It is able to provide grants-in-aid to municipal historic sites projects and designates places of historic interest in the state.

Tyrrell, who resides with his family in Albany, is a former resident of New York City and has degrees from both Columbia and Brown Universities. Prior to his appointment to the New York State Historical Society, he was a historian in the State Education Department in Albany.

BOCES Elects New Trustees

Joseph Foley, Dr. William Hagney, and Dr. George Sullivan, all of Ulster County, were elected to the Board of Trustees of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center at its annual membership meeting held at New Paltz State University recently.

The meeting also included status reports, films and slides and discussions on the various problems that the Center has encountered over the past year.

The Center's major function is to develop innovative educational programs for funding under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The Center is administered by the U. S. Office of Education and the State Education Department.

In addition to the three Ulster men, 12 others were elected to the Board of Trustees from five counties in the area.

Attending the meeting were representatives of various school districts, cultural agencies, and nonpublic schools.

Hutton Park -- Hit With All Ages

By JON POWERS

With the exception of Forsyth, Hutton Park, is perhaps, the city's most attractive. Located off Sherman Street near the East Chester Street by-pass, is also one of Kingston's smallest and most compact playground facilities. Hutton comprises almost 10 acres of fields, wooded areas and grassy lawns and boasts much of the same equipment and projects as the other six city parks.

Because of its centralized location, Hutton will be the site of many of the intrapark events that are to take place during the summer. On Independence Day, it was the site of the city checker championships—the first city-wide park tournament of the summer—and it was attended by the 28 girl and boy representatives from each of the city parks.

Hutton, like the other six playgrounds, is staffed and supervised by three counselors whose responsibility it is to organize games and activities, serve as lifeguards at the wading pool, and to safeguard the children from accidents and personal injury. The counselors also act as liaisons between the park and the Recreation Department, suggesting new events and activities and helping to organize field trips, clinics, and intrapark tournaments. In addition, they accompany the registered children in their park on trips to local areas of interest such as the Freeman office and the city Courthouse and Jail every week.

Complete Facilities
Hutton's facilities are as complete as those of any other city park. Probably the most popular item, and especially on these hot summer days, is the wading pool, which can accommodate up to 30 children at one time and which is used by almost 100 throughout the day. The wading pool measures about 30 feet in diameter and has a depth of one foot. It is hand filtered and cleaned and is periodically checked by the County Health Department for the presence of harmful bacteria.

In addition to the wading pool, Hutton is equipped with swings, teeter boards and climb-arounds. A shuffleboard court, handball court, and basketball court, as well as two tennis courts and a softball field provide the children at Hutton with a variety of recreational opportunities.

There is also a small picnic pavilion and tree-shaded picnic area at the park, which can be used either by the children at the park or by groups and organizations for their own private outings. In past years group picnics, clambakes, and fairs have been held at Hutton's beautiful facilities.

One of the most noteworthy aspects of Hutton Park is the fact that there are no heavily used streets in the area. Parents can be assured that their children are not in danger of wandering into the traffic.

For those parents who are hesitant about sending their children to one of the parks during the summer, their doubts are unfounded. Parks Superintendent Andrew J. Murphy III has organized the most complete and entertaining summer program in recent years. There should be no doubts about the competence of the supervisors either. Each was carefully selected and many have had previous experience in working with children of all ages.

Hutton Park is open daily from Monday through Friday from 9:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. with supervision, but its facilities may be used at any time during the day or week by the public. The summer program at Hutton, as well as for all the city parks, is open to youngsters of all ages, although the games and amusements that are provided are designed for ages 14 and under.

YMCA Accepting Applicants for Camping Trips

The YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County is still accepting applications for its summer camping tours for boys and girls 12-16.

The program is under the direction of William Widholm and John Phillips. Both men are area school teachers and have had a total of 25 years camping experience.

The first trip is a caravan trip to Florida for girls. The dates for the trip are July 12-Aug. 2. The second trip will be a bicycle trip to Cape Cod, Mass., and Nantucket Island from Aug. 5 to Aug. 17. The third trip will be by canoe in the Adirondack State Park Aug. 19-27. The bicycle and canoe trips are limited to boys.

At present 13 boys and girls from the Kingston area have signed up for the trips. They are Karen Sondak, Beth Riley, Beth Newman, Barbara Jacobs, Beth Goldbaum, Evelyn Fox, Joyce Fredericks, John Riley, William Mullany, Terry Allred, James Dennington, Erick Collins and James McGuire. This group will be joined by a group from Wappingers Falls where John Phillips is a teacher.

Traffic Is Up On Hudson Spans

Recorded the highest amount of The Kingston - Rhinecliff Bridge reported that 950,290 autos used its facilities during the six-month period ending June 30, 1968, an increase of 36,394 over the same six-month period in 1967.

Revenue taken in during this past six-month period amounted to $251,904.25 an increase of $7,488.25 over the corresponding 1967 period.

During June of 1968, 1,611 fewer autos traveled over the bridge as compared to June, 1967.

A total of 7,019,874 autos utilized the five bridges that cross the Hudson in the Catskill Mountain area. This represents an increase of over 550,000 vehicles over the same 1967 period. The Mid-Hudson Bridge, near Poughkeepsie, reported an increase of over 100,000 vehicles during the first half of 1968 with over 2 1/2 million cars traveling over the span. The five bridges report a combined increase in auto traffic during 1968 of 8.66 per cent over 1967.

West Point Wedding Held Sunday, June 23

Miss Marilyn Anita Kirstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirstein of 4 McKinley Road, Marblehead, Mass., became the bride of Lieut. Mark Alan Edelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edelman of 102 Fairmont Avenue, Kingston, on Sunday, June 23, at the Old Cadet Chapel, West Point.

Rabbi Avraham Sotles, Jewish Chaplain, USMA, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported silk gown which featured a deep yoke, a high neckline and full length sleeves. The gown was styled with an empire waist and a chapel length train which was trimmed with seed pearls. Her headpiece of imported French illusion was accented with appliques of Alencon lace and edged with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Robert Grossman, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a full length gown styled with an empire waist in orange print chiffon and carried a cascade of white carnations.

Attendants were Miss Sharon Kirstein, sister of the bride; Miss Susan Kirstein, cousin of the bride; Miss Susan Brown and Mrs. Marc Goldberg. Their gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

Lieut. Steven Ader was best man. Ushers were Lieut. Robert Kelly, Lieut. Marvin Belasco, Lieut. Peter Sowa, Lieut. Harry Bennett, Lieut. Dan Kaufman, and Captain Steven Eigenberg.

After the wedding a reception for 100 guests was held at the Officer's Club.

The bride was graduated from Marblehead High School; Bryant College, Providence, R.I.; and American Musical and Dramatic Academy. Her husband is an alumnus of Valley Central High School, Montgomery; and USMA, West Point, Class of 1968.

The couple will reside in Lynn, Mass., until the bridegroom reports for Army duty in August.

MRS. THOMAS W. FLUHR

Russett — Fluhr Wedding Announced

Miss Elizabeth Marie Russett of Ellenville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas G. Russett, was married Saturday, June 29, to Thomas Warren Fluhr of Thompson Ridge. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George C. V. Fluhr of New York City. The ceremony was performed in the Church of Saint Mary and Andrew at Ellenville by the Rev. John J. Budwick. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Edward Michael Russett.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of shell pink Chaharrah crepe and chiffon accented above the waistline with a satin band edged with Paris pink. The flowing chiffon Watteau effect at the back was held by a similar two-toned satin band. Her shell pink veil fell from a cap of Paris pink roses and bows. She carried a European style bouquet of miniature white and pink carnations, pink roses, and white snowdrift pompons.

Mrs. Raymond Heter of Florida, N. Y., sister of the bride was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's niece, Catherine Lemпка of Middletown; and Lydia Betz of Ellenville. Attending the bridegroom were his brother, George

L. Fluhr of Shohola, Pa., as best man; George Fluhr Jr. of New York, nephew of the bridegroom; and Joseph Pulido of Thompson Ridge.

Mrs. Albert Rode was at the organ, with Henri Vincent as soloist.

The bride was graduated as class valedictorian of Ellenville High School and has done graduate work in business and arts. Before her marriage she was an administrative assistant at the Roscoe office of the New York City Board of Water Supply.

Fluhr received his A.B. degree from Columbia College and earned his A.M. in geology from the graduate school at Columbia University. He is an engineering geologist and consultant.

Mrs. Fluhr is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brundage Gray and the late Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew Martin Russett of Leurenkill. She is a descendant of the Rev. Romanus Teller, a prominent Dutch Reformed clergyman and author in colonial New Amsterdam.

The couple are making their home in Thompson Ridge.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

We are in the eighth grade and taking home economics.

Recently when we made a quick bread loaf, our teacher gave us a hint.

Before the bread is put in the oven, put a lengthwise hollow down the middle. This prevents the loaf from rising too high in the center which causes excess cracking.

The bread will turn out rounder and easier to cut.

use the can instead. The spoon handle is up, easy to grab, and it takes less space.

GRANDMA

You're right. Thanks Grannie

HELOISE

Dear Heloise:

I use my return address labels on all of my stationery. Saves the expense of printed stationery and places the return address in easy view for those who are answering my letters.

Mrs. D. ZWERNEMANN

Dear Heloise:

When my child has soup for lunch, I fold a paper towel lengthwise and tuck it into the pocket of his bib.

The paper soaks up any soup that's spilled and there's no "puddle of soup to contend with later."

Mrs. B. ENG

Dear Heloise:

To mend broken porcelain vases, I use colored chalk crushed and mixed with white, milky glue. It's easy to match any color of vase with this mixture.

Mrs. E. OPLAND

Dear Heloise:

A music stand that can be lowered and raised is excellent to hold a dictionary for students. Every teacher should have one. It is also very handy to have next to your chair when working crossword puzzles.

PINEAPPLE YOGURT SALAD

Summer Treat: Pineapple Yogurt Salad

Slimming down for summer is made much simpler when you "indulge" in this delightfully cool and low calorie pineapple salad. Refreshing tidbits of the golden tropical fruit are molded in lemon gelatin with creamy yogurt and contrasting bits of crisp cucumber. A hint of dill highlights this luncheon salad which is a meal-in-itself.

Pineapple Yogurt Salad
1 (1-pound 4 1/2-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
1/2 cup water
1 (6-ounce) package lemon gelatin
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon dill weed
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 (8-ounce) containers plain yogurt
1 cup diced cucumber

Heat syrup drained from pineapple and water to boiling. Pour over gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Add salt, dill weed and lemon juice. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Blend in yogurt, diced cucumber and pineapple tidbits. Turn in 5 1/2-cup mold. Chill several hours. Unmold. Garnish if desired with cucumber slices and pineapple tidbits. Makes 8 or more servings.

Tri-State Art Show Beckoning Local Painters and Sculptors

The annual Tri-State Art Show sponsored by the Roeliff Jansen COMMUNITY Activities League (CAL) will be held Saturday, July 13, to Saturday, July 27, in the Roeliff Jansen Central School, Hillsdale, N.Y. The show, now in its tenth year, is non-jury and open to professional painters and sculptors, as well as amateur artists over 18 years of age, for paintings and sculpture in all media not previously exhibited at a CAL show. Prints are not accepted. Eight awards will be made: a $100 first prize for a work in any medium; a $50 second prize for a non-abstract painting; the annual Hillsdale Chamber of Commerce award of $25 for a painting of the Roe Jan area; a $25 prize for a work in any medium set up by the CAL Board as a memorial to the late Margot Boelke, one of the originators of the Art Show; and four $25 awards, for oil or mixed media, water color and sculpture. Three Honorable Mentions will be given. Stanley Bate, well known painter, ceramist and teacher, will be a juror of awards.

Speirs Pitches Braves to 8-2 Victory Over Florida

New Bride Wins by 3

Mrs. Berning Takes Women's Open Title

By ED MCFALL
READING, Pa. (UPI)—Susie Maxwell Berning got an old car and a different name seven weeks ago. Today she has $5,000 and a new title.

The 26-year-old bride, who fell heir to a 1912 Maxwell car when she was married, won the U.S. Women's Open golf championship by three strokes Sunday over four-time titleholder Mickey Wright with a final round of par 71 at the nearby Moseley Springs Golf Club.

The five-foot-three inch pro from Incline Village, Nev., who led the field for all four days of the 72-hole tournament, refused to break under pressure and finished with a 289 total, five strokes over par.

Mrs. Berning, who was married May 18 but postponed a honeymoon to play on the tour, calmly shot sub par golf for 15 holes in the final round to stave off the challenge of Miss Wright and the agony of three bogeys on the last three holes.

Miss Wright, who had slipped back in the field after being one stroke back of Mrs. Berning in the opening round, made a charge with a course record 68, three under par, but "it was two days too late."

The Dallas, Tex., pro finished with 292 while Carol Mann of Towson, Md., who started the final day two strokes back of Mrs. Berning, never recovered from a double bogey on the par-three fifth hole and finished with a 75 for 295 and a tie with Marilyn Smith, Jupiter, Fla.

Kathy Whitworth, the leading money winner of the women's pro tour and another Texan, made a final round bid but fell back with a 74 and a tie with Mrs. Merle Lindstrom, Fort Wayne, Ind., at 296.

Phyllis "Tish" Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., was the leading amateur at 300. Cathy Lacoste, 23-year-old Paris, France girl who was the first amateur to win the tournament last year, was at 302.

Mrs. Berning, who had finished in a tie for second at last year's open, said she felt "very fortunate" in winning here despite two bad second and third rounds, when she also had bogey trouble on the last three holes.

But with her husband, Dale, a real estate broker and purchaser of the Maxwell, behind the spectator ropes cheering her on, she responded to the final day's pressure by carding birdies on the fourth, 12th and 15th holes to go into the 16th three under par for the day.

Kingston Braves backed Bob Speirs' six-hit pitching with three home runs to trounce the Florida Comets, 8-2, in a Hudson Valley American Legion Rookie League contest Sunday at JFK Memorial Park in Florida.

The win was the fifth in six starts for Manager Paul Giannuzzi's, who are 5-1 overall and 4-1 in first round play in the valley circuit.

Pete Watzka, Jerry Hawkins and Chick Boice slammed the Braves homers. Watzka's was a grand slam shot in the fifth inning.

Speirs didn't walk a batter and struck out two, while the locals collected nine hits off Joe Bayno and Mike Beattie.

The Braves return to Dietz Stadium Wednesday to meet the Newburgh Atoms at 8 p.m.

Pete Watzka had his best day of the season, knocking in four runs with a double and home run. The Boice and Hawkins homers were solo shots.

Bunch Four Hits

The Comets bunched four of their six hits to garner two runs and tie the score at 2-2 in the fourth inning. Speirs was in complete control in the other inning.

Braves tapped starter Bayno for two runs in the second inning, when Pete Watzka was safe on an error and scored on Glenn Davis' single. Speirs then doubled Davis home to put Kingston ahead, 2-0.

A walk to Hawkins, an error on Chick Boice's grounder and a hit batsman (Joe Schabot) set the stage for Watzka's grand slam blast in the fifth. The ball soared deep over the right centerfield fence. The shot put the Braves ahead, 6-2, and that's all Speirs needed to breeze to the finish.

Hawkins and Boice thrilled the Florida fans with back to back home runs to open the sixth inning and send the score to 8-2.

Hawkins' blast sailed over the deepest sector of the centerfield fence, while Boice's shot zoomed over the left center barrier. It was easily the most impressive batting performance the league this season.

Boice added a single to his homer and Glenn Davis collected two singles, in addition to making two great plays at home plate that cut off potential Florida runs.

Cornwall Keeps Lead

In other games, Cornwall Missiles retained their league lead with a 601 record as they defeated Wappingers Falls Ions, 8-2.

Middletown Explorers split two games, beating New Windsor Rockets, 6-2, and losing 2-0 to Wappingers Falls. Beacon Astros edged the New Windsor Rockets, 2-1.

You Win One--Steal One; All in Phil Regan's Day

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

They used to call Phil Regan "the vulture" but now it's about time to tag him "the thief."

Regan "stole" a victory from Ken Holtzman Sunday and wound up winning both ends of a doubleheader as the Chicago Cubs swept two games from the Pittsburgh Pirates by 5-4 and 4-3 margins.

Regan's victory in the second game was earned. He pitched two innings of scoreless relief and then doubled and scored the winning run with two out in the ninth on Don Kessinger's single.

But Regan's triumph in the first game was the result of his own ineptness. He was called on to protect Holtzman's 4-2 lead with two out and two on in the ninth—and promptly gave up two run-scoring singles that tied the game. But Regan retired Gary Kolb to end the inning—and became the winning pitcher when rookie Jose Arcia led off the bottom of the ninth by tagging reliever Bob Veale for his first major league homer.

Late Inning Victories

Regan was given the "vulture" tag by Sandy Koufax

when he recorded a 14-1 record for the Dodgers in 1966 by "swooping down" to get the victories in games that were tied in the late innings—and won by the Dodgers soon after he entered them.

Regan, who now has won both games of a doubleheader twice for the Cubs this season since being traded by the Dodgers, is 6-2.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis stretched its league lead to 10 games with a 2-0 victory over San Francisco. Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 6-5. Houston nipped Atlanta 5-4. New York beat Philadelphia 4-2 after the Phils won the opener 4-3.

Regan, who's appeared in 39 games this season—33 with the Cubs—and has 10 saves with a 2.51 ERA in 65 innings, relieved Bill Hands after seven innings of the second game with the Cubs trailing 3-2. The Cubs tied the game in the eighth on Ernie Banks' run-scoring single and then won it in the ninth when Regan doubled with two out and scored on Kessinger's single off Roy Face.

Win Seventh Straight

The Cards, continuing to make a runaway of the race in their bid for a second straight National League pennant, got three-hit pitching from Larry Jaster and Ron Willis to beat Gaylord Perry. Curt Flood drove in Lou Brock with both runs as the Cards won their seventh straight.

Norm Miller led off the game with a homer and Jim Wynn added a three-run homer later in the first inning as the Astros topped Atlanta. Miller doubled and scored in the fourth to make it 5-0 and Hank Aaron then drove in all four Atlanta runs with four hits, including his 498th and 499th homers.

Richie Allen hit a three-run homer in the ninth inning to lift the Phils past the Mets in the first game but Ed Kranepool doubled in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of the second game and then scored on an error to give the Mets the triumph. Allen's homer came off Ron Taylor and handed the victory to Dick Hall.

Danny Frisella got the win in the nightcap with ninth inning relief help from two All-Star pitchers, Jerry Koosman and Tom Seaver.

Len Gabrielson's pinch single in the sixth inning scored Wes Parker with the tie-breaking run as the Dodgers broke a six-game losing streak by stopping the Reds. Parker had tripled off Clay Carroll, the losing pitcher who is 3-2. Jim Grant went 5-2-3 in innings for the Dodgers and picked up the triumph.

Petersen Raps 643 In Mixed Foursome

Larry Petersen turned in a hat trick 643 with 226, 215, 204 in the Friday Nite Foursome. Don McCormack had a 230 solo.

Helsmoortel Is 13-3 Met Victor

Helsmoortel Insurance bombarded McConkey Funeral Home's pitcher, Ed Pelham, for a half-dozen first-inning runs and rolled from there to a 13-3 Met Division Saugerties Softball League triumph Friday night.

Doubles by John Bond, Sam Tesoriero and Mike Sommers highlighted the rally, and Tesoriero, the winning hurler, made them stand up neatly.

Two more runs came in on Dave Ellis' homer with a man on in the sixth, giving Ellis, as well as Sommers, three RBIs.

Tesoriero who had a no hitter for five frames struck out three and walked three in picking up his first win in four. It was Helsmoortel's second win against five losses. The loss sank the Funeralmen further into the cellar. They own a 1-10 chart.

Green Haven Prison, second place team in the Hudson Valley Fast Pitch Softball League, had to come up with a fourth inning four-run rally Sunday, to pull out a 4-3 come-from-behind first game decision over Ray's Chevrolet of Kingston Ron Secreto belted a solo homer in the bottom of the seventh to win the nightcap 2-1, and gain a split.

Ray's, next to last in the seven team loop with a 3-5 charting, held a 3-0 lead going into the fourth frame. The lead was built on a pair of runs in the first and a solo tally in the third.

Ray's opened the scoring on a walk to Mel Williams, a steal of second, and Rich Siskler's single that sent Williams home. George Fisher was safe on an error. Moving Siskler to second, and Ron Secreto's double sent Siskler scampering across with marker number two.

In the third, Mike Amato worked winning pitcher, Chuck Acker for his second and last walk, then scored on Hobbie Armstrong's first of two doubles.

Solve Stoke's Style

Greenhaven solved Bill Stoke's style in the fourth and bombed the Kingston hurler for the game-winning runs.

Bob Martes opened with a free trip to first, then Tony Rentas' single and Al Atchison singled to register the first run, driving in Martes.

Judge Bruhn Top Man in Tourney

Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn placed his last shot 19 yards from the 19th pin to win first place in the Flag day tournament at The Twaafskill Club.

Runnerup James Gilpatrick, who had six shots left going to the 19th tee, ran into trouble when he drove into the pond fronting the first tee and then slashed a ball out of bounds. He placed second, 34 yards from the 19th pin.

Other leaders:

Doug Hough and Robert Reid in cup on 18th; J. Welsh, 5 feet from 18th cup; Eugene Freer, 6 ft. from 18th cup; Ed Minasian, 30 ft. from 18th; William Merrill, 4 yards from 18th; William Kuehn, 24 yards from 18th; Eugene Berardi, 150 yards from 18th; William Merrill, Jr., 170 yards from 18th; Dr. Douw Meyers, 200 yards from 18th.

Winning Crew

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Penn Athletic Club's 17-year-old eight-oared crew won the National Youth Championship on the Schuylkill River Sunday and helped earn the Joseph F. Feiger Memorial Trophy. The winning crew compiled 58 points.

Wayne Causey scored the tying run in the eighth inning and singled home the winner in the 11th as the White Sox edged Washington, Mike Epstein's fourth-winning homer had out the Senators ahead 3-2.

Wood's Victory Is Number Five

Harold Wood made it number five Saturday night at Orange County Fair Speedway, copping his fifth feature win in Limited Sportsman action while Rags Carter took his first 1968 victory in the Modifieds.

Wood, calling Ellenville home, took over the lead on the eighth lap and held off a determined bid by Jack Zuidema to win.

Al Keesler zoomed past Phil Hausman with four laps to win the Semi-Lite Model class. Hausman finished third at Bill Olah passed him also.

Larry Palmgren won the feature 10-laps cycle race Sunday. John Leale set a new time record in the amateur feature cycles and Don Dillman took the novice race, cut short to seven laps by an accident.

Heat winners, Modified: Rags Carter, Harry Moore, Will Cagle. Consolation: Jackie Evans.

Hurlers Star in City League

0-Hitter for Greg Cappillino; Ted Bream Pitches One-Hitter

Two strong-armed pitchers limited the opposition to just one measly single in 14 innings of Sunday night's City Baseball League doubleheader at Dietz Stadium.

Greg Cappillino, former Highland High all-anything, pitched a no-hitter but Donnie Vans managed two runs in an 8-2 loss to the Kingston Merchants.

Ted Bream yielded only one hit—a second inning single by another pitcher (Bob Spiers) as Lions Club downed the Rosendale Merchants 7-1. Bream fanned 10.

Cappillino, who fanned 13, pitched hitless and runless ball.

49ers Camp Doesn't Open; No Word on Strike in NFL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was no activity today, and no announced plans for future negotiations between owners and players in the troubled National Football League.

The San Francisco 49ers training camp, which was to have opened Sunday, was closed down. Club personnel were on hand to feed and house any rookies who showed up—but the club's president said no workouts will be held until the current dispute is solved.

The National Football League Players Association is seeking a greater participation by the owners in their pension plan. This the owners say they cannot do.

The players threatened a strike.

Saturday, NFL President Arthur Modell of Cleveland ordered all training camps to postpone their openings until the dispute is settled.

Later that day, in Los Angeles, a spokesman for the Players Association said the players were willing to meet with the owners and hoped such a meeting could be held in three days.

In the top of the sixth, a pair of infield errors let Green Haven score, taking the lead.

In the bottom half of that frame Armstrong drew, stole second and made it to third on a passed ball. Rich Siskler hit an infield grounder and Armstrong knotted the score by beating the throw home.

Sets Stage

Kingston, two out, got another man on, but failed to score any more that inning.

That unsuccessful bid, however, did set the stage for Ron Secreto, Ray's third-sacker. He chose Hyter's first pitch of the seventh to swing. It was a solid shot that sailed over the wall to give Norton a four-singles victory and the split.

In the other HVSL game, Newburgh's Dickey Tavern Ducks knocked off Middletown's Dino's Tavern, 3-0.

King's, Ferroxcube Take Wins

Jamie Todaro pitched and batted King's Diner to a 10-3 upset victory over league-leader Ted's Esso in the Met Division and a pair of errors allowed Ferroxcube to score twice in the seventh inning, taking a 2-1 decision from Statewide Upholstery in the Saugerties Softball League, Wednesday.

Todaro hurled a six-hitter, and drove in three runs in leading the Dinermen to the upset. The victory gives the Dinermen and second-place Boo's a shot at the leaders. It was King's fourth win over Ted's in two years. King's is the only team to defeat Ted's all year.

In the other game, Frank Spinneweber's triple, then a pair of wild throws with two away gave Ferroxcube the triumph and evened its record at 4-4. Gerry O'Leary homered in the bottom of that frame, but Jack Hillje, winning hurler, cut off the late bid by getting the final three outs.

Tribe on Treadmill Chasing the Tigers

By HERSCHEL NISSESON Associated Press Sports Writer

QUESTION: When is a winner a loser?

ANSWER: When he's trying to catch the Detroit Tigers.

EXPLANATION: Cleveland, second in the American League, has won eight of its last 11 games; Detroit has won nine of 11. Third-place Baltimore has won five of seven; Detroit has taken six of seven.

Even the defending champion Boston Red Sox, currently on an eight-game winning streak that has vaulted them into fourth place, have managed to gain only one game in that stretch because the Tigers have won seven of eight.

Detroit used the long ball Sunday—three home runs, two triples and six doubles—to sweep a doubleheader from Oakland 5-4 and 7-6. Going into the three-day All-Star break, the Tigers lead Cleveland by 9½ games, Baltimore by 10½ and Boston by 11½.

The Indians beat California 8-3 but lost the nightcap 9-7. The Orioles rallied for a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees after dropping the first game 3-1. Boston swept slumping Minnesota 4-3 and 6-3. In the lone single game, the Chicago White Sox edged Washington 4-3 in 11 innings.

It may be a little early for such things, but for the mathematically inclined Detroit's magic number for its first pennant since 1945 is 71, with 79 games remaining.

The Tigers settled Sunday for winning small. Willie Horton's 21st homer in the ninth inning won the opener from Oakland and made Denny McLain—16-2—the winningest pitcher in the majors after he had blown a 4-0 lead.

The long-balling continued in the nightcap, including Al Kaline's two-run homer, but it took a seventh-inning single by rookie shortstop Tom Matchick to bring home the run that was needed when the A's scored once in the eighth and three times in the ninth.

Oakland's Sal Bando belted three homers in the twin bill and Reggie Jackson too but couldn't prevent the A's from

Hurley Lions in 9-2 BRL Victory

The Hurley Lions came up with five runs in the third inning to snap a scoreless tie and went on to a 9-2 Babe Ruth League victory over Chidsey DeForest Friday.

The rally came on five singles, a trio of walks, two errors and a passed ball. The inning's output was good enough for the victory as winning pitcher Don Fisher, despite being in trouble in every frame, kept Chidsey off balance.

Fisher found himself working from the stretch in all but the final inning, but bore down each time to cut off potential rallies.

Of Chidsey's seven hits, five were for extra bases, including Craig Struble's double and triple. Only one extra-base hit, a homer by Vic Nyalassy, out of eight safeties for the winners.

ANSWER: When he's trying to catch the Detroit Tigers.

EXPLANATION: Cleveland, second in the American League, has won eight of its last 11 games; Detroit has won nine of 11. Third-place Baltimore has won five of seven; Detroit has taken six of seven.

Even the defending champion Boston Red Sox, currently on an eight-game winning streak that has vaulted them into fourth place, have managed to gain only one game in that stretch because the Tigers have won seven of eight.

Detroit used the long ball Sunday—three home runs, two triples and six doubles—to sweep a doubleheader from Oakland 5-4 and 7-6. Going into the three-day All-Star break, the Tigers lead Cleveland by 9½ games, Baltimore by 10½ and Boston by 11½.

The Indians beat California 8-3 but lost the nightcap 9-7. The Orioles rallied for a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees after dropping the first game 3-1. Boston swept slumping Minnesota 4-3 and 6-3. In the lone single game, the Chicago White Sox edged Washington 4-3 in 11 innings.

It may be a little early for such things, but for the mathematically inclined Detroit's magic number for its first pennant since 1945 is 71, with 79 games remaining.

The Tigers settled Sunday for winning small. Willie Horton's 21st homer in the ninth inning won the opener from Oakland and made Denny McLain—16-2—the winningest pitcher in the majors after he had blown a 4-0 lead.

The long-balling continued in the nightcap, including Al Kaline's two-run homer, but it took a seventh-inning single by rookie shortstop Tom Matchick to bring home the run that was needed when the A's scored once in the eighth and three times in the ninth.

Oakland's Sal Bando belted three homers in the twin bill and Reggie Jackson too but couldn't prevent the A's from

Hurley Lions in 9-2 BRL Victory

The Hurley Lions came up with five runs in the third inning to snap a scoreless tie and went on to a 9-2 Babe Ruth League victory over Chidsey DeForest Friday.

The rally came on five singles, a trio of walks, two errors and a passed ball. The inning's output was good enough for the victory as winning pitcher Don Fisher, despite being in trouble in every frame, kept Chidsey off balance.

Fisher found himself working from the stretch in all but the final inning, but bore down each time to cut off potential rallies.

Of Chidsey's seven hits, five were for extra bases, including Craig Struble's double and triple. Only one extra-base hit, a homer by Vic Nyalassy, out of eight safeties for the winners.

Wood's Victory Is Number Five

Harold Wood made it number five Saturday night at Orange County Fair Speedway, copping his fifth feature win in Limited Sportsman action while Rags Carter took his first 1968 victory in the Modifieds.

Every man has his price.

These are ours. And you don't have to figure out how much the extras will add to the price of the Volkswagen you buy. We already figured them in. By building them in. Things like heater/defrosters, windshield washers and adjustable bucket seats are part of the car. You can't own a VW without owning them, too. (Things like whitewalls are extra, as you might expect. But we tell you that in the *.) A Volkswagen won't only cost you less to drive out in. It'll cost you less to drive around in. VW sedans (even the 65 hp Fastback and Squareback) get up to 27 miles to a gallon. Even the biggest Volkswagen, our boxy station wagon, gets up to 23. They all take oil by the pint. (Even the expensive-looking Karmann Ghia.) And never cost you a cent for anti-freeze because Volkswagen engines are air-cooled. But if you still don't care to sell out so cheap, there is one way to raise the price of a Volkswagen. Get a sunroof. With the beetle, Fastback or Squareback. (For no money at all, of course, you can come in and see them all in person.)

The Deputy in 2:01.4

MONTICELLO — Deputy Hanover, rated perfectly by Eldon Harner, let Nevele Holiday and Nevele Way fight it out for three-fourths of the mile, then came on strong at the finish to cop Monticello Raceway's Saturday night $6,000 featured pace. The Deputy won by a length and a half in a blazing 2:01.4 from post four.

Nevele Holiday and Deputy Hanover were co-favorites of the crowd of 11,798, going off at 8-5. Nevele Holiday, Bob Camper in the seat, left from the rail and cut out a blistering :28.4 first quarter. Not expected to leave with the early foot, Camper surprised the field of seven, and hung former stablemate Nevele Way (3), on the outside, taking him past the quarter pole before relinquishing the lead.

Nevele Way gained the top at the paddock turn the first time around, then backed off the half. With Jim Grundy driving Nevele Way made it to the half in 1:00.2, a :31.3 quarter. Nevele Holiday was second, Ember Hanover (2) third and Deputy Hanover fourth, each a length back of the other.

In the clubhouse turn the final time, Camper moved Holiday outside and challenged for the top. Deputy also pulled out, passing Ember on the outside and at the same time initiated what proved to be a successful attempt at the leader.

Going to the three-fourths, Holiday passed Way as did the Deputy, now racing three-wide.

The time at the three-quarter mark was 1:32.3, a :32.1 quarter that set up the dash for home.

Eldon, a son of Mr. Regular, Levi Harner, had a lot of horse left for the run home. He pulled even with Camper in the turn and as they swung out and into the stretch, the two were head-and-head.

Buffalo, Roosevelt Gird for Big Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Promising young trotters and pacers have moved into Buffalo Raceway and trotters from foreign lands into Roosevelt Raceway for the Grand Circuit and the International Trot, highlights of the New York State harness racing scene, this week.

The Grand Circuit started in Buffalo Saturday and will remain for two weeks before going to Vernon Downs July 20. The major races at Buffalo are the W. N. Reynolds Memorial Stakes.

Roquepine, a 7-year-old French mare, will try for her second straight International victory on Saturday. Roquepine won the $100,000 race last year and narrowly missed winning in her first attempt two years ago.

Representing the United States in the 10th renewal of the 1-mile event will be Carlisle, a 4-year-old stallion driven by Billy Haughton. Carlisle won the $50,000 American Trotting Championship June 22 to gain the starting spot in the big race.

Fresh Yankee, who finished second in last year's International, again will represent Canada. The 5-year-old mare won the Canadian Trotting Championship at Richelieu Park Friday night.

Slow Pitch Set For Wednesday

The Kingston Slow Pitch Softball League, recently organized by the city Recreation Dept., will begin play Wednesday night with a two-night doubleheader at Block Park.

The opener is a 6:15 contest pitting Hercules Powder against Spartan Pools. The nightcap finds the Post Office team going against the Jewish Community Center at 8.

Another twin-bill is slated for Thursday, this one finding the Strangleloves challenging Emma Gordon's at Block and at the same time, over at Hasbrouck Park, A.T. & T. takes on Colonial Gardens.

The schedule calls for one round with a Shaughnessy playoff of the top four teams at the end of the season.

Weiskopf's 280 Tops Buick Open Tourney

By BILL HALLS
Associated Press
Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, MICH. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf describes golf as "A game of mistakes, whether they come early or late."

PGA tour rookie Mike Hill's mistake came late and it cost him a shot at the $25,000 Buick Open at Warwick Hills Sunday. Hill missed a five-foot putt for a par on the 18th green championship. Both players were tied, eight strokes under par for the tournament, when Hill's putt slid by the hole on the left side.

"It was just a terrible putt," said Hill, of nearby Jackson, Mich. "The minute I hit it, I knew I missed it."

The bad hit cost Hill, younger brother of tour veteran Dave Hill, $10,000.

That was the difference between Weiskopf's $25,000 first prize and the $15,000 that went to Hill.

Rod Horn, another tour rookie from Overland Park, Kan., finished third, two strokes behind Weiskopf's eight-under-par winning total of 280.

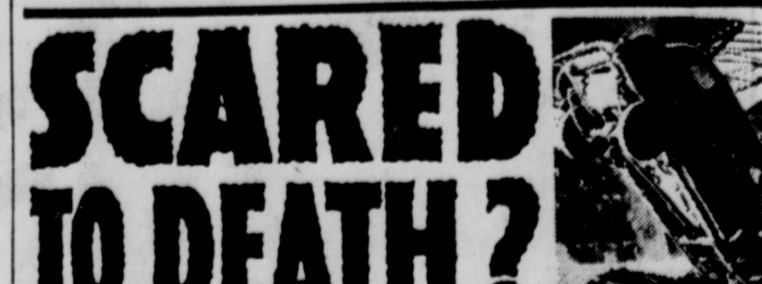

Defending champion Julius Boros, Lee Trevino, who was tied with Horn for the third round lead, and Johnny Pott finished in a three-way tie for fifth at 284.

Boros, birdying three of the first four holes on the back nine, had a 70 Sunday. Trevino ran into a rash of bogeys and Johnny Stevens, another rookie from Kansas, who was only two strokes behind the leaders Saturday, faded in the stretch.

Weiskopf, second leading money winner on the PGA tour with $116,736 in the bank picked up his second tour victory this year.

"CERTAINLY I'm scared to death," says Pete Phillips. "But I have the guts to go through with it and I could use the $500. I'll wreck every car I can and I plan to demolish any car that drives within striking distance. I'm driving a 1954 Pontiac and figure I have as good a chance as the rest." Over 100 cars and drivers will compete in the wildest, most unusual show ever witnessed. There will be four 25-car demolitions. Almost anything goes and the cars and drivers will crash, smash and wreck each other, until only one car is running in each group. The 4 winners and the driver who puts on the best show in each of the 4 demolitions will be supplied with 8 fresh cars — and no holds barred! The last man running will receive $500 CASH. The other 7 will receive $50 CASH each. How would you feel if you were to drive head on into other cars and be hit from all directions under speed? — Scared to Death!!!

Ed Newman

Ad Libbing on Home Screen

EDITOR'S NOTE—Ed Newman, with a long experience on the journalistic front lines, is one of NBC News Department's utility men—reporter, analyst, narrator, writer or anything else needed. He was among the network correspondents who, for hours on end, were on the air and talking during the slow progress of Sen. Robert Kennedy's funeral train between New York and Washington. He was asked to describe the fine art of the marathon ad lib.

By ED NEWMAN
 NEW YORK (AP) — How do you write a column about ad libbing on the air?

Dazzle by Accident
 Successful ad libbing depends first on not talking too much and too soon. If you dazzle them early, you may bore them later. It depends in the second place on having a large and miscellaneous body of knowledge, and on the association of ideas you see something and it reminds of something else, ideally something relevant and illuminating. Even with the News Department behind you, there is nothing so reassuring as ideas which you have not used running through your mind.

By the way, you can sometimes dazzle by accident. I once had to ad lib at length about the Royal Ballet and its star, Margot Fonteyn, whose married name is Arias. As it happened, I could remember her husband's nickname, Tito, and not his real name, Roberto. I said something like, "whose nickname, of course, is Tito." The "of course" did it. People were astonished: "He even knows the man's nickname."

The next essential asset is calm. Consider President Johnson's announcement that he would not seek re-election. About 30 seconds passed between his announcement and my having to speak. That isn't much time for reflection, and the only way to deal with such a situation (after closing the mouth that surprise had opened, and opening it again with sounds coming out) is to think out loud and make your analysis as you go along. You have also to avoid looking agonized while waiting for help to arrive.

How you look does not matter. Cynthia Lowry is on vacation

Scoutmaster Slain By One of 5 Lured To Highland Area

By HUGH REYNOLDS

A 33-year-old Bronx Cub Scoutmaster who lured five teenage boys from Van Cortland Park in New York City was shot and killed by one of his victims Saturday night in a secluded cabin near Clintondale.

The dead man, identified by his brother at the Ulster County Morgue, was Carmine DiBiase, a Cub Scoutmaster from Park 45 in Manhattan.

Coroner William S. Keyser told The Freeman today that DiBiase was struck in the right center of his chest with a single bullet from a .22 caliber long rifle, the bullet breaking the eighth rib and lodging in his elbow. Death was attributed to massive internal hemorrhaging. The 14-year-old youth who shot DiBiase, is not being held.

Ulster County District Attorney Joseph P. Torracia said today no charges would be lodged against the teenager. Torracia also advised parents to warn their children against accepting rides with any and all strangers.

DiBiase, a White Plains printer, was the object of a state-wide search stemming from incidents with his Cub Scout troop July 1, 2 and 3.

According to state police in Warrensburg, DiBiase was on a camping trip with nine scouts and allegedly committed sexual acts on three of them.

Seven of the boys returned home on the 3rd, the other two on the 4th.

No Complaints Until 6th
There were no complaints until the 6th when parents of the three boys journeyed to Warrensburg and swore out warrants on DiBiase, charging him with two counts of sodomy and one count of sexual abuse.

DiBiase, unmarried and an Air Force veteran, was the subject of a state-wide search when Saturday's bizarre story unfolded.

According to police reports, DiBiase met the five boys in Van Cortland Park in New York City, showed them his identification as a scoutmaster and told them he was picking up some equipment at his cabin off Rt. 44 - 55 near Clintondale.

Upon arrival, DiBiase took out his single-shot .22 caliber rifle and fired a round out the door of the cabin.

One Tied Up Four.
He then reportedly had one of the boys tie up the other four and then sexually abused them.

Eventually, police said, DiBiase ordered one of the youths to cook supper. This was around 7:30 p.m. Saturday. The rifle was resting against the wall, unattended. The 14-year old youth picked up the rifle and ordered DiBiase to leave the other four boys alone.

DiBiase reportedly advanced on the youth who ordered him to stop. DiBiase failed to stop and the youth fired, hitting him in the chest. DiBiase then grabbed the rifle and swung it at the youth who fled to a corner of the cabin after being hit in the head.

DiBiase then collapsed and died while the youth untied his companions and ran to telephone State Troopers.

Troopers arrived on the scene shortly after 8 p.m. They included Trooper William Koenig, Sgt. Clark, BCI Investigators Joseph Van Triglia and William Wiedermann and Major Augustus Robson. Major Robson was in the area leading a narcotics investigation in Margaretsville.

Had to Cut Clearing
Police described the woods road leading to DiBiase's cabin as extremely rough, hardly more than a cow path. Law enforcement officials had to cut out a clearing in order to turn their cars around. DiBiase's vehicle was described as a camper-type station wagon.

The five youths were taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie and examined. The 14-year old who shot DiBiase was treated for lacerations to the head, suffered in the final struggle in the cabin.

It is expected that the 14-year old will appear in family court as a matter of routine and be exonerated.

In the aftermath of the shooting, a BCI investigator from Warrensburg told The Freeman, "I'm very happy the way it turned out."

LBJ Visits Five Capitals to Top Tour

By FRANK CORMIER

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — President Johnson sets out from the capital of San Salvador today for quick visits to four other Central American countries and declared that he seeks "a road of new hope for this hemisphere."

Johnson, in El Salvador since Saturday for Central American summit talks, was bound for Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala before settling down tonight at his Texas ranch.

No Rainbow Yet

Johnson, in remarks prepared for departure ceremonies at San Salvador, spoke of "the new strength and promise that we have here added to our partnership." He cautioned: "The road that brought us here has no rainbow at its end—not yet."

He said the nations of Central America, with the help of the United States, "have celebrated what there is to celebrate" during the summit and "have determined to master the challenges that remain."

He said there was much to celebrate and many challenges to be met. He added that the meeting had "been fruitful because it has been responsible."

Never before has any U.S.

president visited all five Central American republics, and Johnson's reception in El Salvador seemed to indicate his effort was appreciated.

Despite some fresh eggs, paint bombs and raw potatoes thrown at him by student demonstrators against the Vietnam war shortly after his arrival Saturday, the crowds were big and friendly.

As he drove through San Salvador and the surrounding countryside Sunday, he climbed onto the running board of his long black bubbletop limousine at least five times to greet close-packed street crowds, shake hands and deliver brief and impromptu "Muchas gracias" speeches over the car's built-in loudspeakers.

Campaigner

This was the veteran campaigner back at work. He even seemed to have a running mate—El Salvador's President Fidel Sanchez Hernandez, who toured city and countryside, schools and scenic waterfalls with the visiting Yankee.

Fleischmanns Raid--9 Drug Arrests

By LYNN MULVANEY

Nine persons were arrested early Sunday morning in a narcotics raid on the residence of William Murdock, 28 of Fleischmanns.

All were charged with criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the first degree, a felony.

The investigation which led to the 3:45 a.m. raid was conducted jointly by the New York State Police, the Delaware County Sheriff's office and the District Attorney at Delhi.

Arrested with Murdock were: James Marion Granning, 25 of Forest Hills, L.I.; Harold Martin Granning Jr., 27 of Forest Hills, L.I.; Alan Steven Binstock, 21 of the Bronx;

Henry Lewis Berman, 22 of Manhattan;

Johanna Marie Murdock, 24 of Fleischmanns;

Gerald Warren Gloskin, 21 of the Bronx;

Jerome Loeb Bayer, 21 of Manhattan;

Kathleen Blauvelt, 20 of Manhattan.

Capt. Samuel Rowe and Lt. Vincent Versade of the BCI at Sidney and Undersheriff Levon Telian.

All nine persons were taken to Delaware County Jail pending examination and bail proceedings this morning. Arraignments were before Town Justice J. Donald Fenton of Margaretville.

The Sunday raid was the latest in a series of narcotics arrests in the Mid-Hudson area. State Police, the BCI, sheriff and district attorneys of many counties, including

cracked down on narcotic traffic. Sometimes long months of investigation precede the raids that are usually conducted jointly by the various agencies.

Only last week Dutchess

County authorities conducted two raids in which about 37 persons were arrested.

Early Saturday morning, six men and a girl were picked up in the vicinity of a Town of Sanford tavern and charged with criminal possession of a dangerous drug. At the same time, one youth was also charged with criminally defacing the American flag by wearing it as a shirt. Another youth was charged with criminal impersonation.

The mass arrest came one week after Dutchess County

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan made a narcotics sweep and arrested 30 in and around the

was booked on charges of criminal nuisance and criminal facilitation in the second degree.

It was also reported that

Sheriff Quinlan and investigators have uncovered information relating to narcotic traffic in the county and additional arrests are anticipated.

In Ulster County, State Police

at Lake Katrine and Highland conducted raids earlier this summer with a sizeable amount of arrests in that area and in upper Ulster County.

In the Newburgh, Beacon and Monticello areas, additional raids were conducted with various narcotics seized.

Authorities in all Mid-

Hudson communities have stepped up their narcotics drive in the hopes of slowing down the operations of narcotics users and runners. Efforts are being made to uncover the key figures

—the pushers—in the field of illegal drug maneuvers.

Addiction Control Commission has sent a field representative,

Thomas Leonard into the Ulster

County area to conduct programs as a means of aiding the area.

It has been suggested to Ulster County Community College that it consider doing a four-part series of in-service training programs for professionals interested in the drug problem and for community leaders in order to help develop awareness, not only on the part of the school system but also of the parents and other adults.

The action of commission followed the publishing of a series of six articles in The Kingston

Freeman revealing the amount of marijuana usage among students here.

County Escapes the Fatality Log

By JON POWERS

With the long Fourth of July holiday officially ended, authorities report, that 601 persons died as a result of traffic accidents on the nation's highways during the four-day weekend. Although late fatality reports are still filtering in from throughout the country, National Safety Council spokesmen predicted that this year's death rate will fall short of last year's holiday toll of 732.

In New York State, 39 persons were reportedly killed in traffic, and boating mishaps over the holiday weekend, three short of last year's total. Traffic accidents on the state's highways claimed 26 lives, 10 persons were killed in boating and drowning mishaps, and three others were killed in miscellaneous accidents.

Area Fatal

Ulster County escaped the death records on this holiday weekend, and even the number of minor accidents and boating mishaps was surprisingly slight. Other area counties, however, did not fare as well. Dutchess County recorded three traffic deaths and one boating fatality, while Greene and Columbia Counties each reported one traffic fatality.

A one-car accident on Thursday in the Town of Pleasant Valley claimed the lives of two New York City persons, and a 42-year-old Hopewell man was killed when his car went out of control on Route 376 in the Town of East Fishkill to account for the three Dutchess fatalities. Police report that Leo Lillienfeld, 67, and his wife, Sara, 68, were driving on the Taconic State Parkway north of Route 44 when their car went out of control and crashed into a tree.

Donald Herman was reportedly killed when his auto skidded on Route 376 and crashed into a tree. The accident occurred at 3:35 a. m. Saturday morning.

Three Are Ejected

At 1:40 a. m. Sunday morning, Columbia County Police report that an auto operated by Richard Rohrer, of R.D. 2, Valati was rounding a sharp curve on Route 9 in the Town of Stuyvesant when, it went out of control, skidded for over 150 feet, struck a utility pole and came to rest on an embankment some 100 feet further down the road. Three passengers in the vehicle were ejected, including Rosemary Link of Upper Main Street, Valati, who was pronounced dead at the scene. Rohrer suffered multiple lacerations and contusions of the body and a cerebral concussion and was taken to Columbia County Hospital. Also injured in the crash was Mary Jane Warrington, of Nigerville, who suffered multiple lacerations of the face and hands and was also treated at Columbia Hospital. The other two passengers in the auto were not reported as injured. Rohrer was issued a summons for driving at a speed too fast for the conditions.

Greene County's one fatality of the holiday weekend, occurred Thursday on the Thruway in the Town of Catskill. Mrs. Etta Meola was killed when the car driven by her husband, Louis, went out of control and slammed into a rock wall along the side of the road. Meola is listed in critical condition in Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Ulster County highway authorities reported one serious accident over the Independence Day weekend. At 7 p. m. on Sunday, Mrs. Ina Crandall, 47, of 36 Orchard Place, Poughkeepsie lost control of her auto on Route 9W in the Town of Lloyd. She was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie and treated for a fractured skull, and lacerations of the right knee. Her condition is listed as critical.

Another 2099

Ulster County authorities reported only two other accidents during the weekend. At 4 a. m. Sunday morning Joseph Kulhea, 47, of Astoria was traveling south on Route 209 two miles south of Ellenville when he failed to negotiate a left curve. The auto went off the road and entered a ditch, but the driver was not injured.

At 8:30 p. m. Saturday on Red Hill Road in the Town of Denning, an auto operated by Anthony VanDyke of Ellenville struck the rear of a car driven by William Teet, 71, also of Ellenville. Teet was reportedly backing out of a driveway when his auto was struck. He complained of side injuries and was treated at a local hospital.

A four-car accident in the Dutchess County community of Hyde Park resulted in the hospitalization of three persons on Sunday afternoon. An auto driven by Leigh Barus of Poughkeepsie was traveling north on Route 9 when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Lionel Vashon. The Barus auto struck a car traveling south on Route 9 and then swerved into a car parked on the side of the highway. A passenger, Harrie Barus suffered contusions of the left shoulder and abrasions of the face. The driver suffered abrasions and lacerations of the left elbow. Also injured in the accident was Michelle Carter, 2, who suffered contusions of the left side of the face. Vashon was issued a summons for failure to yield the right of way.

9W ACCIDENT—Edward Bailey, 16, of 1061 Decker Street, lies pinned under wreckage after auto driven by Richard Davis, 18, also of that street, went out of control on Route 9W, in the Town of Ulster early Thursday morning. Troopers report that the auto struck and severed two utility poles and rolled down a 15-foot embankment before coming to rest. Bailey was trapped for almost an hour before troopers could free him. Both are reported in satisfactory condition at Kingston Hospital. (Freeman photo by Haines)

KINGSTON GLASS FIRE — An investigation of the cause of the fire that damaged Kingston Glass Company and its adjoining warehouse Sunday is being conducted. A volunteer fireman, Bernard Carle, was overcome by smoke while fighting the flames. He was treated at Kingston Hospital and released. No cost estimate of the four-alarm blaze was put on the damage to the first floor of the building at 36 to 42 Prospect Street. (Freeman photo by Haines).

8 Arrested After Sunday Swim Party at Big Deep

The Woodstock Constabulary broke up a riotous swimming party early Sunday morning at the Big Deep swimming hole in that community and eight persons were arrested and fined for violation of curfew.

Chief Constable William Waterous identified those arrested as follows:

Mark Fox, 17; Jay Oliver, 24; Raymond Silekko, 17; Daniel De Chiro, 17 and Thomas Shaughnessy, 12 all of Watervliet; John Strong, 20 and Jay Hamburg, 17, both of Albany, and Allison Fried, 19, of Woodstock.

All were arraigned before Woodstock Town Justice Joseph Forno and entered pleas of guilty to violation of curfew and the town ordinance forbidding occupancy of the Big Deep swimming hole between 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. Each paid a fine of $10.

In addition to Waterous, Constables Gerald Brainard, Edward Snyder, and Charles Wolven participated in the raid with two troopers from Lake Katrine station.

Constable Waterous also cautioned that there is a town ordinance pertaining to alcoholic beverages that is being violated. He said no open containers of alcoholic beverages may be held in an outdoor public place or street without a permit from the Town Board.

A disorderly conduct arrest was also made during the weekend at Woodstock. Eugene Levine, 18, of New York City was arrested by the constabulary. He was arraigned before Justice Forno and sentenced to 10 days in county jail.

Constable Waterous said the youth was creating a disturbance in front of the constable's office.

Olive Town Board Rejects Tax Map

The Town of Olive Board at its July meeting voted down approval of the county tax map submitted by the Ulster County Legislature.

Objections to the approval stemmed from lack of relative cost to the town. L. Enman, chairman of the town assessors said that J. Clemens had been attending the county assessor meetings and he could possibly enlighten the board on this information. Clemens was not present at the meeting and the vote was taken with only one member in favor of approval.

Appointments for the ensuing election year were made at the meeting. Arthur Henkle was named custodian and Raymond Cruthers, Republican party representative. GOP election inspectors appointed were Vera Sickler and Olive Guinac, District 1; Ann Rose and Patricia Molly, District 2; Lena Baringer and Elsie Sutton, District 3. Names were submitted by Bradford Kelder, Republican committee chairman.

Democratic appointees submitted by Carl Olsen, Democratic committee chairman are Albert Fox Sr., custodian; B. Vollmer, party representative; Mary Merrihew and Genevieve McClean, District 1; Adele Rothman and Rosalie Burgher, District 2; Mary Hansen and Florence Miller, District 3.

Marcel Maier, superintendent of highways, was granted permission to attend the highway conference at Ithaca. Letters were received from the Tongore Garden Club requesting the enforcement of the junkyard ordinance and from Onteora School thanking the town for assistance of constables at dismissal time and during extra-curricular activities. Twenty-five persons attended the meeting and participated in the open discussion prior to the business session. Use and management of the swimming pool was discussed. The next regular meeting of the board will be Aug. 6.

Six Escape Creek Crash

Six Kingston area teenagers narrowly escaped serious injury late Saturday afternoon when two outboard motorboats swinging wide on the Esopus Creek crashed headon throwing all occupants in the water including one youngster on water skis.

Deputy Sheriff Albert Hobush of the Sheriff's Office said Water Patrol reported one youngster, George V. Weaver, 17 of Emerick Street, Kingston, suffered a fractured rib and was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. The others apparently were uninjured.

Deputy Hobush said the operator of the boat in which Weaver was injured was Calvin Ehlers Jr., 18 of Hurley.

The operator of the other outboard was Raymond Merwin, 16 of Lake Katrine. There were two other teenagers in the boat and he was towing another on water skis. Both boats were extensively damaged, Hobush said.

Academy Deadline On Registrations

Deadline for enrollment applications for the new Ulster Academy has been set July 20 with final processing no later than July 24.

Announcement of the fast approaching deadline was made today by Raymond A. Nelson, headmaster of the new independent school slated to open this September at the former Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing.

The aim of the academy is to offer a unique educational experience in secondary school to its students. It will be able to offer an excellent faculty working together as a team to stimulate and develop each individual to his maximum potential. The individual approach is one of the mainstays of the school which started as a germ of an idea in the fall of 1965.

Headmaster Nelson said that applications for enrollment must be received at the office, 17 Pearl Street, by July 20 or the intention to apply confirmed verbally by telephone on that same date.

The registration deadline is essential for school planning and ordering. Definite decisions about the size of the school and its classes will be made in the light of the July information, Nelson said.

The places for admission remaining open for the fall will be considered on a first come, first served applicant basis. Nelson warned that if limitations on grade size are imposed after the July deadline it will probably be in 9th and 10th grades. If enrollment in the 7th grade goes beyond teaching sections of 15 or 18, it may be necessary to limit enrollment there too, unless there is sufficiently heavy interest to justify planning for a second session.

When the school opens this fall it will be for grades 7 through 10 with 11 and 12 being added in the following years.

A new academy received its charter from the State University.

Port Ewen Mishap

John N. Spinnenweber, 49, of 190 Broadway, Port Ewen, who suffered a fractured nose Friday afternoon when the power steering on his truck failed and the vehicle went over a 50-foot embankment, has been discharged from Kingston Hospital. Sheriff's Deputy James G. Miles reported Spinnenweber was proceeding east on New Salem Road in his 1967 International truck loaded with a curve. The truck came to a curve, the power steering failed and the truck hit the guard rails and crashed over a 50-foot embankment and landed on its left side on the railroad tracks.

Marines in Border Battle, At Least 201 Reds Killed

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Marines in the border battle they have killed at least 201 Communists, from North Vietnam. Thus far, military spokesmen said today, what is probably an entire North Vietnamese division—the 320th—and bulldozed it back two miles, just below the North-South Vietnam border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). Marine casualties included 10 men killed and 81 wounded.

Hit Supply Bases
Farther north, U.S. fighter-bombers flew 133 missions Sunday against supply bases up and down North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

The border battle raged in the northeastern corner of South Vietnam. The American intelligence sources said the 320th, battered by the Marines early last month near the border fort of Dong Ha, had withdrawn into the six-mile-wide DMZ and re-equipped itself and fleshed out its broken ranks with new manpower. Then the North Vietnamese pushed south once more.

The sources said the 8,000-man division apparently aimed at once more trying to smash the American bases strung along the Cua Viet River, along which U.S. boats moved supplies.

There was no official word for security reasons—on the Marines' goal in the drive. But there was unofficial speculation that for the first time this year the Leathernecks might go into the DMZ.

Predicts New Attack
In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky told United Press International correspondent Daniel Southernland in a weekend interview he foresaw a third major Communist attack on Saigon this year—to come within the next two months.

In other developments:—U.S. helicopter gunships killed at least 40 Communists and, aided by Navy patrol boats, destroyed a Viet Cong arms smuggling sloop in coastal Quang Ngai Province.

—In the Mekong Delta below Saigon, guerrilla guns shot down a U.S. helicopter ferrying medical supplies. The three Americans aboard the chopper were wounded. It was the 783rd helicopter downed in the war.

Meanwhile, the UPI said in Saigon that President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam today announced he wants to meet President Johnson somewhere in the Pacific in the next few weeks.

Thieu said in a communique he wants to meet Johnson for "a few days" to discuss "important and urgent matters."

Thieu also said he is postponing a two-week visit to the United States he had planned for later this month.

The communique said the threat of fresh Communist attacks on Saigon and other points in South Vietnam made the U.S. visit inadvisable now.

In a weekend interview with United Press International, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said he believes the Communists will launch the major attack on the capital within the next two months.

Ky predicted the battle would be won against what he called intense guerrilla use of snipers and one and two man bands lodged throughout Saigon.

Hopeful of Formula For Nuclear Parley

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials say they hope the United States and the Soviet Union will work out a formula by the end of the week for starting talks on curbing the nuclear missile race.

U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster, plans a preliminary meeting with his Soviet counterpart, Alexei A. Roshchin, before the 17-nation disarmament conference opens its summer session July 16.

Leaving Thursday
Foster plans to leave for Geneva about Thursday.

He and Roshchin as delegation heads for the two nations sponsoring the continuing disarmament parley are to stake out the agenda for the conference's round.

If, meanwhile, Washington-Moscow diplomatic exchanges have not completed the missile talk arrangements, the two may tackle this also.

It is possible that for international political convenience the two super powers will use the Geneva conference as an umbrella for their missile curb deliberations. But the serious bargaining seems most likely to come in private, two-power meetings; perhaps in Moscow or Washington rather than Geneva.

U.S. authorities figure neither of the major atomic powers want to bare nuclear strength, the heart of their military might, before nonnuclear kibitzers, at the formal Geneva gathering.

The seeming readiness by the two nations to at last tackle their own arms rivalry head-on has created an atmosphere of excitement among Washington strategists dealing with disarmament and East-West relations.

The 1963 limited test ban treaty restrained the super power arms race only in a special way because it still allowed nuclear weapons development through underground test blasts.

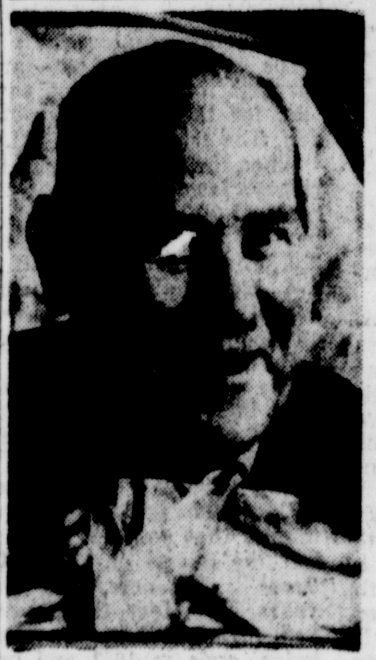

The nonproliferation treaty signed last week outlaws the distribution of atomic weapons to nonnuclear nations but does not prevent the nuclear nations from adding to their own arsenals.

It is assumed in Washington

that the Kremlin timed its June 27 announcement of readiness to begin the talks on missile restraint in order to promote signings of the nonproliferation pact by the nonnuclear countries. The have-not states were pressing for a curb by the large powers on themselves.

But the more general cause for Moscow's announcement is believed to lie in military and economic reasoning similar to that in Washington: the extensive antiballistic missile systems now being developed by the two powers will only spur development of still more costly offensive missiles without providing true military security.

A Dramatic Gain for 'Heart Man'

DR. PHILIP BLAIBERG

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—The retired dentist the world knew as the longest-surviving heart transplant patient was so weak that a second transplant seemed his only chance. He quickly rallied.

The latest word today from Froote Schuur Hospital was that Dr. Philip Blaiberg, 59, was improving.

Blaiberg improved so dramatically Sunday that the hospital said "no further emergency treatment is anticipated."

"There is a definite improvement in his general condition. His lung is improving," the bulletin said.

Only a few hours before, reliable medical sources said Blaiberg "preferred to die of natural causes" rather than allow a second transplant.

Another transplant, doctors told him, was the only way to save his life. He was weakened in his struggle from hepatitis and a lung infection.

Blaiberg's wife, Eileen, told newsmen Sunday "There definitely will be no further transplant operation" on her husband. But Sunday night, she denied her husband refused another transplant.

"He would never refuse a heart transplant at any stage," Mrs. Blaiberg said. "It's a complete misstatement. He is very much improved and we are very excited about his condition."

One medical source at Grootte Schuur Hospital said, "Blaiberg the man has been forgotten. He is a tired old man. He appears to prefer to die of natural causes."

Thieu said in a communique he wants to meet Johnson for "a few days" to discuss "important and urgent matters."

Thieu also said he is postponing a two-week visit to the United States he had planned for later this month.

The communique said the threat of fresh Communist attacks on Saigon and other points in South Vietnam made the U.S. visit inadvisable now.

In a weekend interview with United Press International, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said he believes the Communists will launch the major attack on the capital within the next two months.

Ky predicted the battle would be won against what he called intense guerrilla use of snipers and one and two man bands lodged throughout Saigon.

CP Site

Edward deGroot, president of the United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, breaks ground for the new treatment center in ceremonies Sunday afternoon. The site is at the south corner of the Benedictine Hospital grounds. Target date for occupancy is Spring of 1969. Participating in yesterday's beginnings were William Hobbs, a member of the CP board of directors; Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan; Peter Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Legislators; Arthur Webster, chairman of the Greene County Board of Legislators; Bishop James E. McManus, CSSR, episcopal vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties; Sister Mary Charles, Benedictine Hospital administrator; Sister M. Callista, director of nursing and Gerald Nocton, assistant administrator; Anthony Trulze and Wilbur Peters of Kingston Hospital. "We are looking forward to the day of completion when the handicapped children of Ulster and Greene Counties will have a building sufficient to meet their needs," deGroot said.

House Gun Bill Due This Week

By KENNETH J. FREED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House is expected to pass a gun control bill this week, but there is doubt a law providing stiffer restrictions on weapons can be sent to the President before Congress adjourns next month.

The House measure which is before the Rules Committee today, calls for a ban on the mail-order sale of rifles and shotguns and ammunition.

The more controversial bill calling for registration and licensing is scheduled for action Tuesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., had hearings scheduled today on these proposals as well as the proposed ban on mail-order sales.

Consideration of stiffer gun control laws became a major issue following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy early last month.

One restriction came soon after

Wicks Still Called Serious

The condition of former State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, taken to Kingston Hospital early Saturday morning, is still listed as "serious" according to a hospital spokesman.

Wicks, 80, retired from active politics in 1957 after serving more than 30 years in the Senate. Wicks became acting lieutenant governor in 1953 after the resignation of Frank C. Moore. He was also Senate majority leader at the time but resigned both posts in the wake of a bitter fight with then Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Wicks currently resides on Leggs Mills Road, Lake Katrine.

Those 'Dream Tickets'

Whatever happened to the oft-publicized "dream tickets" that were to sweep the country for each of the major parties?

When Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York saw "no gap in ideology" between him and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California in his talk in New Orleans as recently as May 20, immediately the country was flooded with his talk about a Rockefeller-Reagan dream ticket that would swamp Richard M. Nixon, get the Republican nomination and go on to be elected.

The governors of the two most numerous states have not seen eye to eye recently. The most recent difference was over the appointment of the Chief Justice to succeed Earl Warren. Rockefeller said President Johnson had a "duty and responsibility" to appoint a successor. Reagan said the newly elected President should do so.

As a result, the Republican dream ticket now most favored is one headed by Richard M. Nixon with Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York. But that runs into the Constitutional ban on the two candidates from the same state. So does a dream ticket pushed by Democrats with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, both from Minnesota.

The Nixon-Lindsay cohorts would have Nixon move to Ohio as he did from California to New York after the 1962 election, but it is doubtful that Nixon would lend himself to such a deception. It couldn't be a Rockefeller-Lindsay ticket for the same reason. Nor would that be as strong as the Nixon-Lindsay combination because it would not offer as great a contrast. There must be either a geographical or an ideological contrast to make a dream ticket click.

Three-Day Holidays

A campaign to observe a number of national holidays on a Monday in order to make them three-day holidays has all but succeeded. A bill adding four national holidays to the Monday calendar along with Labor Day has passed both houses of Congress and is before President Johnson for his signature.

The supporters of this measure have been urging it for at least 20 years. Labor, retail merchants and travel agents especially have pushed the plan. While Congress legislated for federal employees only, it is expected that the states will follow suit so that the new three-day holiday periods will apply generally.

Columbus Day will be a national holiday for the first time and will fall on the second Monday in October. In addition, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans' Day will be observed on Mondays. Labor Day already is observed on the first Monday in September.

Sentiment for nine three-day holidays was not strong enough to include New Year's Day, Independence Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas with the five that have been approved. They will remain unchanged. In all these, tradition is too strong for public acceptance of a change.

The most serious objections are that the new three-day holidays will mean more automobiles on the road and that inevitably means more accidents on the highways. If that possibility can be controlled, the change would be a welcome one for the time allowed for families to spend more time together and the enjoyment they will get together.

Watch Your Check

There will be a drop in wages and salaries July 15 to make effective the 10 per cent tax surcharge into law by President Johnson.

However, the University of Michigan's quarterly survey of consumer attitudes states that consumers have already discounted the coming income tax increase. This means that possibly the major retarding effect of the tax rise has already taken place in anticipation of the tax increase, rather than occurring when disposable incomes are reduced.

Generally, the survey called this a period of waiting with buyers having money and the ability to spend but lacking the will to splurge. Consumers are waiting for developments in Vietnam or the economy or the elections, the survey said.

If true, the effect of the surtax might disappoint economists. They are hoping it will cool an overheated economy. It might please those who fear it is an "overkill" that could cause a turnaround. The real effect will not be known until after pay checks are reduced. After all, a $10 billion tax rise means a pretty large hunk taken away from consumers to spend and it can't help but show in the economy.

Pittsburgh is starting a four week school for black youngsters to teach them the white man's system of power and politics and to enable them to use their knowledge to their own advantage. Better to learn how to join the system than to fight it.

David Lawrence Says

Population Shift Seen As Aiding Republicans

WASHINGTON—The November 1968 election may disclose the effects of the most remarkable redistribution of the voting population that the United States has experienced in its history.

Up to now in many a state the electoral vote has been won by a majority largely contributed by one or two big cities where, since the 1930's, the Democrats have built up effective organizations and not only have gotten voters registered but made sure that they went to the polls on election day. The huge majorities piled up in the cities have been counted on to offset Republican strength in rural areas.

Now things have changed. Instead of merely a contest between the rural and city vote, the 1968 election will be decided by three categories—the inner city, the suburban areas, and the rural districts which include the smaller cities and towns.

The fact is that, because of the shift of population from cities to the suburban areas, there are today 156.5 million Americans outside the large central cities—or nearly four persons to each one in the big cities. Voters divide in about the same ratio. This can have a very far-reaching significance in American politics.

For the suburban and rural areas have a traditionally tended to be Republican while the inner cities have generally been Democratic.

The changes in the population of the cities are extensive. The latest study of the U.S. Census Bureau, covering the period of April 1960 to April 1966, shows that in metropolitan areas the rate of population increase was nearly ten times as much outside the inner city—or in "suburbia"—than in the inner city itself.

Even the 1960 census figures, moreover, showed the same trend. The population of New York City, for instance, was down 1.4 per cent from 1950, while the surrounding suburbs went up 75 per cent. The same thing happened in Chicago, where the city population dropped about 2 per cent, and the suburbs gained 71.5 per cent. One of the most interesting shifts was in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, where the central-city population was down 4.4 per cent while the suburban population went up 115.7 per cent.

The same pattern was found in Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Cleveland, St. Louis, Los Angeles-Long Beach and other big cities whose vote heretofore has been crucial in deciding the electoral votes of their respective states.

Since 1960 the movement of people into the suburbs has been accelerating. This has just been confirmed by a survey issued this week in New York City by the City University there. It shows that the population of the city itself has been decreasing or only holding at the level of the 1960 census. The University's estimate puts the city's population in 1966 at 7,532,000, which is 437,000 below the census bureau estimate of 7,969,000 as of July 1, 1966, and 249,984 less than the 1960 official census of 7,781,984. The latest figure also is even further below the estimate of 8,125,000 made by the Consolidated Edison Company Jan. 1, 1967.

There are, of course, many reasons why the big cities are losing population, but it is evident from the City University's report in New York that middle-income whites numbering at least 674,000 have been lost to the city itself since 1960.

The population shift will be reflected largely among the dissidents inside the Democratic party. Lots of them may choose to stay at home on election day, but more significantly many of them will not contribute money to the campaign or do much of the precinct work such as has been so helpful to the Democratic party in the past in carrying the large cities—and thus swinging the big electoral votes of the most populous states.

The redistribution of population is unquestionably an encouraging trend for the Republican party. If it can manage to get through the convention without any deep-seated resentments, the chances are that the Republicans will cast a larger vote throughout the United States in the suburban as well as the rural districts than ever before. This, together with the split in the Democratic ranks and the possible failure of many regular Democrats to go to the polls, could give the Republicans the biggest landslide they have had in many years.

Pirating of Airlines

By ROBERT H. FELDKAMP

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON—Everytime another airliner is pirated, as two have been this week, the cry goes up: "When is this going to be stopped?"

Just as quickly, the same response comes from hand-wringing government officials and the aviation industry: "How?"

Federal experts say nothing short of a "Stop and frisk law for every boarding passenger will halt the alarming rise in airliner hijacking. And no one seems to want this.

"Searching passengers may be the only answer right now," said a Federal Aviation Agency spokesman Tuesday. "But this is something the industry and the passengers want no part of."

While forcing a plane to fly off to someplace like Cuba is an obvious concern in Washington, the official response seems almost ho-hum.

"If it's going to happen, it's going to happen," said a staff member of the House Commerce Subcommittee on Transportation and Aeronautics. "I don't know what can be done about it," said a counterpart for the Senate Commerce Subcommittee on Aviation. "I don't know of a single new thing proposed," said the FAA spokesman.

The Northwest Orient jetliner seized by a gunman Monday and ordered to Cuba was the seventh commercial plane hijacked this year. Following a similar rash of plane piracy in 1961, the federal government made it a crime punishable by death. It also is a federal crime to carry a concealed weapon on board.

"If it's of any comfort to would-be passengers, some of the best brains in the country are working on the problem," said the FAA.

After two commercial airlines were hijacked earlier this year, the FAA disclosed it is testing a highly sensitive censoring device developed by a private research firm. The device would be designed to sniff out not only large explosive packages like bombs, but also could be sensitive enough to detect the explosive charge in a bullet.

"This hasn't yet been refined to the point when it can detect bullets," said the FAA spokesman. "We don't know whether it would be best to have it aboard the plane or in the airport, once it's developed."

"We're not in a position to say when it will be ready for commercial use. Actually, this has been undergoing planning and testing for several years."

Drew Pearson Says IBEW Strike Now May Force Democratic Convention to Move

WASHINGTON—Democratic leaders have been debating for some time whether the threat of racial violence in Chicago might make it necessary to transfer the Democratic National Convention in late August to Miami. They had decided not to transfer.

But now another obstacle has developed which may make a transfer necessary. It's the strike of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers against Illinois Bell Telephone, which has been continuing since May 8. Even if the electrical workers were to begin work in the convention hall today, they could hardly finish the 80,000 man hours necessary to install the sound equipment, telephones, TV connections, etc., necessary for a national convention.

Under Secretary of Labor James Reynolds has been holding frantic conferences with Gordon Freeman, president of the IBEW, and Joe Keenan, vice president, with the hope of ending the strike. Reynolds has also been on the transatlantic telephone with Joe Beirne, president of the Communications Workers of America.

Involved is rivalry between two powerful unions—the Communications Workers, which has just negotiated an over-all wage agreement with American Tel and Tel calling for a $25 a week wage increase over three years, and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, whose Illinois union wants an increase of $29 a week.

If Bell Telephone of Illinois gives the $29 increase to IBEW, it would mean that its parent company, American Tel and Tel, would have to go back and give the same increase to Joe Beirne's Communications Workers.

It would also mean that Joe Beirne would be made to look as if he were not a tough enough negotiator with AT&T since he settled for $25 a week instead of $29. With union rivalry such as this, it is something of a dilemma for the Democrats. President George Meany of the AFL-CIO has been called to straighten things out, so far with no result.

What it boils down to is that the Democratic National Convention will probably have to move to another city. Democratic leaders don't want to be instrumental in forcing a showdown between two rival friends, Joe Beirne of the Communications Workers, and Gordon Freeman of the IBEW.

A lot of Democrats would just as soon leave Chicago anyway. Installations would already be in place in Miami Beach for the Republicans. They can be held over for the Democrats on August 26. Furthermore, race relations around Miami are much better than those in Chicago.

Rocky's Empty Pocket
Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, born with a silver spoon in his mouth, landed in Huron, S.D., the other day, home town of Vice-President Hubert Humphrey, born with no silver spoon in his mouth.

Rockefeller, whose political philosophy is almost identical with Humphrey's, immediately went over to the drugstore over which Hubert was born. For sentimental reasons he made some purchases—large earrings for Happy and some toys for the Rockefeller children. The total bill was $21.08. When the scion of one of the richest families in the world reached into his pocket to pay the bill, he came up with $20. That was all he had.

A Rockefeller aide fished out $1 to make up the deficit and a newspaperman contributed 8 cents.

The governor of New York was then able to meet the cost of his purchases from the Humphrey drugstore.

Larry Spivak, Washington, D.C.—Thanks for your reminder that you, not NBC, select the guests on "Meet the Press." We note that in 20 years of "Meet the Press," Sen. Dodd has appeared twice, once in 1962 and once in 1965. We are delighted to make clear there has been no favoritism by you.

Mrs. Lola Leichter, Los Angeles—The new book, "Behind the Lines: The World of Drew Pearson," is being published by Prentice-Hall in September, but the authors of this column have nothing to do with its content. Herman Klurfeld, the author, used to be Walter Winchell's collaborator, and is a journalist with a reputation for sizzling inside stories. However, we don't guarantee what he's doing in the case of the Pearson book.

Lester Weinrott, Chicago—Newsmen traveling with Sen. Robert Kennedy had been alarmed for some time that he was taking undue risks and would be assassinated. John Lindsay of Newsweek, one of Kennedy's sincerest admirers, publicly warned in advance, "He's going to be shot. He's going to be shot as sure as we're here."

Joe Russakoff, New York—Unfortunately, assassination has become a way of life in the Near East, which is probably the No. 1 explanation of Sen. Robert Kennedy's assassination. It's also an important reason why peace is so difficult between the Arab States and Israel. Any Arab leader who became too friendly to Israel would be bumped off. Here is the list of Arab leaders who have been assassinated in recent years: 1948—Nur al-Shaykh, prime minister of Egypt; 1948—Imam Yihya, ruler of Yemen; 1949—Hussein Zayim, president of Syria; 1951—King Abdullah of Jordan; 1953—Riyad As-Sulh, prime minister of Lebanon; 1954—General Sati al-Hinawi, president of Syria; 1958—King Faisal of Iraq; 1958—Nuri As-Said, prime minister of Iraq; 1963—General Abdul Karim Kasim, president of Iraq; 1968—Hassan al-Majali, prime minister of Jordan.

There were also many attempts on the lives of such leaders as King Hussein of Jordan, President Boumedienne of Algeria, President Nasser of Egypt, and ex-President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon.

Officials Don't Think Much Of McCarthy's Visit to Paris

By PETER LISAGOR

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON—U. S. officials say it is highly unlikely that Sen. Eugene McCarthy would be charged with violating the Logan Act if he should visit Paris to talk to the North Vietnamese negotiators there.

U. S. officials point out that the 1799 act forbidding negotiation with a foreign power by a private or unauthorized citizen has never been invoked, although it might have been applicable in scores of cases in recent history.

The McCarthy suggestion of a possible visit to Paris is regarded here variously as whimsical, casual, mischievous, and not very serious.

However, the Minnesota Democrat has made himself into a serious presidential contender by a nonconformist, anti-policy, anti-establishment approach that has charmed and beguiled many who look with mistrust upon the conventional politician.

McCarthy first intimated he might go to Paris in Phoenix, Ariz., last June 15. He became more explicit on a television panel show on June 16 when he said he might go in late July or early August.

Asked if he feared embarrassing American negotiators in Paris or playing into the hands of Hanoi propagandists, McCarthy said that was "kind of an administration line... a kind of tactic, I think, that really if we accepted it, the whole country would have been frightened into some kind of silence for the last six months..."

He said he had talked to people who had been in contact with the North Vietnamese in Paris, adding:

"It might be a good thing for me as a presidential candidate to speak directly to them. I don't intend to enter negotiations or to make any public offers... What I like to do is to find out what the possibilities of some kind of accommodation or settlement are in fact."

North Vietnamese sources in Paris have said they would be glad to talk to McCarthy if he came to Paris. Diplomatic officials here say Hanoi would like to dramatize the split in the United States over Vietnam war policy and would exploit to the fullest any discussions with McCarthy.

"McCarthy would be compromising the very office he is aspiring to," one official said. "He would be interposing himself between the President and a delicate diplomatic operation, the very thing he undoubtedly would resent if he were President."

Under a strict construction of the Logan Act, officials say, U. S. journalists and private citizens who have visited Hanoi in recent months might be subject to prosecution. But the only charge ever made under the law was in 1802, and the case was dismissed before it came to trial.

The act stipulates that any citizen who, without authority of the United States, carries out any correspondence or intercourse with a foreign government with the intent to influence that government in any dispute with the United States or to defeat the measures of the United States, shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than three years or both.

Some political authorities here believe that McCarthy conceivably might use a talk with North Vietnamese delegates in a dramatic, if desperate, attempt at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago in late August to obtain the nomination over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

send reporters out to get the full yarn. He didn't care if nobody liked him, just so long as everybody read him.

Mark Hellinger, the poor man's O. Henry, didn't care if nobody read him so long as everybody loved him. Heywood Brown, a man who looked as though he slept in his clothes, was the only one who could write an essay about a beggar who used a Racing Form to cover a hole in his shoe.

The mouse, Sidney Skolsky, who now writes tinsy-pinsy in Hollywood, used to write about Broadway characters and tell who slept in the buff. He had so many fears that his doctor anesthetized him in an airplane seat. Franklin P. Adams, known as FPA, was so erudite that you had to read his published poems twice to find out what he wasn't talking about.

O. O. McIntyre, unknown to his millions of readers, made a prisoner of himself in a palatial New York apartment and used to write stories about New York that came out of his head. Jack Kofod, who worked the Post, would beat his maiden aunt with a bat to get the story first. Damon Runyon could devise a better Broadway in the loneliness of his apartment than the real one.

When these men were at the late spots, Broadway was more than a collection of lights. It had Texas Guinan and Barney Gallant and a kid named George Raft, who used to buck-and-wing on the sidewalk, and Larry Fay and Owney Madden and Dutch Schultz. It had chorus girls who earned $50 a week wearing six egrets and diamond bracelets for wearing less. It had Eddie Cantor and Sophie Tucker, Al Jolson, Lupe Velez, Billy Rose, Belle Baker, Florenz Ziegfeld, George White and his Scandals and Earl Carroll and his Vanities.

There was a Daddy Brown, a millionaire who liked to marry (or adopt) teen-agers; Paul Whiteman, B. A. Rolfe, and George Olsen and Ethel Shutta.

Like everything else, Broadway had its time. Where else would you see a sophisticated like Hellinger standing in January rain with his hat over his heart as a casket was carried up a brownstone stoop? He didn't know it, but this was the daily delivery of booze to a speakeasy. Where else would an intoxicated actor like Richard Bennett stand in a nightclub and read the Bible with such dramatic flourishes that the patrons wept?

Barney Gallant used to give the orchestra a hundred for a sad chorus of "Melancholy Baby." Two weeks ago he died in a Miami home. Dorothy Kilgallen, who used to write about Broadway and the Village, preceded him by a couple of years.

Louis Sobol is writing his memoirs. He wasn't a tiger at his Broadway typewriter, because he never had an enemy...

Newburgh Cops Nab 5 After Auto Chase

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) — early today following a lunch-time robbery, five men on room holdup and a high speed first degree robbery charges auto chase through city streets.

Tipped that an armed robbery was in progress at Bob's Lunch, police sent a patrol car to the scene and the robbers fled in their getaway car. Two other police cruisers joined in the pursuit and finally stopped the robbers' car at an intersection. Police said they confiscated four guns, one of them a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun. They also recovered the loot — about $800 found in trousers which the robbers had taken from between 15 and 20 persons in the lunch-room.

Arrested were Dennis Henderson, 20, Elisha Cherry, 19, and Michael Hunter, 27, all of whom claimed they were attendants at Rockland State Hospital; Julius Beatha, 35, of Spring Valley; and Stephen Wilkins, 22, of the Bronx.

Child Clinic In Rosendale

A Child Health Conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the town clerk's office in Rosendale Thursday, July 11 from 1 - 3 p.m.

The Conference is limited to infant and pre-school children and is designed to improve child health through early recognition of defects in addition to providing the parents with information regarding nutrition, growth and development, handling of minor behavior problems, immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio. Parents are reminded that this conference is a "well-child" clinic with the emphasis placed on the maintenance of health and the prevention of disease, and is not for the care of a sick child. Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the child health conference.

General Breakup

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The president of General Dynamics said Sunday that ground testing broke the wings off an F111A fighter-bomber and "before we finish testing, every part of the plane will be broken."

"That's what we test for — stress limitations," Frank W. Davis said after testimony at a Senate hearing made public Saturday revealed that wings of an F111 broke off in testing two months before the first of the planes were sent to Vietnam. "We've had no failures of any planes at stress simulation to be expected in combat," Davis said.

Dr. Stine Dies, Was Brother of Local Educator

Dr. Clyde S. Stine, Dean of Men at the Pennsylvania State Teachers College at Millersville, Pa., and brother of Leonard Stine, director of music, Kingston City Schools, Consolidated, died suddenly Saturday evening, June 29 at Millersville, Pa.

Dr. Stine was the son of Mrs. Florence Hummel Stine and the late George T. Stine. The noted educator received his early training in the Pine Grove Schools. He was awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree, Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Cornell University.

Before assuming his position as Dean of Men, Dr. Stine taught at Cornell University, Hershey Junior College and Lebanon Valley College.

Historic Family

Historic records indicate that the Stine family secured land grants from the William Penn family in the early 18th Century. Because Dr. Stine represented the eighth generation of the family, he maintained a life-long interest in Pennsylvania German history and folklore and was widely recognized as an authority in this field. He collaborated on several books on Pennsylvania German folklore and history and filled many speaking engagements in which he covered the various facts of life and folklore Pennsylvania Germans.

Dr. Stine was director of the Pennsylvania German Society, president of the Lancaster Chapter of Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System; national vice president of that organization. Active in the Masonic Lodge, he was a member of Conestoga Lodge 66, Hobasco Lodge F & AM, Ithaca, N.Y.; Lancaster Lodge of Perfection, Harrisburg Consistory, Rajah Temple of Reading, Lancaster County Shrine Club.

Professionally, Dr. Stine was a member of Phi Delta Kappa, the Pennsylvania Society, and was listed in "Who's Who in The East." In 1966 he was elected to the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi and held membership in numerous other organizations. He was one of four Lancaster area men honored with an award citation by the "75" Club, an organization of educators.

Surviving Dr. Stine in addition to his wife, mother and brother, is a son George Stine of Millersville.

Japanese Agency Hit By Bomb

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fourth in a series of bombings at foreign tourist missions blew out doors and windows Sunday at the Japanese National Tourist Organization near St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Two persons were slightly injured in the explosion at the offices on 50th Street just off Fifth Avenue, crowded at the time with Sunday strollers and churchgoers.

The site of the blast was a few blocks from the July 4 bombing of the Canadian National Tourist Office. The Spanish National Tourist Office two blocks away has been bombed twice, on April 22 and June 21. The Mexican Consulate also was the target of a bomber April 22. All the bombings are unsolved.

Police refused to speculate on any possible connection among the four bombings but a police official pointed out that all four countries trade with Cuba. Anti-Castro elements have threatened revenge against any nation trading with Cuba.

At Chicago Convention

LBJ's Withdrawal Lessens Threats of Demonstrations

By STUART J. PAHN
CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson's decision to withdraw from the political scene appears to have lessened—if not eliminated—threats of demonstrations at the Democratic National Convention next month.

Shortly after Chicago had been named site of the Democratic conclave, antiwar, civil rights and hippie leaders chorused that if opposition to the President's policies were to be meaningful, it would have to involve the convention at the sprawling International Amphitheatre.

But now the protest movement is in disarray.

The National Mobilization Committee, organizer of the march on the Pentagon last Oct. 21 and the largest vehicle for war protest, has canceled a program formed specifically for the convention, a program touted as "the largest in American history."

"But we no longer have those plans," said Rennie Davis of the NMC's Chicago office.

Those plans were shaped largely around the assumption that Johnson would be running Davis added in an interview.

The NMC still contemplates it was obscurely termed a "presence" during the convention, but Davis did not elaborate.

Lowell Rheinheimer, 20, reflects the growing uncertainty when he discusses the Chicago Area Draft Resisters, CADRE, a chapter of a national resistance organization which had plans for demonstrating the week of Aug. 25.

"After Johnson's announcement," he said, "the youths in CADRE had a tendency to relax, to breathe a sigh of relief. And they felt they could withdraw themselves from the movement."

If the peace movement plans appear loose and tentative, those of the civil rights movement are even less structured.

James Farmer, former director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said CORE will not demonstrate at the convention and added: "I hope the convention comes off, and I plan to attend."

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern

Christian Leadership Conference, has never officially adopted the promise of his predecessor the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to demonstrate at the convention, although he too, has mentioned the possibility of a "presence" there.

When eyes first focused on the convention site in early January, Negro comedian and civil rights activist Dick Gregory angrily denounced the Democrats' choice of Chicago, proclaiming the convention would be held only "over my dead body" and that he would spearhead a demonstration of 5,000 persons.

Three months later Gregory called everything off.

He said he feared the planned marches would erupt into violence. As the civil rights and antiwar threats have softened, so have those of the flower people.

The Youth International Party—or Yippies—has re-evaluated its plans to stage a festival of joy in Chicago during the convention of 50,000 to 500,000 head-spangled youths.

"Yes, we had a program to come to Chicago," said Jerry Reuben of New York, a leader of the Yippies. "And officially it's still on. But the question of what to do is all up in the air."

It is so up in the air that many Yippie leaders are openly discouraging the Chicago invasion. "The drama was taken out of the situation by Johnson's decision," Reuben said.

The Yippies contend they are regularly abused by police in daily situations, and were especially forcefully dispersed during an antiwar march in April.

But city officials deny such allegations, as do officials of the Democratic party.

Mayor (Richard J.) Daley has frequently stated that anyone who wants to can come to Chicago to carry out his right as an American to petition and demonstrate as long as he doesn't violate any laws," one city official said.

Demonstrations are highly restricted in Chicago. A city ordinance allows only one march a day, limits the size of the march to the discretion of the police superintendent. It requires that police be notified at least 24 hours in advance of the route, its points of inception and termination, and the names of the leaders.

The ordinance restricts marching to daylight hours, but prohibits marches during the peak traffic hours of 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

With the threats of demonstrations fading, another possible obstacle has been thrown up—the statewide strike by a telephone union.

Officials of the 11,800-man Brotherhood of Electrical Workers contend that a continuance of the strike could mean delay of installation of the complex communications network required for the convention.

Linemen, installers and repairmen have been on strike since May 8 in a dispute over wages. Negotiations have been broken off.

But Illinois Bell Telephone Co. officials insist that adequate manpower and technology is available for installation of the sophisticated equipment.

Convention coordinator John Meek seems unconcerned about the strike.

Parati, Brazil (UPI)—After three centuries as a haven for pirates, a royal lovenest and a smugglers' cove, this old Brazilian town has been declared a national shrine to preserve its antiquity.

When incorporated in 1667, Parati rivaled Rio de Janeiro as the most important port in southern Brazil. Today it is virtually as it was then, cut off by the coastal mountain range which rises 4,000 feet in 10 miles.

The first land link with the rest of the country came in 1954 when a bulldozed mud road tumbled perilously down the mountainside.

Most of the 340 one and two-story buildings in the central 32-block area of the town are between two and three centuries old; none is newer than 120 years. Two of Parati's three gold-leaf-ornamented churches date from the 17th century.

Portuguese "bandeirantes," pioneering freebooters who looted and enslaved while they hunted for gold, first settled Parati in 1590. These hard men in leather knew no law and roamed the wild South American interior until they either amassed a fortune or died in an Indian ambush.

They chose Parati, located on a secluded arm of the Atlantic Ocean, rather than tax-collecting Rio, to export their treasures.

By 1667, the town had warehouses stocked with European and Asiatic goods to exchange for gold.

Julius Kirkovits recently decorated his 300-year-old hotel by dredging up pieces of crockery, breakage dumped overboard by Dutch East Indies Company ships in 1651.

A gold rush in 1703 forced the Portuguese government to build the "Fort of Perpetual Defense." Six two-ton brass cannons today lean on the fort's decaying walls, muzzles up, carriages rotted away.

The day Emperor Pedro I declared Brazil independent from Portugal, Sept. 7, 1822, he fell in love with Domitila de Castro. The monarch dubbed her a marquess and built her a palace in Parati, away from the eyes of his Rio court. Their love nest is a public school today.

Gold fields played out, Parati declines. Men turned to fishing, banana farming and, in the words of a collector's letter dated 1820, "a little piracy on Santos-Rio shipping."

"With no customs inspectors, smuggling had a free hand," one resident said. "The town was abandoned until the road came. We had no government services except when tax collectors sailed in on a banana boat."

The road brought daring vacationers. Later a dozen French writers and painters began an artists' colony. These newcomers contrast with Parati's 3,200 residents who cannot fathom why "these wornout houses are so fascinating."

"Parati is still almost unknown," said Mayor Aluisio Castro. "We fortunately rediscovered it before progress destroyed it."

Metropolitan Life Staff at Conference

Eight members and their wives of the staff of the Kingston District Office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company are in Bretton Woods, New Hampshire, today for a business conference with officials of the company at the Mount Washington Hotel.

Those attending the meeting are Joseph F. Carroll Jr., Anthony F. Del Vecchio, Vincent R. Guido, Peter J. Kowalenko, James A. Mancuso, Herbert A. Matson, Sam J. Turck and Dominic A. Zaccaro.

These men had exceptional sales and service records last year and are among the top-ranking members of Metropolitan's staff of 30,000 field representatives in the United States and Canada.

The local office, which is under the supervision of Manager George H. Devine, has a staff of four agency managers, seven metropolitan insurance consultants, 28 agents, and seven clerks.

Pills Important For TB Patients

Take pills regularly, advises the Ulster County TB and Health Association with headquarters at 124 Green Street.

Today, thanks to pills, active TB patients become non-infectious within days or weeks. Hospital stays can be shortened. In many cases, hospitalization is not even necessary. But to recover from the disease, patients must continue taking pills every day for two years. Long after they leave the hospital.

Unfortunately, too many TB patients cling to outmoded attitudes from the pre-pill era. Though pills are part of their daily routine, they sometimes view pill-taking as less important than other items on their list of priorities. It should be the key item.

To keep the focus on pills, your local TB RD association has leaflets and information for patients and their families. Why not inquire about them?

Paris Students' Last Bastion Gives Up Easily

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS (AP) — The last major bastion of the student rebellion at the University of Paris fell without a fight today.

Police at dawn moved into the new medical school on the Rue des Saints-Peres and evicted the last 17 students holding out in the big four-story building. The red flag waving over the roof was hauled down. It was the last important University of Paris building held by the students whose revolt early in May touched off France's worst post-war crisis.

The police were helmeted and carried rifles, but there was no resistance. The students, who included four girls, whistled and joked as they were taken away for questioning.

The holdouts had been waiting for days for the police to come. They said they would not oppose them.

"A single tear has bomb through the windows would send us all running," said one.

On June 16 the police took over the Sorbonne, the headquarters of the revolt. The school of fine arts, which produced anti-De Gaulle posters, was taken on June 27. Last Friday it was the turn of the school of science and the new Sorbonne annex on the Rue Censier.

There was no resistance at any of them. A few dozen students were taken to a police station, and some were kept overnight. Some of them wrote newspapers charging that they were not fed nor allowed to call their parents.

Police also arrested a few persons who were not students, including several of the "Katanges" who had made trouble at the Sorbonne. They got their name from some of their number who said they had served with mercenary troops in the Congo's Katanga province.

Sunday afternoon at the medical school there was still a little of the carnival atmosphere that had the Sorbonne swinging while the students were in possession. But it was more subdued.

Help for Watts
LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than one-fifth of the total 58,000 population in the Watts district of Los Angeles has visited the antipoverty health services center there since its opening in September.

Officials say the mainly Negro area had only one small accredited hospital before. The dental-medical center is sponsored by the University of South California and financed by a $2.4-million federal grant.

'Meet Dyson' Set Tonight

Lee Fielding, president of the Dutchess County Teen Democrats, announced today that the club will hold an open "Meet John Dyson Night" tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Democratic Headquarters, 8 New Market Street, Poughkeepsie.

Dyson, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the 28th District, will speak briefly, followed by a question and answer period. After there will be an opportunity for informal talks with the candidate at which time refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Plan Field Trip

An invitation is extended to join the members of the John Burroughs Natural History Society on a field trip to Belleayre Mt. on Sunday, July 14. The trip will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the foot of the chair lift at Belleayre Mt. on Rt. 28 near Pine Hill.

The group will ride to the top to observe high mountain birds and plants under the leadership of Dr. Robert Pyle of New Paltz.

Anyone planning to attend should bring a picnic lunch. Mrs. Bert Huth has invited the field trip party to picnic at her summer home in Pine Hill. Coffee and dessert will be served.

The next field trip will be on Aug. 3 with a bird banding demonstration at Chan Young's pond in Napanoch.

Cite Weather In Plane Crash Fatal to Four

BRISTOL CENTER, N.Y. found Saturday near here, about 15 miles from its takeoff point, after a four day search. Agency spokesmen says poor weather was probably the cause. Gale Sleigh, 35, his wife Sylvia and two of their four children, John, 10, and Lynne, 9, died in the crash. There were no survivors. Lt. Col. Charles Dickerhoff of the Civil Air Patrol in Rochester said the Sleigh's plane struck a hillside near the Bristol Mountain ski resort.

Sleigh, a building contractor, took off from Honeyey Falls early Wednesday morning for a flight to St. Augustine, Fla. The search began when he failed to make periodic radio checks along the route.

Indians Return to Woods In Maine Lumber Dispute

INDIAN TOWNSHIP, Maine (AP) — The Passamaquoddy Indians say they cannot wait for a court decision on disputed timber land and plan a sit-down demonstration to halt wood-cutting on it.

The Indians and the Georgia Pacific Co. both claim to own 19,000 acres of land near here.

A demonstration by about 40 members of the tribe halted the company's logging operations last Thursday, but the timber-cutting has been resumed.

John Stevens, tribal governor of the Peter Dana Point Indian Reservation, said Sunday his people would return to the logging sites today.

The state forest commissioner has said Georgia Pacific probably would order cutting stopped if the Indians tried to block company tractors.

Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis has asked both sides to wait for a court decision, expected sometime in October.

The company said it would honor the governor's request.

Stevens, speaking for the tribe, said the Passamaquoddy would not wait for the court ruling.

Escapes, Takes Cash

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies say they especially want to recapture James J. Lufkas, 20, who escaped after serving two months of a six-month burglary sentence. Officers reported $925 missing from the office safe Friday after the escape of Lufkas.

PLANNING FOR MENTALLY HANDICAPPED — Members of the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services are in the process of gathering information regarding the mentally handicapped children in Ulster County. The Board, which includes representatives from seven Ulster County school districts, have created a teacher, nurse-teacher, and psychological information form which will standardize referrals of the children to various agencies in the county. In top photo (seated clockwise) Dr. Herman Lowe, Mrs. Alma Cudney, Mrs. Phillis Crawford, Mrs. Janice Damerise, Dr. Joyce Bartlett, Nyles Freeman, and Frank Falanga are shown discussing newly proposed programs for the mentally handicapped that will be instituted in several Ulster County schools. In bottom photo (L-R) Robert Doucette, Mrs. Alida Rose, and Mrs. Lynn Sarda examine new psychological information form. The Ulster County Board has received a title IV ESEA Planning Grant to help develop the new form.

Germany's Wooded Hills: Internationally Famous Spa

By MURRAY J. BROWN
BADEN-BADEN, West Germany (UPI)—You don't have to take the cure to enjoy this internationally famous spa in the wooded hills of southwestern Germany.

It's true that the hot springs have been a major attraction for the high and the mighty, and the low and the humble, over the years.

But there are many other things to do and to see which make a visit to Baden-Baden worth the while—art, music and theater festivals, international horse races, sports activities, picturesque scenery and an elegant casino.

The Romans first discovered the curative powers of the springs in the hills back in the third century. It's only a short ride or hike from town to the ruins of the baths built around 260 A.D. by the Emperor Caracalla for his legionnaires to ease their battle wounds and other aches.

Doctors Say Hormones Make Skin Look Younger Safely

NEW YORK (Special): — A asked to use the formula for leading dermatologist and his just twelve days on one side of assistants have conducted a "half-woman" test that proves conclusively estrogenic hormones make skin look younger and smooth dry-skin wrinkles.

A preparation containing female hormones was applied to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand of 50 middle-aged women. A similar formula containing no hormones was used on the other side. It was quickly apparent that the side treated with hormones looked better. At the end of the test in all but two cases, skin lines were definitely less noticeable, complexion was softer, smoother, fresher. There was no local irritation in any case; examination revealed absolutely no systemic effects. The hormones had beautified effectively and safely.

In an effort to speed up hormonal beautifying action, a trustworthy 55-year-old laboratory developed a fluid formula called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. This laboratory conducted a test on 15,000 women volunteers who were asked to use the formula for just twelve days on one side of the face and neck. An impressive percentage signified that good results were attained even in this short period.

HORMONEX Beauty Serum acts so rapidly because pure female hormones are dissolved in a combination of penetrating Sesame Oil and a patented liquid Lanolin. Only 7 drops a day are required to treat face and neck.

If you would like to test HORMONEX Beauty Serum without risk, get a bottle of your favorite toiletry counter the test in all but two cases, today, use it just twelve days. If the change is not astounding—if you are not completely satisfied, your dealer is authorized to refund purchase price without question. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is inexpensive to use. A 100-day supply costs only $3.50. Look younger quickly. See these dry-skin wrinkles smooth out, starting today! You may laboratory developed a fluid formula called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. This laboratory conducted a test on 15,000 women volunteers who were

Quiet Play

Las Vegas, it is not. There are no slot machines, dice tables, or bingo games. And play goes on at the roulette and chemin de fer tables in silence, broken only by the click of the ball, the slap of cards and the restrained calls by the croupiers.

You can wager as little as 50 cents at roulette if you would try your luck at tables where fortunes have been won or lost.

But even if you don't gamble, it's worth the price of admission just to walk through the rooms furnished in French imperial style with thick red carpets, red draped walls, paintings and statuary, and huge crystal chandeliers. The Casino, long considered the finest in Europe, is open daily for visitors and gamblers from 10 a.m. to 7 a.m.

For other after-dark activities there are night clubs, theaters and cinemas. There are about 100 hotels, pensions and guest houses in the Baden-Baden area with rates to fit almost any pocketbook. We stayed at the Waldhotel der Selghof, a charming chateau-type inn with private pool and tennis courts, overlooking the golf course in the hills on the outskirts.

We visited Baden-Baden on a tour of West Germany as guest of the German National Tourist Office. The flight from New York to Stuttgart via Lufthansa Boeing 707 jet plane took about eight hours. Baden-Baden is about one hour's drive from Stuttgart via the autobahn.

Impala Sport Coupe

Here's why our competition is happy the model year is almost over.

It's been awfully tough on other cars in Impala's field this year. You can understand that. What can other dealers say when somebody wants the roomiest car? (That's an Impala 4-Door Sedan. According to the Automotive News Study, the big Chevrolet is roomier than any other car in its field.) What can they say to questions like "Where's the ignition warning buzzer; the Hide-A-Way windshield wipers; the flush-and-dry rocker panels; the Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish; the Body by Fisher quality?" (Only Impala's got them in its field.)

And what can they say when somebody specifies a speed warning indicator, or light monitoring system? Or wants the lowest priced full-size sport coupe, for instance? (You see, putting you first keeps us first.)

What else can they say? Help!

Rocky, McCarthy Ask People To Help Them Catch Leaders

By KIRTLAND I. KING

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)— Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller are bringing a whole new campaign technique to American politics. McCarthy and Rockefeller, both fighting an uphill battle for their respective party presidential nominations, have virtually abandoned the "delegates game" and are playing what might be described as the "people game."

Most political students feel this unusual way of seeking a White House nomination was forced on both men because of their underdog roles. And, they say, an upset win for either could change the whole political nominating system.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon have been concentrating on political leaders and national convention delegates and this is the technique used over the years.

nell, who was neutral, for advice. "Some of my friends want me to challenge Walter Lynch (the pre-agreed on candidate) for the nomination," Roosevelt told O'Connell. "What do you think I should do about it."

"Take my advice young fellow," O'Connell replied. "The delegates are jobholders, people looking for jobs or friends and relatives of the leaders. The leaders have decided on Lynch. So, forget it. Come back in four years."

Hope Mini-Cars Can Beat Imports

DETROIT (UPI)—American auto industry leaders are nervously watching the foreign car sales figures climb toward the one million mark.

They aren't pushing the panic button yet, but at Ford and General Motors, development work is well along on new mini-models designed to sell under the $2,000 mark—the demarcation zone between big U.S. cars and the small foreign makes.

Chrysler Corp. so far has made no move to get into this field in an American-built car, and has only its foreign-built Simca as a poor competitor.

American Motors has tried for two years to lure foreign-car buyers with its Rambler American, priced just under the $2,000 but has not stemmed the tide of imports. Only a sudden reversal of the current trend toward record breaking import figures will keep the big American car builders from going all out to plug the hole in the dike against the torrent of European and Japanese cars. Some reversal, for example, like happened in 1958-60 when the bottom fell out of the medium-priced car field and contributed to the demise of the Edsel and the De Soto.

But from what the car-builders can see now, no such reversal is in sight, although they've been hoping for several years that the bluish would wear off the import craze. It just hasn't happened. Last year, the imports set a record at about 750,000 sales in this country. This year it is certain to flow over the 800,000 mark and may hit close to 900,000.

That figures out to between 10 and 12 per cent of the auto sales market in the United States—a lucrative bundle.

American Motors has been existing on 3 per cent and less market penetration and even giant Chrysler survived through the early 1960s with as little as 6 per cent of the market.

Though there will no American mini-cars introduced this fall along with the regular 1969 model introductions, there's a chance both Ford and General Motors will trot out their fight-the-imports versions around

March, April or May of 1969 as mid-year introductions.

Ford has been working for about two years on a model it has code-named the Delta which is considerably smaller than the Falcon, and built on a 104-inch wheelbase which will make it larger than most imports.

General Motors is working on a car with a target of selling it in direct price competition with the Volkswagens, which means around $1,700.

South America Suffers Under Extended Drought

By STEVEN H. YOLEN

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—As if most Latin American nations didn't have enough troubles fighting chronic unemployment, overpopulation and inflation, 1968 has brought an extra burden to many of them—drought.

Nine countries, in an arc extending from Puerto Rico in the Caribbean down the continent's west coast and then across the Andes to the southern Atlantic, have suffered incalculable losses to agriculture and related industries. The rainless days seem to bring but one harvest—human suffering.

The drought has affected Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay.

The drought areas alternate with wet areas in a curious meteorological pattern. While Argentina and Uruguay, usually wet areas, are parched this year, Brazil's normally dry northeast has an abundance of rain. And sandwiched between Venezuela's dry areas and Ecuador's drought-stricken Andean region is Colombia, with no lack of rain at all.

But lack of rain has been particularly cruel to Ecuador, Peru and Chile. The extremely dry weather in the Peruvian southwest has caused mass population migration to the cities, already overcrowded with squatter shanty towns. The government recently purchased 20,000 tons of rice from Red China to help offset the food shortage.

Here is a country-by-country rundown of the Latin American drought situation, as compiled by UPI bureaus throughout the continent.

—Argentina: Rains in mid-June saved the country's important wheat crop from ruin just in time, but five provinces—Buenos Aires, Cordoba, Entre Rios, Santa Fe and Rio Negro—are still declared emergency areas by the government and special loans are available for farmers. Experts still fear the country's estimated 55 million cattle, providing the chief export of meat, may be endangered by an early hard frost this winter starting in July. Argentine cattlemen do not stockpile feed for the winter, letting herds graze instead, and an early freeze would destroy the little grazing grass remaining after months of drought.

—Chile: Rains and snow also fell in Chile's parched central region north of Santiago in mid-June for the first time this year, but was not enough to do much good for small farmers in the area. The government is considering slaughtering another 40,000 head of cattle in area if it does not rain more, rather than let them starve.

—Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico: Drought in these two neighboring Caribbean islands has caused similar losses in both—primarily to cattle and sugar cane. In the Dominican Republic, which is still trying to recover economic stability since the disruptive 1965 civil war, the heavy losses to sugar—the country's chief dollar earner abroad—are acutely felt.

Puerto Rico's dry south coast has been declared an emergency area by U.S. President Lyndon Johnson and is eligible for federal loans. The drought is considered to be three years old here and has hastened the decline of the sugar industry, formerly the island's most prosperous. San Juan has been rationing water for more than four months.

—Ecuador: Losses so far in the disastrous drought have been incalculable. The southeastern border province of Loja near Peru is now described as a desert. A large portion of the population, mainly Indian tenant farmers, are said to be near starvation and the government has been distributing emergency food rations. Water trucks call regularly at isolated communities.

—Peru: The same conditions affecting Ecuador are also hitting Peru, particularly in the northern districts, where cotton, rice and sugar cane crops—three of the country's most important exports—have been nearly wiped out. An estimated 5 million of Peru's 12 million persons are living in the drought areas. Losses to cotton and rice alone were estimated by Foreign Minister Oswaldo Herccles at $25 million. The government is providing emergency relief for hard pressed farmers.

—Paraguay: Lack of rain has plagued various parts of landlocked Paraguay for the past year, with the worst effects in the country's eastern section where the Mennonite farming colony is located. The situation is not considered serious and rains since March have helped. Nevertheless, the cotton production this year was down 15 per cent.

—Uruguay: The drought conditions were alleviated in part by the same rains that saved Argentina's wheat.

—Venezuela: The southern plains often alternate from year to year between wetness and drought. This year is dry. The major losses have been to cattle. The government has not officially estimated losses this year, but they are believed to be well into the millions.

Twenty years ago, Thomas E. Dewey, then governor of New York, won his second Republican presidential candidacy as the result of vigorous campaigning for delegates over a four-year period. He was the GOP standard-bearer in 1944, but with little chance of defeating incumbent Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dewey devoted most of his campaign that year to lining up delegates for later on.

The then New York governor devoted much of his time to helping political leaders with their local candidates. During that time, he had political IOU's all over the country. He called the IOU's in 1948 and handily won the Republican designation.

Nixon has followed the same course in many respects. For the past several years, he has worked with GOP leaders on local campaigns and the all-important fund-raising affairs. He has a few IOU's.

Humphrey is in a similar position. For the past four years, he has worked with Democratic leaders and it will be the leaders who will control or influence a majority of the party's national convention delegates.

Nixon and the vice president have been making the customary pre-convention speeches, holding their powerful ammunition for the main fight in November. On the other hand, Rockefeller and McCarthy have been making what are known as post-convention speeches.

McCarthy and Rockefeller hope that by playing the "people game" they will be able to influence public opinion polls and that the political leaders and the delegates will take their cue from the surveys.

It has not worked that way in the past and the old reliable method has been the "delegates game."

Daniel P. O'Connell, Albany County Democratic chairman, once summed up the workings of a political convention for Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. The convention was about to nominate a candidate for governor when FDR Jr. got the idea he might like to make a fight for it. He came to O'Con-

Hopes to Interest Negroes In Naval Officer Careers

By DONALD H. MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Negro Navy pilot, veteran of 65 Vietnam combat missions, has been traveling about the United States trying to interest promising young Negroes in naval officer careers.

The Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs this year sent 13 of its Negro cadets to Detroit, Washington, Kansas City, Dallas, Nashville and other cities to visit schools, appear on television and talk to civic groups in an effort to increase Negro enrollment in the academy.

The Defense Department last year sent out 19,000 letters to schools, colleges and community leaders, explaining the opportunities that exist in the officer ranks of all the armed forces for all races.

These are some of the steps the armed services are taking to try to make the statistical reality of Negro officer enrollment catch up with the policy of equal opportunity which President Harry Truman proclaimed for the military services in 1948.

Service Figures

In 1967, 3.4 per cent of Army officers (including warrant) were Negroes. Figures for the other services were: Air Force, 1.8 per cent; Marines, seven tenths of 1 per cent, and Navy, three tenths of 1 per cent. Negroes then comprised about 11 per cent of the U.S. population. Enlisted men more closely mirrored the population in 1967—Army 12.1 per cent; Air Force 10.4 per cent; Marines 10.3 per cent.

Navy Cmdr. Reeves R. Taylor says the Navy's low showing in both areas is due in large part to the Navy's "image." In 1945, 95 per cent of Navy Negro enlisted men were stewards. Now 5 per cent are stewards. But the image persists.

Taylor, 39, a Negro Annapolis graduate who flew 65 Vietnam missions from the carrier Constellation, has been trying for the past year to do something about this image.

Heading a "minority officer recruiting" program in the Bureau of Naval Personnel, he has traveled to 36 predominantly Negro colleges. He has gotten 50 other Negro Navy officers to make recruiting trips to 300 colleges which contain some Negroes.

In All Fields

"So many people tell me 'I've never seen a Negro naval officer,'" Taylor says. The Navy had no Negro officers in 1917; 194 in 1962 and 330 in 1968. They are in all fields, with the largest concentrations in the "line," aviation and medical ranks. Tables show the time it takes for them to travel up the promotion ladder is the same for white officers.

Yet Lt. Carlos C. Campbell, who works with Cmdr. Taylor, says he is continually amazed to find "educated people who don't know the Navy has changed." He suggests a contributing cause: "Some presidents of Negro colleges used to be Navy stewards."

Cmdr. Taylor believes his program is beginning to show measurable results. In fiscal year 1967, 47 Negroes were given Navy commissions through all channels. In fiscal 1968 some 136 were expected to be commissioned, more than double the previous year.

L. Howard Bennett, a former Minneapolis Municipal Court judge and now Defense Department civil rights director, has been working with the problem since 1964. That was the year the department launched efforts to attract more members of minority races to all officer programs, particularly the service academies—West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy.

"We started with the academy," Bennett said, "because of their prestigious, symbolic value. We felt the way to interest Negro youth in service careers was to demonstrate their presence at the academy."

Maj. John Blanton, assistant candidate adviser at the Air Force Academy, told UPI reporter Lester C. Kjos that the school continually seeks outstanding minority group students from sources such as national scholarship lists.

The entering class at the Air Force Academy this summer was expected to contain some 24 Negroes out of 1,250 entering students, compared with one out of 772 in the class entering in 1960. Fifty-three Negroes were expected to be "on board" in all of the academy's four classes during the coming year, compared with six "on board" in 1964.

This year's entering class at Annapolis was expected to have 13 Negroes among 1,375 new plebes, with a total of 31 Negroes "on board" in all classes compared with four in 1964.

High Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Comic middle-aged sentimentalists, books that once sold for 10 cents but mostly teen-agers. Howard Rogofsky, 21, said he sold a 1939 first edition Marvel Mystery for $330. Glenn Farley, 15, said, "I like to read old comic books. You in attendance since Thursday get to know what people liked, have been editors, cartoonists, what they said then."

There were 30 Negroes studying at West Point last year, and about nine were expected to enter among 1,250 new cadets this summer.

Judge Bennett singled out the Marine Corps for progress in minority recruiting, increasing from 65 Negro officers in 1965 to 165 in 1967.

But Bennett also looks at other figures which show the enormity of the problem:

In 1962 the Air Force had 106,692 officers, of whom 1,320 or 1.2 per cent were Negro. In 1967 the Air Force had 136,667 officers, of whom 2,417 or 1.8 per cent were Negro. In other words, it nearly doubled its number of Negro officers. But the percentage changed by only six tenths of 1 per cent.

Double Problem

"We have," Bennett said, "the twin problems of the deficiencies of education to which Negroes have been subjected historically in this country, and the paucity of cultural experience" resulting from segregation and poverty.

The service schools have high standards. Moreover, schools such as Harvard and Yale compete energetically for the brightest young Negro talent.

Bennett said the solutions must be found in overcoming "lack of awareness" in the Negro community of the opportunities to be found in the service academies.

Local Members Attend 53rd Kiwanis Parley

Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacIsaac and Mr. and Mrs. John McCullough, all of Kingston, attended the 53rd annual convention of Kiwanis International held recently at the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, Canada.

The four members, representing the Kingston Kiwanis Club, joined over 25,000 Kiwanians from clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Western Europe, the Caribbean, the Far East and Central and South America.

James M. Moler of Charles Town, W. Va., president of Kiwanis International, presided over the three-day event which featured speeches by such notables as ABC news commentator Paul Harvey, Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and W. Ross Thatcher, premier of Saskatchewan Province.

The convention included election of officers for Kiwanis International for 1968-69.

Congress Shows Interest In Federal Reserve

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A temptation to involve itself in the affairs of the Federal Reserve Board, that semiautonomous group that steers the nation's monetary policy, may be growing stronger in Congress.

The consequences could be far-reaching, for the board in economic and financial affairs is something like the Supreme Court in law.

Its role, as it has been acted out, is to watch the economy and keep it in line—by raising or lowering basic interest rates, for example—regardless of the feelings of even so important a man as the President.

Over the years it has built a reputation as a severe and sometimes gloomy group not to be trifled with by Congress or anyone else. And so long as it didn't violate the laws, Congress couldn't move quickly against it.

Control Laws

However, Congress does control the laws under which the Fed acts, and it is now considering changes in them.

One measure would have the Fed release billions of dollars into the housing market when a lack of funds threatens a downturn in activity.

This proposal already has been called by Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin, a man who shuns publicity but wins it nevertheless with colorful phrases, "a prostitution of the fundamental functions of the bank."

Meanwhile, Congress is also digesting a report from the Joint Economic Committee that suggests the establishment of guidelines for the Fed in its role of money supplier. The permissible yearly increase would be 2 to 6 per cent.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., committee chairman and often a critic of Fed activities, readily states that the report "breaks sharply with Congress' traditional 'hands off' the Fed."

There may be a clue to future events in that phrase, for some critics feel the independence of the board has been damaging to the nation's economy. Congress could change the laws; its hand could become heavier than in the past.

This is a long and sometimes interesting past. In 1913 the Federal Reserve was set up as a central bank to give the nation an elastic currency, one that would expand and contract with activity, and to supervise the banking system.

This is a long and sometimes interesting past. In 1913 the Federal Reserve was set up as a central bank to give the nation an elastic currency, one that would expand and contract with activity, and to supervise the banking system.

Originally the secretary of the Treasury was chairman of the board, and so chances of a conflict with the executive branch were unlikely. But in 1935 the Treasury representation was removed.

As the years went by it was recognized that the basic aims of the Reserve Board involved it also in other affairs of state. And in 1946, when it became an official goal of economic policy to seek maximum employment consistent with a balanced economy, the Fed's role became even more complex.

In handling the nation's monetary affairs, the Fed's objectives now are: Maximum sustainable economic growth, reasonable price stability, maximum practicable employment and equilibrium in international payments.

Eventually in carrying out these objectives the Fed was bound to differ with Congress and the President. And on Dec. 2, 1965, there developed a confrontation with Lyndon Johnson. The President was spending commercially profitable air-craft, Maxwell explained. But Boeing has caught up with the problem and things are going satisfactorily now, he said.

Representatives of airlines that made downpayments on 122 SSTs with Boeing will meet with officials of the aircraft firm next Tuesday to review the situation, Maxwell said.

Maxwell said another widespread misconception regarding what he called recurrent false reports from abroad that the Franco-British SST, the Concorde, is in trouble.

He said these reports, apparently originating from sources opposed to the Concorde, hurt the U.S. project because they give a false sense of leadership

It's amazing, but many people around here, including some in the Congress, don't think the Concorde is for real," Maxwell said.

Super Plane in Good Shape Despite Cutting of Funds

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the supersonic transport (SST) program says the project is in good shape despite House action in not appropriating funds for the big plane for the upcoming fiscal year.

In fact, the funds were left out because SST program planners didn't want the money, Air Force Maj. Gen. J. C. Maxwell said in an interview. Maxwell is director of the SST program for the Federal Aviation Administration.

"This decision against seeking money requested earlier was not forced down our throat; we took this position on our own without being told," Maxwell said about the House last week leaving SST funds out of the Transportation Department's $1.35 billion budget.

"It may be hard to believe, sort of like a Grimm's fairy tale, that we did not want more money, but that is the situation," Maxwell stated.

Although no new money is provided for the SST, the program will have available $186 million previously appropriated but not used.

Maxwell said this is sufficient to keep the program going while Boeing Co., prime contractor for the SST, submits new designs for the 1,000-mile-an-hour plane.

The plane, as originally designed, wouldn't have performed well enough to insure a

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 8, the 190th day of 1968. There are 176 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1853, an American expedition headed by Commodore Matthew Perry arrived in Yokohama Harbor to try to establish U.S. relations with Japan.

On this date:

In 1822, the English poet, Percy Shelley, drowned when his boat capsized in the Gulf of Spezia in Italy.

In 1835, the Liberty Bell at Independence Hall in Philadelphia cracked as it was being rung during the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall.

Peace Conference in France.

In 1940, the government of Norway moved to London after 62 days of fierce fighting against Nazi invaders.

In 1944, U.S. forces captured the Island of Saipan from the Japanese in the Pacific War.

In 1950, Gen. Douglas MacArthur was appointed United Nations commander in the Korean War.

Foes Picture McCarthy Lacking In Leadership

By RAYMOND M. LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's campaign reports are eagerly circulating reports that Democratic national convention delegates are raising questions about Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's qualifications for the presidency.

These questions have haunted the Minnesota senator since he began his campaign for the presidential nomination seven months ago, sounding like a reluctant dragon. They will continue to bother him up to the convention seven weeks ahead. They grow out of his failure to become a driving force in Congress during his 20 years in the House and Senate or to achieve much national recognition before the 1968 presidential primaries. The primary campaigns and the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy left him the only major challenger to Humphrey for the Democratic nomination. McCarthy's campaign speeches have made it easy to see what he is against, such as the Vietnam War, the priorities and methods of the Johnson administration. It has not been so easy to see what he is for in terms of detailed solutions to the problems he lists. It also has been easy to forget that Humphrey and McCarthy, then political allies in Minnesota, were elected to Congress on the same day in 1948.

Humphrey's early years in the Senate were marked more by talk than accomplishment until Lyndon B. Johnson became party floor leader. He drew the then fiery liberal into the Senate's inner circle and persuaded him that half a loaf was sometimes better than none. Humphrey was assistant Democratic leader of the Senate when he was elected vice president. McCarthy joined him in the Senate in 1959. He was popular and respected for his intelligence, but never regarded as one who aspired to lead. The skeptics and his critics are still asking what kind of president McCarthy would be.

Tools of Modern Science May Help Fulfill Dream

By RALPH DIGHTON
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Man's age-old desire to see an atom may be fulfilled in a year or so.

Two of the sharpest tools of modern science—the electron microscope and the computer—have been teamed up in a project to make this incredibly tiny building block of all matter visible for the first time.

First goal of the project is to unlock the secret of genes, the living blueprints of heredity which may enable biologists someday to control evolution. If successful the same technique would tell physicists more about nuclear energy, the key to a long-promised Golden Age of almost limitless power.

Electron microscopes, capable of magnifying 500,000 times compared with the 1,000-magnification of microscopes using light, have already probed deep into complex molecules, showing how each is made up of thousands of atoms.

But the sharpest electron microscope image yet photographed does not quiet get down to the ultimate: the atom. Structures less than five atoms in diameter simply do not show up.

Technique Under Way
A technique for seeing better in the microcosmos of the very small is under study at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Dr. Robert Nathan, the scientist who worked out a way to use computers to improve spacecraft pictures of the moon and Mars, plans to link computers with electron microscopes and thus photograph a single atom.

"What we are doing now is studying the feasibility of such a technique," Nathan said in an interview, "building the hooks ups between the computer, the electron microscope and the camera."

"We expect to have much of this done in six months or so, and then we can get on with the proving of methods and actual research. It's always hard to

The reason optical microscopes can't see an atom is that light waves are too blunt. The distance from trough to crest, Nathan says, is about half a micron. A micron is a microscopic unit of measure in the metric system and there are one million of them in a meter, which is about 40 inches.

There is an even smaller unit of measure, known as the angstrom. An angstrom is one ten-thousandth of a micron. Nathan figures the size of an atom as about one angstrom, so a light wave is thousands of times thicker than an atom. An atom couldn't begin to reflect anything as big as a light wave.

But electrons are different. They are parts of atoms—they are the energetic particles which whirl around the nucleus of an atom. An atom can reflect a beam of electrons and so, theoretically, should be photographable by cameras sensitive to electrons instead of light.

Electron microscopes haven't yet been able to photograph an atom, Nathan says, because stains used to provide contrast between various structures in a molecule also cause distortion. The stain spreads among the atoms, blocking too many of the electrons and making the image fuzzy. If no stain were used, the true structure or at least the shape of the atom should become apparent.

Some of the best electron images made so far are of genes, long strings of deoxyribonucleic acid, DNA, in the nucleus of cells and viruses. These strings are believed to be entwined in double-spiral form in living tissue but in laboratory tests they flatten out like chains of beads, tossed on a dresser top.

Atoms Strung Together

The beads in the chain are believed to be atoms strung together in a coded sequence, or biological blueprint, which determines what functions each cell performs. The exact pattern of atoms along the chain has never been determined but Nathan hopes he can find a way to do just that with images sharp enough to show each single of atom.

Eventually this would help scientists trying to string atoms together artificially in such a way that they can direct the function of cells and thus control what a man will be and what his offspring will be.

"That's quite a way down stream, however," Nathan says. "Much sooner than that, I think, will come an ability to control disease and aging. That's how I got into this research, through an interest in aging. Certainly the secret of disease and aging must lie in the individual cell and how well it functions, and a better look at the DNA which controls the cell will help."

He knows a great deal about computers, an interest he developed in trying to improve pictures televised by Ranger moon-impact vehicles in 1964.

Nathan saw that unwanted "noise"—the scientists' word for static was mingling with the signals from the spacecraft and distorting their pictures. He developed an intricate process using a computer to filter out the static.

Here's how it works: Signals from spacecraft cameras come in as numbers, with low numbers representing light shades of gray and higher numbers standing for darker shades of gray.

Nathan stores these numbers in sequence on magnetic tape and feeds the tape into a computer. Then he instructs the computer to pick out streaks of function of cells and thus control what a man will be and what his offspring will be. "That's quite a way down stream, however," Nathan says. "Much sooner than that, I think, will come an ability to control

Kingston Daily Freeman Readers: Special INTRODUCTORY OFFER brings you as much as $10,000.00 EXTRA CASH INCOME WHENEVER YOU GO TO THE HOSPITAL

- ★ PAYS IN ADDITION TO ANY OTHER COVERAGE YOU HAVE ★ Pays $100.00-A-WEEK CASH for each week you
- ★ No age limit—no medical examination required spend in the hospital...even up to 100 weeks
- ★ Checks are sent directly to you; money may be used any way you see fit

Act Now—GET FIRST MONTH'S PROTECTION FOR ONLY $1

(OR $2 FOR YOUR ENTIRE FAMILY.) THEN YOU MAY CONTINUE AT WORLD MUTUAL'S REGULAR LOW RATES.

Money back in full if not 100% satisfied. No age limit—Apply NOW by date shown in Enrollment Form below.

ONE OUT OF TWO FAMILIES will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family, tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have TRIPLED in just a few short years. They are expected to DOUBLE AGAIN in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly but necessary X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stops, but living expenses go right on—rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop? What is the average bread winner to do?

Now you can receive $100.00 a week tax-free cash, from the very first day you enter the hospital for as long as you are confined there—even for 100 full weeks, if necessary!

This new plan relieves you of worry about the terrible financial threat of accident or illness. But you must apply during this limited enrollment period BEFORE the date shown in your coupon below.

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON Only $1 for First Month—Money-Back Guarantee

To encourage you to see how much this Plan can mean to you and your family, we make this unusual, money-saving offer:

You can now have your first month's protection for only one dollar! But, you must act immediately, because this unusual opportunity is offered for a limited time. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on your convenient form below NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT, of the date in the Enrollment Form.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY Exclusions!

The new World Mutual Plan covers every conceivable kind of sickness and accident except, of course, hospitalization caused by the use of alcoholic beverages or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; act of war; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 3 years only); or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else IS covered.

How can $1 buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But World Mutual can now provide you with $100.00 a week tax-free Income Protection for just $1 the first month ONLY BECAUSE WE ENROLL A NUMBER OF PEOPLE AT ONE TIME—direct by mail! This highly efficient

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with The World Mutual Plan in addition to what "Medicare" will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you will still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or any other health insurance you may have.

Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you, to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most—to help pay any bills you choose. Best of all, your World Mutual protection will pay even for 100 weeks, if necessary!

"mass enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone. We are able to issue thousands of policies in a few short weeks—rather than spread the procedure over many long months—or even a year. Our overhead and processing expenses are reduced drastically—and the savings are passed on to you!

After your first month's protection, you may continue at World Mutual's regular low monthly rates—and the rate you pay now will never be increased because you grow older!

What Would Happen To Your Family?

The chances are one in seven that you will spend some time in the hospital this year. A fall on the stairs, in the bathtub, or on the sidewalk—a sudden illness or operation—could lay you up for weeks, months, perhaps even years.

Right now, you probably have some hospital coverage. You may think you're "safe" from all the financial burdens of sickness and accident. But hospital coverage usually takes care of only part of your expenses.

Can you afford the soaring costs of doctor, surgical, and nursing bills? Can you afford missing your weekly paycheck during the time you're laid up in the hospital? Even though you probably have some protection now—will it be enough? Sickness, accidents, hospitalization, cost many people their savings, their cars, even their homes. Don't take chances with your financial security. Now for only pennies a day, YOU can enjoy the added protection, the peace of mind, the freedom from worry that this new World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Extra Income Health and Accident Plan WNL-1-667 offers.

The Added Protection You NEED!

All benefits of this World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your other insurance! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctors' bills, mortgage payments—or any necessary but costly extras not fully covered by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all the bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why World Mutual developed low-cost Income Protection that helps you pay either hospital costs or anything else you need or want!

You get your $100.00 per week ($14.28 per day)—TAX FREE—from your first day in the hospital, and as long as you are confined there, even for 100 weeks, if necessary.

For Older Folks—Greater Protection Than You Ever Would Have Thought Possible!

Right now, would advancing age prevent you from getting hospital insurance, or income protection with another company? Or if you could get a policy elsewhere, would you have to pay a big premium for it? Or perhaps you no longer have a regular income, and are living on Social Security. What would happen to you then if you had to suddenly go to a hospital?

Your "life saver" could be this wonderful World Mutual Income Protection Plan—because World Mutual welcomes folks of all ages into its Plan. You can even be OVER 100 and still be eligible!

Can You Afford to Miss This Chance?

Now, at less cost than you may ever have thought would be possible, you can set up a "gold mine" of protection from desperate financial straits if the need arises. Thanks to this unique new Plan, you can assure the solid, substantial protection you need—and not only save money, but assure yourself of other benefits, too, during all the years to come.

Our Famous MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

We are so sure that we offer the best protection at the lowest cost, that we make our famous MONEY-BACK guarantee.

When you send for your policy, and it arrives in your hands, we want you to look it over as carefully and as often as you wish. See how thoroughly it protects you. See how exactly it meets the needs that you want covered. See how here, at last, is the policy that makes it possible for you to get the sickness and accident protection you need, in greater measure than ever before!

If you are not 100% satisfied that your policy is exactly what we have promised it to be, and exactly what YOU want it to be—send the policy back to us within 30 days and we will REFUND YOUR MONEY IN FULL, AT ONCE. But meanwhile you will be protected. And, if you decide to continue this wonderful protection, you may do so at the low rate shown below—a rate which will never be raised because you grow older!

World Mutual Plans Are Nationally Known

This money-saving World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan truly offers outstanding value. Here's why: You can buy ordinary insurance from most companies at regular rates all year long. They are happy to issue one policy at a time. But World Mutual issues many new policies at one time during a limited enrollment period.

This "mass enrollment" method keeps our underwriting, processing and all other overhead expenses down to a bare minimum—and these savings are passed on to you!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Only $1 for First Month—
Unconditional Money Back Guarantee

To introduce you to this new Plan, we make you this unusual offer: Act during this enrollment period and get your first month's protection for only one dollar (only $2 for your entire family)!

Simply fill out your enrollment form here and mail it with just $1 (or $2 for the entire family), before midnight, of the date within the coupon. A full month's protection will go into effect on the same day we accept your enrollment form. Your policy will be sent to you right away BY MAIL.

When you get your policy, examine all its benefits and features. Have it checked, if you wish, by your lawyer, doctor, clergyman, or other trusted adviser. If you are not 100% satisfied, return the policy within 30 days and your money will be refunded. If you decide to continue this worthwhile protection, you may do so at the low rates as follows for each member:

World Mutual Monthly Renewal Rates

| Age at Enrollment | Monthly Premium |
|-------------------|-----------------|
| 0-39              | only $3.95     |
| 40-54             | only $4.95     |
| 55-64             | only $5.95     |
| 65-74             | only $6.95     |
| 75 and over       | only $9.25     |

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next! Once you have enrolled in this World Mutual plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

The reliable company behind your policy

Your policy is guaranteed by the World Mutual Health and Accident Insurance Company of Pennsylvania. We have been helping families safeguard their security with sound insurance protection for more than 47 years. Our rating by Dunne's Insurance Reports, the world's largest policyholders' reporting service, is A+ (Excellent). This is the highest rating any insurance company can reach.

As for our financial position, Dunne's analysis shows that for each $100.00 of liabilities, World Mutual has assets of $134.54. This is higher than the 5-year average of the 15 largest insurance companies in the country, which have assets of $107.62 for each $100.00 of liabilities. In addition to this ample margin of financial safety, you can count on us to handle your claims fairly and promptly when you are hospitalized. World Mutual has paid claims in every state and in many foreign countries as well.

Act NOW—"Later" May Be TOO Late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. It's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 20 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell us how World Mutual's $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

- How much will this policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
$100.00 per week.
- When will my hospitalization benefits start?
The day you enter the hospital.
- Will I be paid if I am in the hospital for less than a full week?
Yes. This new plan pays whether you are in the hospital for only a day, or a week, a month, or a year!
- Does this policy have any "waiting periods" before I can use it?
No. It will go into force on the same day we accept your completed enrollment form and $1 premium (or $2 for your entire family).
- How long will I continue to receive hospitalization benefits?
For every day you are in the hospital to a maximum of 100 weeks, as a result of any one accident or illness.
- Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
After you have resumed full normal activities for just six months, you are again eligible for benefits for a recurring condition, to a maximum of 100 weeks. And of course, any new condition would be covered immediately!
- How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you!
- Can I collect from World Mutual even if I carry other insurance?
Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare, for folks over 65.
- Why do I need this World Mutual Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will require hospital care this year—and you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your World Mutual checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit!
- May I apply if I am over 65?
Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit!
- Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
No. World Mutual guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
- Will benefits be reduced because of advanced age?
No. Regardless of how old you become or how many claims you have, your benefits remain the same.
- Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. World Mutual guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state!
- What is not covered by this policy?
The only conditions not covered are those caused by: the use of alcohol or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 3 years only); act of war; or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else is covered!
- What are the requirements for membership in this World Mutual Plan?
You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must apply before midnight of the date in the coupon.
- Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy insurance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
- Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining World Mutual during this enrollment period?
Yes. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
- Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 15.
- How does the money-back guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 30 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!
- How do I join?
Fill out your brief enrollment form (be sure to sign your name) and mail it, with just $1 for the first month's protection. ($2 covers your entire family.) Mail to: World Mutual, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

SUPERVISORS — Keeping over 100 children happy and entertained for an entire summer day is a job that requires patience, imagination, and ability. Hutton Park's three counselors, (L-R), James Cannet, Sheila Barnes and Debbie Crescino are among the 28 young people selected by the Parks and Recreation Department to supervise the activities and events that will take place at the seven city parks this summer. In addition to leading the children in a variety of games and contests, the supervisors meet with Recreation Department officials once a week to report on the weeks activities at their parks and to suggest improvements in the overall program. ## Historic Site Chief Ulster Unit Speaker

William G. Tyrrell, chief of the National Trust for the Historic Sites Management for the New York State Historic Sites, will be guest speaker at the Ulster County Historical Society meeting on Saturday, July 13 at 2:30 p. m. at the Beaver House in Kingston.

Tyrrell is the author and co-author of several books and articles dealing with the history of New York State, and is a member of the American Association for State and Local History.

BOCES Elects New Trustees

Joseph Foley, Dr. William Hagney, and Dr. George Sullivan, all of Ulster County, were elected to the Board of Trustees of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center at its annual membership meeting held at New Paltz State University recently.

The meeting also included status reports, films and slides and discussions on the various problems that the Center has encountered over the past year. The Center's major function is to develop innovative educational programs for funding under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The Center is administered by the U. S. Office of Education and the State Education Department.

In addition to the three Ulster men, 12 others were elected to the Board of Trustees from five counties in the area.

Attending the meeting were representatives of various school districts, cultural agencies, and nonpublic schools.

Hutton Park -- Hit With All Ages

By JON POWERS

With the exception of Forsyth, Hutton Park, is perhaps, the city's most attractive. Located off Sherman Street near the East Chester Street by-pass, is also one of Kingston's smallest and most compact playground facilities. Hutton comprises almost 10 acres of fields, wooded areas and grassy lawns and boasts much of the same equipment and projects as the other six city parks.

Because of its centralized location, Hutton will be the site of many of the intrapark events that are to take place during the summer. On Independence Day, it was the site of the city checker championships—the first city-wide park tournament of the summer—and it was attended by the 28 girl and boy representatives from each of the city parks.

Hutton, like the other six playgrounds, is staffed and supervised by three counselors whose responsibility it is to organize games and activities, serve as lifeguards at the wading pool, and to safeguard the children from accidents and personal injury. The counselors also act as liaisons between the park and the Recreation Department, suggesting new events and activities and helping to organize field trips, clinics, and intrapark tournaments. In addition, they accompany the registered children in their park on trips to local areas of interest such as the Freeman office and the city Courthouse and Jail every week.

Complete Facilities
Hutton's facilities are as complete as those of any other city park. Probably the most popular item, and especially on these hot summer days, is the wading pool, which can accommodate up to 30 children at one time and which is used by almost 100 throughout the day. The wading pool measures about 30 feet in diameter and has a depth of one foot. It is hand filtered and cleaned and is periodically checked by the County Health Department for the presence of harmful bacteria.

In addition to the wading pool, Hutton is equipped with swings, teeter boards and climb-abouts. A shuffleboard court, handball court, and basketball court, as well as two tennis courts and a softball field provide the children at Hutton with a variety of recreational opportunities.

There is also a small picnic pavilion and tree-shaded picnic area at the park, which can be used either by the children at the park or by groups and organizations for their own private outings. In past years group picnics, clambakes, and fairs have been held at Hutton's beautiful facilities.

One of the most noteworthy aspects of Hutton Park is the fact that there are no heavily used streets in the area. Parents can be assured that their children are not in danger of wandering into the traffic. For those parents who are hesitant about sending their children to one of the parks during the summer, their doubts are unfounded. Parks Superintendent Andrew J. Murphy III has organized the most complete and entertaining summer program in recent years. There should be no doubts about the competence of the supervisors either. Each was carefully selected and many have had previous experience in working with children of all ages.

Hutton Park is open daily from Monday through Friday from 9:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. with supervision, but its facilities may be used at any time during the day or week by the public. The summer program at Hutton, as well as for all the city parks, is open to youngsters of all ages, although the games and amusements that are provided are designed for ages 14 and under.

YMCA Accepting Applicants for Camping Trips

The YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County is still accepting applications for its summer camping tours for boys and girls 12-16.

The program is under the direction of William Widholm and John Philips. Both men are area school teachers and have had a total of 25 years camping experience.

The first trip is a caravan trip to Florida for July 12-Aug. 2. The second trip will be a bicycle trip to Cape Cod, Mass., and Nantucket Island from Aug. 5 to Aug. 17. The third trip will be by canoe in the Adirondack State Park Aug. 19-27. The bicycle and canoe trips are limited to boys.

At present 13 boys and girls from the Kingston area have signed up for the trips. They are Karen Sondak, Beth Riley, Beth Newman, Barbara Jacobs, Beth Goldbaum, Evelyn Fox, Joyce Fredericks, John Riley, William Mullany, Terry Allred, James Dennington, Erick Collins and James McGuire. This group will be joined by a group from Wappingers Falls where John Philips is a teacher.

Traffic Is Up On Hudson Spans

The Kingston - Rhinecliff Bridge reported that 950,290 autos used its facilities during the six-month period ending June 30, 1968, an increase of 36,394 over the same six-month period in 1967.

Revenue taken in during this past six-month period amounted to $251,904.25 an increase of $7,488.25 over the corresponding 1967 period.

During June of 1968, 1,611 fewer autos traveled over the bridge as compared to June, 1967.

A total of 7,019,874 autos utilized the five bridges that cross the Hudson in the Catskill Mountain area. This represents an increase of over 550,000 vehicles over the same 1967 period. The Mid-Hudson Bridge, near Poughkeepsie, reported during the first half of 1968 with over 2 1/2 million

Patrick - Alsdorf Wedding Is Announced

The New Paltz Methodist Church was the setting on Saturday morning, June 15, for the marriage of Miss Argero Allison Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Patrick, and daughter of Mrs. Argero Patrick and the late Anthony Patrick, to Alfred Alsdorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alsdorf Sr. of New Paltz.

The bride wore an empire gown of white crepe. Her shoulder length tulle veil was attached to an organza bow. She carried a nosegay of white roses. Mrs. Anthony Oneto was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Katherine Negrelli and Barbara Roberts. They wore blue empire gowns and short tulle veils and carried nosegays of carnations with blue daisies.

The bride attended Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie, and was graduated from New Paltz Central High School. She will graduate from the State University College, New Paltz, in August. William Lohrman Jr. served as best man. Ushers were Anthony Patrick, brother of the bride, and Charles Alsdorf Jr., brother of the bridegroom.

Alsdorf was graduated from New Paltz Central High School and served in the U.S. Air Force. He is employed by IBM in Kingston. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Villa Lipani, New Paltz. The couple will reside at 27 Oak Street, Kingston.

MRS. MARK A. EDELMAN (Photo Workshop)

West Point Wedding Held Sunday, June 23

Miss Marilyn Anita Kirstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirstein of 4 McKinley Road, Marblehead, Mass., became the bride of Lieut. Mark Alan Edelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edelman of 102 Fairmont Avenue, Kingston, on Sunday, June 23, at the Old Cadet Chapel, West Point.

Rabbi Abraham Sotles, Jewish Chaplain, USMA, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported silk gown which featured a deep yoke, a high neckline and full length sleeves. The gown was styled with an empire waist and a chapel length train which was trimmed with seed pearls. Her headpiece of imported French illusion was accented with appliques of Alencon lace and edged with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of Stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Robert Grossman, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a full length gown styled with an empire waist in orange print chiffon and carried a cascade of white carnations.

Attendants were Miss Sharon Kirstein, sister of the bride; Miss Susan Kirstein, cousin of the bride, Miss Susan Brown and Mrs. Marc Goldberg. Their gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

Lieut. Steven Ader was best man. Ushers were Lieut. Robert Kelly, Lieut. Marvin Belasco, Lieut. Peter Sowa, Lieut. Harry Bennett, Lieut. Dan Kaufman, and Captain Steven Eigenberg.

After the wedding a reception for 190 guests was held at the Officer's Club.

The bride was graduated from Marblehead High School, R.I., and American Musical and Dramatic Academy. Her husband is an alumnus of Valley Central High School, Montgomery, and USMA, West Point, Class of 1968.

The couple will reside in Lynn, Mass., until the bridegroom reports for Army duty in August.

MRS. THOMAS W. FLUHR

Russett — Fluhr Wedding Announced

Miss Elizabeth Marie Russett of Ellenville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas G. Russett, was married Saturday, June 29, to Thomas Warren Fluhr of Thompson Ridge. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George C. V. Fluhr of New York City. The ceremony was performed in the Church of Saint Mary and Andrew at Ellenville by the Rev. John J. Budwick. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Edward Michael Russett.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of shell pink Chaharra crepe and chiffon accented above the waistline with a satin band edged with Paris pink. The flowing chiffon Watteau effect at the back was held by a similar two-toned satin band. Her shell pink veil fell from a cap of Paris pink roses and boys. She carried a European style bouquet of miniature white and pink carnations, pink roses, and white snowdrift pompons.

Mrs. Raymond Heter of Florida, N. Y., sister of the bride was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's niece, Catherine Lempka of Middletown; and Lydia Betz of Ellenville. Attending the bridegroom were his brother, George

L. Fluhr of Shohola, Pa., as best man; George Fluhr Jr. of New York, nephew of the bridegroom; and Joseph Pulido of Thompson Ridge.

Mrs. Albert Rode was at the organ, with Henri Vincent as soloist.

The bride was graduated as class valedictorian of Ellenville High School and has done graduate work in business and arts. Before her marriage she was an administrative assistant at the Roscoe office of the New York City Board of Water Supply.

Fluhr received his A.B. degree from Columbia College and earned his A.M. in geology from the graduate school at Columbia University. He is an engineering geologist and consultant.

Mrs. Fluhr is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brundage Gray and the late Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew Martin Russett of Leurenkill. She is a descendant of the Rev. Romanus Teller, a prominent Dutch Reformed clergyman and author in colonial New Amsterdam.

The couple are making their home in Thompson Ridge.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

We are in the eighth grade and taking home economics.

Recently when we made a quick bread loaf, our teacher gave us a hint.

Before the bread is put in the oven, put a lengthwise hollow down the middle. This prevents the loaf from rising too high in the center which causes excess cracking.

The bread will turn out rounder and easier to cut.

L and H

Dear Heloise:
You told us how you save the lid from a can and use it as a spoonholder when you are cooking to keep the top of the stove clean.

But I throw the lid away and use the can instead. The spoon handle is up, easy to grab, and it takes less space.

There's also less chance of food dripping on the stove.

GRANDMA

You're right. Thanks Grannie.

HELOISE

Dear Heloise:
I use my return address labels on all of my stationery. Saves the expense of printed stationery and places the return address in easy view for those who are answering my letters.

Mrs. D. ZWERNEMANN

Dear Heloise:
When my child has soup for lunch, I fold a paper towel lengthwise and tuck it into the pocket of his bib.

Mrs. D. BANNON

The paper soaks up any soup that's spilled and there's no puddle of soup to contend with later.

Mrs. B. ENG

Dear Heloise:
To mend broken porcelain vases, I use colored chalk crushed and mixed with white, milky glue. It's easy to match any color of vase with this mixture.

Mrs. E. OPLAND

Dear Heloise:
A music stand that can be lowered and raised is excellent to hold a dictionary for students. Every teacher should have one. It is also very handy to have next to your chair when working crossword puzzles.

PINEAPPLE YOGURT SALAD

Summer Treat: Pineapple Yogurt Salad

Slimming down for summer is made much simpler when you "indulge" in this delightfully cool and low calorie pineapple salad. Refreshing tidbits of the golden tropical fruit are molded in lemon gelatin with creamy yogurt and contrasting bits of crisp cucumber. A hint of dill highlights this luncheon salad which is a meal-in-itself.

Pineapple Yogurt Salad
1 (1-pound 4½-ounce) can pineapple tidbits ½ cup water
1 (6-ounce) package lemon gelatin
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dill weed
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 (8-ounce) containers plain yogurt
1 cup diced cucumber

Heat syrup drained from pineapple and water to boiling. Pour over gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Add salt, dill weed and lemon juice. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Blend in yogurt, diced cucumber and pineapple tidbits. Turn in 5½-cup mold. Chill several hours. Unmold. Garnish if desired with cucumber slices and pineapple tidbits. Makes 8 or more servings.

Speirs Pitches Braves to 8-2 Victory Over Florida

New Bride Wins by 3

Mrs. Berning Takes Women's Open Title

By ED MCFALL
READING, Pa. (UPI)—Susie Maxwell Berning got an old car and a different name seven weeks ago. Today she has $5,000 and a new title.

The 26-year-old bride, who felt heir to a 1912 Maxwell car when she was married, won the U. S. Women's Open golf championship by three strokes Sunday over four-time titleholder Mickey Wright with a final round of par 71 at the nearby Moseley Springs Golf Club.

The five-foot-three-inch pro from Incline Village, Nev., who led the field for all four days of the 72-hole tournament, refused to break under pressure and finished with a 289 total, five strokes over par.

Mrs. Berning, who was married May 18 but postponed a honeymoon to play on the tour, calmly shot sub par golf for 15 holes in the final round to stave off the challenge of Miss Wright and the agony of three bogeys on the last three holes.

Miss Wright, who had slipped back in the field after being one stroke back of Mrs. Berning in the opening round, made a charge with a course record 68.

When you want a great whisky, ask for it.

The Canadian Clubman's Code: Rule 3.

There's more than one Canadian whisky up there to choose from. So, when you want a really great whisky, just say, "Canadian Club, please."

That way you can't help but get the whisky that's bold enough to be lighter than them all.

Next time you're in a bar or restaurant, practice the Canadian Clubman's Code, Rule 3: when you want a great whisky, ask for it.

Kingston Braves backed Bob Speirs' six-hit pitching with three home runs to trounce the Florida Comets, 8-2, in a Hudson Valley American Legion Rookie League contest Sunday at JFK Memorial Park in Florida.

The win was the fifth in six starts for Manager Paul Giannuzzi's, who are 5-1 overall and 4-1 in first round play in the valley circuit.

Pete Watzka, Jerry Hawkins and Chick Boice slammed the Braves homers. Watzka's was a grand slam shot in the fifth inning.

Speirs didn't walk a batter and struck out two, while the locals collected nine hits off Joe Bayno and Mike Beattie.

The Braves return to Dietz Stadium Wednesday to meet the Newburgh Atoms at 8 p.m.

Pete Watzka had his best day of the season, knocking in four runs with a double and home run. The Boice and Hawkins homers were solo shots.

Bunch Four Hits

The Comets bunched four of their six hits to garner two runs and tie the score at 2-2 in the fourth inning. Speirs was in complete control in the other inning.

Braves tapped starter Bayno for two runs in the second inning, when Pete Watzka was safe on an error and scored on Chick Boice's grounder and Glenn Davis' single. Speirs hit batsman (Joe Schabot) set the stage for Watzka's grand slam blast in the fifth. The ball soared deep over the right centerfield fence. The shot put the Braves ahead, 6-2, and the sixth inning and send the score to 8-2.

Hawkins' blast sailed over the deepest sector of the centerfield fence, while Boice's shot zoomed over the left center barrier. It was easily the most impressive batting performance the league this season.

Boice added a single to his homer and Glenn Davis collected two singles, in addition making two great plays at home plate that cut off potential Florida runs.

Cornwall Keeps Lead

In other games, Cornwall Missiles retained their league lead with a 601 record as they defeated Wappingers Falls Ions, 8-2.

Middletown Explorers split two games, beating New Windsor Rockets, 6-2, and losing 2-0 to Wappingers Falls. Beacon Astros edged the New Windsor Rockets, 2-1.

Helmich Whiffs 17 In 2-2 Tie

Kingston Post American Legion tossers meet Lamour Hackett of Saugerties tonight at Dietz Stadium in the second game of their best-of-three county championship series. Kingston, leading 1-0, is expected to send Charlie Jones to the hill.

Pete Helmich permitted only four hits and fanned 17 in a brilliant 2-2, eight-inning tie in an exhibition with Blanchard Post of Albany last night at Dietz.

Jack Dalton of Albany also limited Kingston to four hits and whiffed 11.

The locals got single runs in the second and fourth and Albany tied with solos in the fifth and seventh. Neither team scored in the one extra inning played.

Kingston went ahead 1-0 in the second, when Mike Gorman singled with one out, advanced on a passed ball and scored on Rick Sorenson's single. After one out in the fourth, Mike Weishaupt and Gorman walked and Skip Lyons drove Weishaupt home with a double.

Three Kingston errors accounted for Albany's first run in the fifth. The tying run in the seventh was the result of a walk to Tom Arnstein and singles by Sean Egan and Eich Plais.

Helsmoortel Is 13-3 Met Victor

Helsmoortel Insurance bombarded McConkey Funeral Home's pitcher, Ed Pelham, for a half-dozzen first-inning runs and rolled from there to a 13-3 Met Division Saugerties Softball League triumph Friday night.

Doubles by John Bond, Sam Tesoriero and Mike Sommers highlighted the rally, and Tesoriero, the winning hurler, make them stand up neatly.

Two more runs came in on Dave Ellis' homer with a man on in the sixth, giving Ellis, as well as Sommers, three RBIs.

Tesoriero who had a no hitter for five frames struck out three and walked three in picking up his first win in four. It was Helsmoortel's second win against five losses. The loss sank the Funeralmen further into the cellar. They own a 1-10 chart.

You Win One--Steal One; All in Phil Regan's Day

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

They used to call Phil Regan "the vulture" but now it's about time to tag him "the thief."

Regan "stole" a victory from Ken Holtzman Sunday and wound up winning both ends of a doubleheader as the Chicago Cubs swept two games from the Pittsburgh Pirates by 5-4 and 4-3 margins.

Regan's victory in the second game was earned. He pitched two innings of scoreless relief and then doubled and scored the winning run with two out in the ninth on Don Kessinger's single.

But Regan's triumph in the first game was the result of his own ineptness. He was called on to protect Holtzman's 4-2 lead with two out and two on in the ninth—and promptly gave up two run-scoring singles that tied the game. But Regan retired Gary Kolb to end the inning—and became the winning pitcher when rookie Jose Arcia led off the bottom of the ninth by tagging reliever Bob Veale for his first major league homer.

Late Inning Victories

Regan was given the "vulture" tag by Sandy Koufax

when he recorded a 14-1 record for the Dodgers in 1966 by "swooping down" to get the victories in games that were tied in the late innings—and won by the Dodgers soon after he entered them.

Regan, who now has won both games of a doubleheader twice for the Cubs this season since being traded by the Dodgers, is 6-2.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis stretched its league lead to 10 games with a 2-0 victory over San Francisco. Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 6-5, Houston nipped Atlanta 5-4 and New York beat Philadelphia 4-2 after the Phils won the opener 4-3.

Regan, who's appeared in 39 games this season—33 with the Cubs—and has 10 saves with a 2.51 ERA in 65 innings, relieved Bills Hands after seven innings of the second game and the Cubs trailed 3-2. The Cubs tied the game in the eighth on Ernie Banks' run-scoring single and then won it in the ninth when Regan doubled with two out and scored on Kessinger's single off Roy Face.

Win Seventh Straight

The Cards, continuing to make a runaway of the race in their bid for a second straight National League pennant, got three-hit pitching from Larry Jaster and Ron Willis to beat Gaylor Perry. Curt Flood drove in Lou Brock with both runs as the Cards won their seventh straight.

Norm Miller led off the game with a homer and Jim Wynn added a three-run homer later in the first inning as the Astros topped Atlanta. Miller doubled and scored in the fourth to make it 5-0 and Hank Aaron then drove in all four Atlanta runs with four hits, including his 49th and 49th homers.

Richie Allen hit a three-run homer in the ninth inning to lift the Phils past the Mets in the first game but Ed Kranepool doubled in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of the second game and then scored on an error to give the Mets the triumph. Allen's homer came off Ron Taylor and handed the victory to Dick Hall.

Danny Frisella got the win in the nightcap with ninth inning relief help from two All-Star pitchers, Jerry Kosman and Tom Seaver.

Len Gabrielson's pinch single in the sixth inning scored Wes Parker with the tie-breaking run as the Dodgers broke a six-game losing streak by stopping the Reds. Parker had tripled off Clay Carroll, the losing pitcher who is 3-2. Jim Grant went 5-2-3 in the fifth game of the season and picked up the triumph.

King's, Ferroxcube Take Wins

Jamie Todaro pitched and batted King's Diner to a 10-3 upset victory over league-leader Ted's Esso in the Met Division and a pair of errors allowed Ferroxcube to score twice in the seventh inning, taking a 2-1 decision from Statewide Upholstery in the Yankee Division of the Saugerties Softball League, Wednesday.

Todaro hurled a six-hitter, and drove in three runs in leading the Dinermen to the upset. The victory gives the Dinermen and second-place Boo's a shot at the leaders. It was King's fourth win over Ted's in two years. King's is the only team to defeat Ted's all year.

In the other game, Frank Spinnewebber's triple, then a pair of wild throws with two away gave Ferroxcube the triumph and evened its record at 4-4. Gerry O'Leary homered in the bottom of that frame, but Jack Hillie, winning hurler, cut off the late bid by getting the final three outs.

Hurley Lions in 9-2 BRL Victory

The Hurley Lions came up with five runs in the third inning to snap a scoreless tie and went on to a 9-2 Babe Ruth League victory over Chidsey DeForest Friday.

The rally came on five singles, a trio of walks, two errors and a passed ball. The inning's output was good enough for the victory as winning pitcher Don Fisher, despite being in trouble in every frame, kept Chidsey off balance.

Fisher found himself working from the stretch in all but the final inning, but bore down each time to cut off potential rallies. Of Chidsey's seven hits, five were for extra bases, including Craig Struble's double and triple. Only one extra-base hit, a homer by Vic Nyalassy, out of eight safeties for the winners.

Tribe on Treadmill Chasing the Tigers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

QUESTION: When is a winner a loser?

ANSWER: When he's trying to catch the Detroit Tigers.

EXPLANATION: Cleveland, second in the American League, has won eight of its last 11 games; Detroit has won nine of 11. Third-place Baltimore has won five of seven; Detroit has taken six of seven.

Even the defending champion Boston Red Sox, currently on an eight-game winning streak that has vaulted them into fourth place, have managed to gain only one game in that stretch because the Tigers have won seven of eight.

Detroit used the long ball Sunday—three home runs, two triples and six doubles—to sweep a doubleheader from Oakland 5-4 and 7-6. Going into the three-day All-Star break, the Tigers lead Cleveland by 9½ games, Baltimore by 10½ and Boston by 11½.

The Indians beat California 8-3 but lost the nightcap 9-7. The Orioles rallied for a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees after dropping the first game 3-1.

Boston swept slumping Minnesota 4-3 and 6-3. In the lone single game, the Chicago White Sox edged Washington 4-3 in 11 innings.

It may be a little early for such things, but for the mathematically inclined Detroit's magic number for its first pennant since 1955 is 71, with 79 games remaining.

The Tigers settled Sunday for winning small. Willie Horton's 21st homer in the ninth inning won the opener from Oakland and made Denny McLain—16-2—the winningest pitcher in the majors after he had blown a 4-0 lead.

The long-balling continued in the nightcap, including Al Kaline's two-run homer, but it took a seventh-inning single by rookie shortstop Tom Matchick to bring home the run that was needed when the A's scored once in the eighth and three times in the ninth.

Oakland's Sal Bando belted three homers in the twin bill and Reggie Jackson two but couldn't prevent the A's from the top race.

Wood, calling Ellenville home, took over the lead on the eighth lap and held off a determined bid by Jack Zuidema to win.

Carter, 1964 champ at the fairgrounds, stayed off Buzzy Reutimann's try plus another attempt by Wil Cagle, to take the top race.

Al Keesler zoomed past Phil Hausman with four laps to win the Semi-Late Model class. Hausman finished third at Bill Olah passed him also.

Larry Palmgren won the feature 10-laps cycle race Sunday. John Leale set a new time record in the amateur feature cycles and Don Dillman took the novice race, cut short to seven laps by an accident.

Green Haven Prison, second place team in the Hudson Valley Fast Pitch Softball League, had to come up with a fourth inning four-run rally Sunday, to pull out a 4-3 come-from-behind first game decision over Ray's Chevrolet of Kingston. Ron Secreto belted a solo homer in the bottom of the seventh to win the nightcap 2-1, and gain a split.

Ray's, next-to-last in the seven-team loop with a 3-5 charting, held a 3-0 lead going into the fourth frame. The lead was built on a pair of runs in the first and a solo tally in the third.

Ray's opened the scoring on a walk to Mel Williams, a steal of second, and Rich Slicker's single that sent Williams home. George Fisher was safe on an error. Moving Slicker to second, and Ron Secreto's double sent Slicker scampering across with marker number two.

In the third, Mike Amato worked winning pitcher, Chuck Acker for his second and last walk, then scored on Hobbie Armstrong's first of two doubles.

Solve Stoke's Style
Greenhaven solved Bill Stoke's style in the fourth and bombed the Kingston hurler for the game-winning runs.

Bob Martes opened with a free trip to first, then Tony Rentas' single and Al Atchison singled to register the first run, driving in Martes.

W L
Poughkeepsie 4 0
Green Haven 4 0
Newburgh 4 0
Middletown 3 1
Beacon 4 0
Kingston 3 1
Stewart 4 0
Ellington caught Stoke's next delivery and poked it for three-bases, driving in the two base-runners. Mike Mulhall put Ellington across with the decisive tally when he doubled.

The second game was a pitching duel for five frames. George Norton of Kingston and Ray Hyter of the Prison matched goose-eggs over the initial five stanzas.

In the top of the sixth, a pair of infield errors let Green Haven score, taking the lead. In the bottom half of that frame, Armstrong drew, stole second and made it to third on Ray Hyter of the Prison passed ball. Rich Slicker hit an infield grounder and Armstrong knotted the score by beating the throw home.

Sets Stage
Kingston, two out, got another man on, but failed to score any more that inning. That unsuccessful bid, however, did set the stage for Ron Secreto, Ray's third-sacker. He chose Hyter's first pitch of the seventh to swing. It was a solid shot that sailed over the wall to give Norton a four-singles victory and the split.

In the other HVSL game, Newburgh's Dickey Tavern Ducks knocked off Middletown's Dino's Tavern, 3-0.

There was no activity today, and no announced plans for future negotiations between owners and players in the troubled National Football League.

The San Francisco 49ers training camp, which was to have opened Sunday, was closed down. Club personnel were on hand to feed and house any rookies who showed up—but the club's president said no workouts will be held until the current dispute is solved.

The National Football League Players Association is seeking a greater participation by the owners in their pension plan. This the owners say they cannot do.

The players threatened a strike.

Saturday, NFL President Arthur Modell of Cleveland ordered all training camps to postpone their openings until the dispute is settled.

Later that day, in Los Angeles, a spokesman for the Players Association said the players were willing to meet with the owners and hoped such a meeting could be held in three days.

The Deputy in 2:01.4

MONTICELLO — Deputy Hanover, rated perfectly by Eldon Harner, let Nevele Holiday and Nevele Way fight it out for three-fourths of the mile, then came on strong at the finish to cop Monticello Raceway's Saturday night $6,000 featured pace. The Deputy won by a length and a half in a blazing 2:01.4 from post four.

Nevele Holiday and Deputy Hanover were co-favorites of the crowd of 11,798, going off at 8-5. Nevele Holiday, Bob Camper in the seat, left from the rail and cut out a blistering 28.4 first quarter. Not expected to leave with the early foot, Camper surprised the field of seven, and hung former stablemate Nevele Way (3), on the outside, taking him past the quarter pole before relinquishing the lead.

Nevele Way gained the top at the paddock turn the first time around, then backed off the half. With Jim Grundy driving Nevele Way made it to the half in 1:00.2, a 31.3 quarter. Nevele Holiday was second, Ember Hanover (2) third and Deputy Hanover fourth, each a length back of the other.

In the clubhouse turn the final time, Camper moved Holiday outside and challenged for the top. Deputy also pulled out, passing Ember on the outside and at the same time initiated what proved to be a successful attempt at the lead.

Going to the three-fourths, Holiday passed Way as did Deputy, now racing three-wide.

The time at the three-quarter mark was 1:32.3, a 32.1 quarter that set up the dash for home.

Eldon, a son of Mr. Regular, Levi Harner, had a lot of horse left for the run home. He pulled even with Camper in the turn, and as they swung out and into the stretch, the two were head-and-head.

Buffalo, Roosevelt Gird for Big Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Promising young trotters and pacers have moved into Buffalo Raceway and trotters from foreign lands into Roosevelt Raceway for the Grand Circuit and the International Trot, highlights of the New York State harness racing scene, this week.

The Grand Circuit started in Buffalo Saturday and will remain for two weeks before going to Vernon Downs July 20. The major races at Buffalo are the W. N. Reynolds Memorial Stakes.

Roquepine, a 7-year-old French mare, will try for her second straight International victory on Saturday. Roquepine won the $100,000 race last year and narrowly missed winning in her first attempt two years ago.

Representing the United States in the 10th renewal of the 1-mile event will be Carlisle, a 4-year-old stallion driven by Billy Haughton. Carlisle won the $50,000 American Trotting Championship June 22 to gain the starting spot in the big race.

Fresh Yankee, who finished second in last year's International, again will represent Canada. The 5-year-old mare won the Canadian Trotting Championship at Richelieu Park Friday night.

Slow Pitch Set For Wednesday

The Kingston Slow Pitch Softball League, recently organized by the city Recreation Dept., will begin play Wednesday night with a two-night doubleheader at Block Park.

The opener is a 6:15 contest pitting Hercules Powder against Spartans Pools. The nightcap finds the Post Office team going against the Jewish Community Center at 8.

Another twin-bill is slated for Thursday, this one finding the Strangleloves challenging Emma Gordon's at Block and at the same time, over at Hasbrouck Park, A.T. & T. takes on Colonial Gardens.

Weiskopf's 280 Tops Buick Open Tourney

By BILL HALLS

Associated Press Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, MICH. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf describes golf as "A game of mistakes, whether they come early or late."

PGA tour rookie Mike Hill's mistake came late and it cost him a shot at the $25,000 Buick Open at Warwick Hills Sunday. Hill missed a five-foot putt for a par on the 18th green in championship. Both players were tied, eight strokes under par for the tournament, when Hill's putt slid by the hole on the left side.

"It was just a terrible putt," said Hill, of nearby Jackson, Mich. "The minute I hit it, I knew I missed it."

The bad hit cost Hill, younger brother of tour veteran Dave Hill, $10,000.

That was the difference between Weiskopf's $25,000 first prize and the $15,000 that went to Hill.

Rod Horn, another tour rookie from Overland Park, Kan., finished third, two strokes behind Weiskopf's eight-under-par winning total of 280.

Defending champion Julius Boros, Lee Trevino, who was him a shot at the $25,000 Buick Open at Warwick Hills Sunday, round lead, and Johnny Pott finished in a three-way tie for fifth at 284.

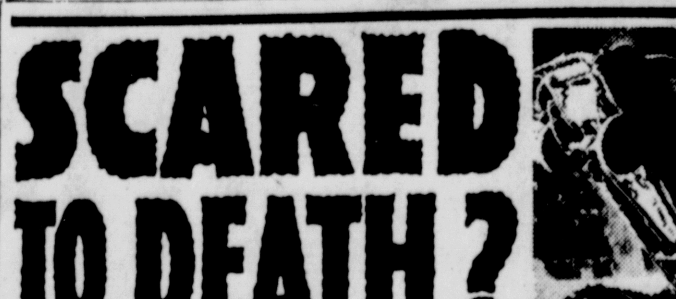

Boros, birdying three of the first four holes on the back par for the tournament, when Trevino ran into a rash of bogeys and Johnny Stevens, another rookie from Kansas, who was only two strokes behind the leaders Saturday, faded in the stretch.

Weiskopf, second leading money winner on the PGA tour with $116,736 in the bank picked up his second tour victory this year.

SCARED TO DEATH?

"CERTAINLY, I'm scared to death," says Pete Phillips. "But I have the guts to go through with it and I could use the $500. I'll wreck every car I can and I plan to demolish any car that drives within striking distance. I'm driving a 1954 Pontiac and figure I have as good a chance as the rest." Over 100 cars and drivers will compete in the wildest, most unusual show ever witnessed. There will be four 25-car demolitions. Almost anything goes and the cars and drivers will crash, smash and wreck each other, until only one car is running in each group. The 4 winners and the driver who puts on the best show in each of the 4 demolitions will be supplied with 8 fresh cars—and no holds barred! The last man running will receive $500 CASH. The other 7 will receive $50 CASH each. How would you feel if you were to drive head on into other cars and be hit from all directions under speed?—Scared to Death!!!

Dear Abby

Foolish Reason to Wed

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I hold an outstanding position, and have reached the point where I feel I ought to marry in order to have a wife to introduce to my associates.

My problem is that I have lived with a roommate for eight years. (A relationship neither accepted nor understood by most people.) My roommate is not happy with my decision, and feels I owe it to my future wife to tell her all about "us." I, however, believe it will only be asking for trouble. My fiancée is a very unsophisticated and religious girl and would never accept it.

I have spoken to my minister and to several doctors, and they say I am making a terrible mistake by marrying. If it weren't for my position and my love of children I would stay where I am. I know I can love a wife and make her happy, but I will always remember the beautiful years with my roommate.

I must admit that I don't "feel" any different toward my roommate, but I think I can handle this relationship even after marriage. Am I wrong? To look at me and my roommate you would never suspect we live this life. No names, or city, please.

Sign me, "GAY." DEAR "GAY": I can't give you any better advice than your minister and doctors have given you. Don't "use" a woman to try to fool the public. To date, it's your life only. Why foul up the lives of others?

DEAR ABBY: I know everyone is in a hurry for an answer, but please read this, and if you don't think it's more important than some teen-age girl whose mother won't let her shave her legs, just put it aside.

Here's my problem: I keep answering the telephone — but nobody is there. Now after a while this can get pretty maddening until I realize that maybe the ringing could be in my EARS!

Don't tell me to go to a doctor. I don't trust them. Any help you can give me will be appreciated. Thank you.

HEARS RINGING DEAR HEARS: If you don't "trust" doctors, would you trust the telephone company? Your phone could be out of order. Or you could be the victim of a crank's prank. If your telephone is okay, give a doctor another chance. If your ear is ringing, you'd better answer it.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for anyone who thinks marijuana is harmless.

When I was 15, a "friend" introduced me to "pot." It gave me a lift and a chance to "escape" from reality for a little while. I enjoyed the "high" and happy feeling it gave me, but the trouble started when I kept wanting that "feeling" more and more often. Finally the same friend got me to try heroine. That was the greatest! Total escape! By the time I was 17, I was hooked. And I mean really hooked.

I won't tell you how low I sank to get the stuff, but you'd better believe it was LOW. It was expensive and I needed more and more as time went on. I had to involve other kids to go my route, which is something I will never be able to forgive myself for.

Then I realized all I could think about was getting the stuff and I tried to kick the habit. It was hell, and I couldn't do it. I attempted suicide. I failed, and woke up in a hospital where I spent many months in the psychiatric ward. That saved my life, because there I started to learn all about who I really was and why I couldn't relate to society.

I am not "cured" yet, but I am on my way. I am going to go back to college in the fall, and if I make it, I'm going to make my life's work helping other addicts.

The best "cure" is to NEVER start. Tell the kids this, Abby, over and over and over again, and for those who take it to heart it will be the best advice they ever had.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 9, 1968

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Full moon accents career, ambitions, ability to fulfill obligations. There should be communication from relative or close associate — this helps you make vital decision.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Emphasis placed on long journey, also on journeys of the mind. Means your basic philosophy could undergo change, perhaps due to different environment. Domestic adjustment is imminent.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Best to check papers, leases, agreements. You may lack required element. Be cautious. Now is time to get files in order. Some who make promises may not be in position to fulfill them.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): You desire beauty, harmony, but today there is opposition. Play waiting game. Listen and observe. Obtain hint from GEMINI message. Check partnership agreement.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Full moon position stresses work, health, basic details. Pleasant surprise is due from one who appears ultra-shy. Be discreet. Play cards close to chest.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Accent on dealing with those at a distance. Means this could be busy day where calls, messages are concerned. Stress original approach. Don't feel tradition is necessarily right.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Might be wise to stick to familiar ground. Don't wander too far afield. Something of importance may occur close to home base. Know this and plan accordingly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Minor disagreement with friend should not be blown out of proportion. Stick to facts, Corp.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Money is emphasized. Full moon falls in part of chart dealing with financial gain. If thorough in approach, you emerge definite winner — go to it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Full moon in your sign today coincides with chance to cement relations with key people. Stress personality. Be direct, forceful. Display confidence. Cycle high. Go after what you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): What previously was secret could be exposed. This could work in your favor if diplomatic. Don't force issues. Those you want to impress will come to you. Your cycle is moving up.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Review desires. Some things you thought you wanted may now appear nonessential. Avoid any degree of self-deception. Study maneuvers of associates. Find the reason why.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are attracted to medicine, are capable of helping people solve their problems. Currently, you can successfully wait for beneficial results. There is no need to rush.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Full moon position indicates that important persons may be considering retirement. By Oswald and James Jacoby Oswald: "The drinker who drinks steadily but slowly is likely to consume more alcohol than the man who goes on an occasional bender. In the same manner the steady free bidder who likes to bid every time it is his turn, provided there is some conceivable reason, is a more dangerous partner than the man who just makes one colossal overbid once in a great while."
Jim: "Today's hand shows two of these steady free bidders!"

Ed Newman

Ad Libbing on Home Screen

EDITOR'S NOTE—Ed Newman, with a long experience on the journalistic front lines, is one of NBC News Department's utility men—reporter, analyst, narrator, writer or anything else needed. He was among the network correspondents who, for hours on end, were on the air and talking during the slow progress of Sen. Robert Kennedy's funeral train between New York and Washington. He was asked to describe the fine art of the marathon ad lib.

By ED NEWMAN
 NEW YORK (AP) — How do you write a column about ad libbing on the air?

Dazzle by Accident
 Successful ad libbing depends first on not talking too much and too soon. If you dazzle them early, you may bore them later. It depends in the second place on having a large and miscellaneous body of knowledge, and on the association of ideas you see something and it reminds of something else, ideally something relevant and illuminating. Even with the News Department behind you, there is nothing so reassuring as ideas which you have not used running through your mind.

By the way, you can sometimes dazzle by accident. I once had to ad lib at length about the Royal Ballet and its star, Margot Fonteyn, whose married name is Arias. As it happened, I could remember her husband's nickname, Tito, and not his real name, Roberto. I said something like, "whose nickname, of course, is Tito." The "of course" did it. People were astonished: "He even knows the man's nickname."

The next essential asset is calm. Consider President Johnson's announcement that he would not seek re-election. About 30 seconds passed between his announcement and my having to speak. That isn't much time for reflection, and the only way to deal with such a situation (after closing the mouth that surprise had opened, and opening it again with sounds coming out) is to think as you go along. You have also to avoid looking agonized while waiting for help to arrive.

How you look does not matter. Cynthia Lowry is on vacation.

McCarthy: Independent Candidacy Out; But Could Support a 4th Party Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says flatly he would not become an independent presidential candidate if he loses the Democratic nomination—but that he could support a fourth party drive by someone else.

McCarthy also indicated Sunday he may abandon his announced hopes of going to Paris to learn first-hand from North Vietnamese diplomats the prospects for settlement of the Vietnam war.

"If I thought that my going was going to interrupt or interfere with (current peace) negotiations," he said, "I wouldn't go."

The Minnesota senator again refused to say he could support Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as the Democratic presidential nominee and said he could support a fourth party drive under specific conditions.

Such support would be possible, he said, if the independent ticket "was substantial, had good leadership and was presenting the right choice to the people, and if neither of the other two parties was presenting what I thought was a choice that anywhere from a third to a half of the people of this country want to make in 1968."

But McCarthy said with no reservations he would not be the candidate heading such a ticket. Earlier he had said he would not "lead" a fourth party effort.

Humphrey, meanwhile, said he would support McCarthy if the senator became the Democratic presidential nominee. But the vice president said he lives he and Republican Richard M. Nixon will be the candidates on the November ballot.

"If it's Mr. McCarthy, if I have the choice between Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Nixon," Humphrey said, "there isn't any doubt that I will support Mr. McCarthy."

McCarthy was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" and Humphrey on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Republican Nixon said he will have the edge in November because the Democratic convention "will go the way of the bosses" and Humphrey will be nominated "over the objection of a majority of the Democratic voters."

Nixon said the Democratic majority sentiment was shown in heavy primary votes for McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—and said he, Nixon, outpolled all the Democrats in the primaries.

The former Republican vice president made the comments in a Miami Herald interview.

In other political developments:

—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, GOP presidential bidder, said the Johnson administration's "lack of a national transportation policy is a drag on the economy and an aggravation to everyone. As president I would deal with this mess as a matter of the highest urgency."

—Third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace said it now appears he will be on the November ballot in every state except Ohio, and said he will continue to fight to get on Ohio's ballot.

—Associated Press interviews in six key states show Democratic party leaders are lining up delegates to nominate Humphrey—but that some are beginning to worry he can't win in November and they could take a new look at McCarthy.

—The Gallup Poll reports the Democratic Party is presently showing great strength at the congressional level—58 per cent support to 42 per cent for Republicans—after losing 47 House seats to the Republicans in 1966.

—New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes, chairman of the Democratic National Convention credentials committee, says he expects McCarthy delegates from Connecticut "and some other states" may stage a walkout.

Congressional Agenda Heavy in Final Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, hoping to close out its 90th session before the political conventions next month, went into the homestretch today immediately facing a large amount of major legislation.

Key floor or committee action on gun controls, foreign aid, housing, and President Johnson's Supreme Court appointments was expected before the end of the week as congressmen returned from a long Fourth of July weekend.

Prospects Clouded
 But prospects for meeting leaders' Aug. 3 adjournment target date were clouded by a brewing Senate fight over confirmation of the Supreme Court appointment.

The Aug. 3 deadline would be hard to meet even without such a fight. Major legislation yet to be dealt with includes 10 of the 13 regular appropriation bills.

Action on gun controls resumed today with House Rules

Committee scheduling of floor action on a measure to extend the already-passed ban on mail-order sales of handguns to rifles shotguns and ammunition.

The Senate Judiciary Committee begins deliberations Tuesday on President Johnson's far stronger proposal to require registration of all guns and licensing of all owners.

The battle over confirmation of President Johnson's nomination of Supreme Court Associate Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the United States and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice gets a formal arena Thursday at the Senate Judiciary Committee hearings.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, as a leadoff witness, is expected to be questioned closely on whether a vacancy exists on the court.

Some committee members argue there is no vacancy because Johnson said Chief Justice Earl Warren's retirement would be accepted when a replacement was appointed—and no replacement has been confirmed by the Senate.

Defense Eyes Civilian Trim

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department, under strong pressure to slash spending, is working on plans that could trim more than 150,000 jobs from its civilian payroll.

Budgeting officials estimate this could save slightly more than $1 billion a year.

That is about a third of the $3 billion that Pentagon officials expect they will have to slice from defense spending this bookkeeping year in response to congressional orders.

But the Pentagon has been given no time limit for cutting its civilian work force, now totaling some 1.2 million men and women in virtually every state and overseas.

Presumably, the process could extend into the next fiscal year.

There are no indications of wholesale firings. The Pentagon hopes to accomplish its objective mainly through attrition.

This is in line with the apparent intent of Congress which ruled recently that federal agencies may fill no more than 75 per cent of job vacancies created by the resignation, retirement, death or removal of full time employees.

What this all amounts to is a belt-tightening, a partial freeze, and fewer opportunities for people looking for jobs with the armed services or defense agency.

Since studies are now under way, officials said they cannot tell what the impact will be on the various states and defense installations within those states.

Other government departments and agencies also are under orders to limit their payrolls.

But none compare in size with the defense establishment which normally accounts for about 40 per cent of total federal civilian employment.

Nearly all defense programs, except those connected with the Vietnam war, are undergoing close scrutiny and testing to determine whether they are essential.
